INFLATION AND FARM AID BILL PASSED BY SENATE, 64 TO 20; ROOSEVELT KILLS BONUS PLAN

HERRIOT GOES WITH RESULTS SEEMING SURE

Accord With Roosevelt Is Same as MacDonald Reached Here.

SENATE MAY UPSET PARLEY AGREEMENTS

Little Entente Represented as Brilliant Send-off Is Staged for Diplomat.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The Franco-American conversations between President Roosevelt and former Premier Edouard Herriot terminated yesterday with the departure of M. Herriot for New York en route to Paris. The official summing up of the results of the White House talks between the two statesmen is almost identical with the tentative program drawn up by the President and British Prime Minister MacDonald—increase of commodity prices, joint action to remove the oppressive weight of tariff quotas, restrictions, concerted action by the central banks and enhancement of the price of silver, are all mentioned in the Roosevelt-Herriot communique, too.

The most important results of the Franco-American exchange of views, however, lay unmentioned in between the lines of the two formal statements. Each of the two chiefs brought out from the conservations certain definite advantages, which will be confirmed subsequently either at the World Economic Conference or through legislative action of the French Chamber or the American Congress.

Virtual Reduction of Debt.

President Roosevelt secured the following advantages: First, the agreement by the French to pay the deferred December 15 war-debt payment and an informal promise of M. Herriot to use his influence in securing the payment of the June 15 sum; second, France will agree to budget reductions in her armament program on certain conditions.

M. Herriot takes back to Paris, first, the virtual reduction of the French debt by one-third, due to the action of the Pittman amendment in authorizing the President to accept the war debt payments in silver; second, a consultative pact, by which the United States on certain conditions to be agreed on later will "consult" with other nations in the event of a breach of the Kellogg Pact.

Departure of Herriot.

The two statesmen have mutually agreed on a form of tariff truce, details of which will be forthcoming from London today.

The President also concluded yesterday his conversations with Canadian Prime Minister Richard Bedford Bennett, who will remain at the Canadian Legation one extra day on account of the birthday of his new

U. S. Note Issue Brings Out More Than Billion

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Woodin's effort to lure money out of hoarding and place an investment available to small investors brought $1,200,000,000 in subscriptions for the $500,000,000 three-year note issue he offered for sale May 2.

The Secretary announced the figures last night and said that all cash subscriptions for $10,000 or less of the notes had been allotted in full. He did not say how much this totaled.

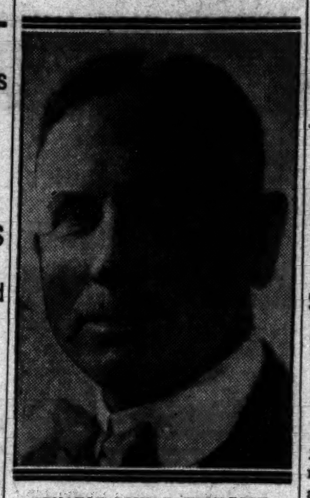
Dean to Quit

Senator Kendrick Says He Does Not Expect to Run Next Year.



SENATOR JOHN B. KENDRICK

Sheridan, Wyo., April 28 (A.P.).—Senator John B. Kendrick (Democrat), Wyoming, informed the Sheridan Press today he does not expect to become a candidate for reelection in 1934.

"Shortly after my election in the fall of 1928 I made the statement both publicly and privately that I did not expect to again become a candidate for public office. It is my present intention to adhere to that plan."

Senator Kendrick at 76 is the dean of the present Senate and is assistant majority floor leader. A Democrat in a normally Rpublican State, he has served in the Senate since 1917.

BRITISH BANKS LEND PARIS $114,000,000

Event Brings Question of Debt Installments to U. S. Again to Fore.

Paris, April 28 (A.P.).—A loan of £30,000,000 (approximately $114,000,000 currently) for six months to the French treasury at 2½ per cent interest by a group of English banks was negotiated today.

Meanwhile the question of paying the December and June debt installments to the United States was brought sharply to the fore in government quarters.

Details of the loan arrangement were mostly worked out during the last visit to London of George Bonnet, French finance minister. He conferred there with officials of the Bank of England, but it was stated semiofficially tonight that the British treasury will play no part in the loan operations.

Although earlier in the week the information was that the Bank of France and the British equalization fund would play a part in the negotiations, it was stated the loan, as finally arranged, was purely between individual British banks and the French treasury.

There had been much criticism in Paris that the loan would take on a political aspect if it were arranged between the two governments.

It was stated authoritatively that the loan as finally arranged contains no elements of accord between the British and the French treasuries.

Concerning the debt question, Premier Edouard Daladier is known to be anxious to get the December 15 defaulted payment

Sailor Is Sentenced In Blackmail Case

Threats to Representative Bring Sykes Term of One to 3 Years.

For blackmailing Representative Walter G. Andrews, of Buffalo, N. Y., Luther C. Sykes, 24-year-old sailor, was yesterday sentenced to serve an indeterminate sentence of from one to three years at Lorton Reformatory by Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue.

Sykes was convicted of having sent the Representative a letter threatening to expose him to public shame unless he was given a certain amount of money. The case was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins, through whom the Government proved that Sykes had sent the threatening letter.

Sykes was tried in District Supreme Court three weeks ago.

SENATE GROUP GRANTS MORE FUNDS TO CITY

MILLION IN GASOLINE TAXES FOR STREETS

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

By a litle superior accounting, judicious shifts of funds and manipulation of unexpended balances, the Senate District Appropriations subcommittee yesterday managed to give the District most of the things it needs in 1934, and still reduce House appropriations $706,637.

The subcommittee reported to the full committee and the full committee turned over to the Senate a bill carrying $29,585,805 in appropriations, against $80,292,442 allowed by the House. Chairman Elmer Thomas said the measure will be taken up in the Senate early next week.

Outstanding in the rewritten draft were items of $876,000 for four new school buildings, $575,000 for Calvert Street Bridge, a $550,000 increase in the Federal lump sum, $293,000 more for public welfare, and $50,000 additional for improving grounds around school buildings.

P Street Bridge Defeated.

In a surprise move, the full committee struck out controversial "Section 6" which denied pay increases to District employes reallocated to higher salary grades. Another alteration denied funds requested by the subcommittee for construction of P Street Bridge over Rock Creek.

The $1,040,000 gasoline tax money made available by the House for new street construction was increased to $1,500,000, with the proviso that Calvert Street Bridge money come out of the fund, as well as $45,741 for the widening of Constitution avenue. Expenditures would be ordered by the Commissioners instead of by the President, as the House had ordained.

How the Senate was able to do all this and still reduce the total of the far less liberal House bill, is explained by the simple expedient of District money to the Federal Treasury for park lands acquired, and making available various unexpended balances, amounting to $876,000 in the case of the unused Municipal Center fund.

Fund Transfer Allowed.

The subcommittee followed the example of the House in eliminating any restriction on local tax reduction. Chairman Thomas was authorized to offer an amendment empowering the Commissioners to authorize transfers of funds within

Maas Gets Medal In Pistol Episode

House Member Who Took Armed Man's Gun Is Carnegie Hero.

Pittsburgh, April 28 (A.P.).—Award of a silver medal to Representative Melvin J. Maas, of Minnesota, for his action in disarming a man in the House galleries, was announced tonight by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission.

The announcement said Representative Maas saved "indeterminate person or persons from homicidal attack," on December 13, last, recalling that "while the House of Representatives was in session a man stood close to the rail of one of the galleries and brandishing a loaded revolver toward the members, asked that he be allowed to speak.

"The assailant then pointed the revolver toward Maas, but by conversing with the assailant in a conciliatory tone, Maas induced him to drop the revolver into his hands.

Ohioan Killed as Plane Nose Dives Into Field

Martins Ferry, Ohio, April 28 (A.P.).—A plane nose-dived into a field near Yorkville, Ohio, tonight killing Carl Neuhardt, 21, of Martins Ferry, and critically injuring Donald Russell, 23, of Bridgeport, Ohio.

Attaches at the Yorkville airport, near the scene of the crash, said the men had gone up to take pictures and that Russell, pilot, was making a turn preparatory to landing at the port. At a height of 300 feet the plane sideslipped and went into a dive. Russell was moved to a Martins Ferry hospital.

$2,300,000,000 Plan Is Designed to Help Home Owners.

IDEAS OF ROOSEVELT CLOSELY FOLLOWED

(Associated Press.)

The administration's $2,300,000,000 Home Mortgage Refinancing bill withstood a broadside of amendments in the House yesterday and was sent to the Senate where early action is planned by Democratic leaders.

The measure passed the House by the stupendous vote of 383 to 4. Excepting five amendments of varying importance, it was approved as requested by President Roosevelt.

Three Democrats, Bailey and Terrell, of Texas, and Hoeppel, of California, and one Republican, McFadden, of Pennsylvania, opposed the measure on final passage. McFadden previously was overwhelmingly defeated in a move to send the bill back to the Banking Committee for revision.

How Owners Are Helped.

After a bitter fight continuing from Thursday, the House defeated, 133 to 78, an amendment by Representative Cochran (Democrat), Missouri, to authorize direct cash loans to home owners instead of refinancing through bond issues. It also turned down decisively scores of moves to increase the limit on the value of property on which loans might be made.

As approved, the bill sets up a Home Owners Loan Association of $200,000,000 capital, under the Home Loan Board, with power to issue 18-year bonds up to $2,000,000,000 to bear not more than 5 per cent interest. The interest but not the principal of the bonds is guaranteed by the Government. Bonds may be swapped for mortgages. Loans may be made at 4 per cent on property with an appraised value up to $15,000, with none of the loans to exceed 80 per cent of the appraised value for more than $10,000.

It repeals the direct loan provision in the home loan act of 1932, and appropriates $100,000,000 for purchase of preferred stock in Federal savings and loan associations, to be organized to help home owners refinance themselves where other borrowing facilities are unavailable.

Washington Included.

The amendments adopted were:

By Wolcott (Republican), Michigan, to permit the corporation to pay cash for unpaid balances on homes on which foreclosure is threatened and mortgagees refused to accept bonds, provided the payment not exceed 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property.

By Delegate Dimond, of Alaska, to extend the provisions to include the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

By Cochran, to eliminate a provision calling the bonds "instrumentalities of the United States."

By Celler (Democrat), New York, to limit the rate of interest on bonds at not in excess of 5 per cent, instead of fixing it at 5 per cent.

By Glover (Democrat), Arkansas, to reduce from $250,000 to $100,000 the amount to be expended for publicity in sale of bonds.

500 MINE PICKETS BATTLE MILITIAMEN

Springfield, Ill., April 28 (A.P.).—Five hundred mine pickets clashed with a detachment of National Guardsmen, police and sheriff's deputies at the entrance to Brookside Mine here late today in a renewal of violence in the central Illinois labor strife.

John Falber, of Springfield, identified by police with the Progressive Miners Union and a picket at the Tipple, was burned by a blast of tear gas used by the guardsmen in quelling the riot.

Two men, both pickets, were arrested and lodged in jail.

Forty guardsmen from Company K, stationed at Taylorville, 30 miles away, fixed bayonets and laid down the gas barrage before order was restored.

The disturbance started when a large group of pickets gathered at the mine entrance as 300 employes, all members of the United Mine Workers of America, emerged after their day's work.

More than 100 city police and sheriff's deputies were sent to the scene and later a call was sent in for the troops.

Falber, police said, was injured when he attempted to wrest a gas gun from a guardsman. He was burned about the face by gas, but his injuries were reported not serious.

Canadian Coast Study By Japanese Claimed

Ottawa, Ontario, April 28 (A.P.).—Charges that Japanese naval officers posing as fishermen had obtained employment on fishing vessels in British Columbia and had actually been devoting their activities to familiarizing themselves with Canada's Pacific Coast were made in the House of Commons tonight by Thomas Reid (Liberal), New Westminster.

He was speaking during a discussion on the fisheries estimates.

JAPANESE SHATTER CHINESE DEFENSES

4,000 Casualties Reported in Bitter Fighting in Great Wall Area.

Peiping, China, April 28 (A.P.).—The Japanese war machine was reported today to have smashed tenacious Chinese defenses south of the Great Wall after bitter fighting, in which 4,000 on each side were killed or wounded.

That the Japanese intended to drive the Chinese beyond artillery range in the sector, but that they do not plan to advance on Peiping were advanced by foreign military attaches as possible reasons for the determined Japanese onslaught.

The Japanese legation announced tonight that the Japanese forces had taken Nantienmen, between Peiping and Kupei Pass, through the wall, after a terrific advance on three sides and a withering bombing from airplanes and artillery.

Chinese fortifications, which withstood eight days of fighting, were said to have been demolished, and the Japanese mastery of the Peiping gateway to Jehol Province was believed assured.

Casualty reports varied, but accounts believed to be reliable set the figures at 4,000 for each side during the conflict today.

From Kalgan came Chinese dispatches saying Chinese volunteers under Japanese leadership were preparing to invade Charhar, west of Jehol Province. Fresh supplies had reached the volunteers, the reports said, and the Japanese were preparing to attack Dolonor. The regular Chinese garrison at the latter place was ordered to resist.

Motor Trouble Spoils Turner's Record Effort

Los Angeles, April 28 (A.P.).—Balked by motor trouble in his attempt to set a new west-east transcontinental air speed record, Col. Roscoe Turner, holder of the Harmon trophy as America's outstanding aviator of 1932, landed safely today at an air field 8 miles north of Prescott, Ariz.

Turner, who holds the east-west record of 12 hours 33 minutes, took off from Burbank, Calif., at 5:20 a. m., hoping to excel the present west-east mark of 10 hours 19 minutes, held by Jimmy Haislip, of St. Louis.

MILITIA RULES TOWN AFTER IOWA RIOTING

300 Farmers at Mortgage Foreclosure Sale Fight Deputy Sheriffs.

Le Mars, Iowa, April 28 (A.P.).—Four companies of National Guardsmen in full field equipment ruled this northeastern Iowa town tonight as an aftermath to an attack yesterday by disgruntled farmers upon 54-year-old Judge Charles C. Bradley, because he refused to promise postponement of pending mortgage foreclosures.

A second contingent of guardsmen was ordered during the day to Denison, in nearby Crawford County, to establish martial law throughout that area in response to a proclamation of Gov. Clyde L. Herring. The action resulted from a riot this afternoon at the J. F. Shields farm when 4 State agents and 30 deputy sheriffs attempted to carry out a foreclosure sale on a chattel mortgage.

Between 300 and 500 farmers who had gathered at the farm engaged the officers in battle, and fists and clubs flew wildly for several minutes. William H. Zelinsky, State agent, received a slight head injury and about 10 other officers were treated for hurts.

After the sale had been postponed, Sheriff Hugo J. Willy, of Crawford County, and County Attorney Andrew Bell petitioned the governor for troops.

Gov. Herring called out the Third Batallion of the 168th Infantry, which left immediately for Denison.

Sheriff Ralph E. Rippey, of Plymouth County, who was absent from Le Mars yesterday when Judge Bradley was dragged from his bench, abducted by the mob and roughly handled, declared today a few members of the group had been identified and a thorough investigation is being conducted. He refused to divulge the names.

Roosevelt to Sail Down River Again

Declares Moratorium on White House News to Aid Newspapermen.

Taking pity on harassed newspapermen who have been covering the White House, the President yesterday declared a moratorium on news from noon today until Monday morning.

He announced the holiday at the press conference yesterday, after looking closely at one correspondent and declaring he looked haggard. There will be no news, no visitors and no statements until next week.

The President will take another trip on the U. S. S. Sequoia tomorrow after church, returning about dusk. it was announced. He has no destination and the length of the trip depends on the wind and tide. Unaccompanied by any official guests, he will take no work with him on the trip.

War Debt Settling In Silver Authorized.

WHITE HOUSE CRACKS WHIP

President Gains Vast Power Over Food and Money.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

The administration's four-ply farm relief bill was passed in the Senate yesterday by a vote of 64 to 20.

It carries President Roosevelt's three-way inflation program as a rider and provides an interim plan of war debt settlements in silver pending the conclusions of the projected world economic conference.

The vote approving the inflation section, which included the silver settlement plan, was 64 to 21.

As the bill goes to conference it is probably the most extraordinary piece of legislation ever passed by a parliamentary body anywhere in the world.

Unprecedented Powers.

It clothes the President with virtually unlimited powers over farming and the processing of all the basic farm products, and extends dictatorial authority over coinage and currency, including the power to alter the gold content of the dollar at will as well as to vastly expand both silver and paper currency.

If finally enacted in its present form the measure would signalize the temporary suspension of constitutional government in the United States.

A narrowly shifting group of 12 to 14 insurgent Republicans joined with 48 to 50 Democrats in whipping through the administration program, after a sharp crack of the White House whip yesterday morning.

Sledge-Hammer Tactics.

For an hour or so there were threatening rumblings of a spirited resistance, first for the bonus and later on the war debt moratorium. About 3 o'clock Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the Democratic leader, called his principal floor lieutenants into informal meditation. Then the Democratic maority humped its figuartive back, flung out its bristles and hove to. Unindorsed amendments were battered down without even careful aiming. Approved revisions were voted up as quickly as the clerk could reel off the text. Perfecting amendments from the hand of Mr. Robinson were gavelled through by Vice President Garner in lots of a dozen at a time and last-minute additions to the bill were shouted up or down as Mr. Garner's trusty gavel read. It was a dizzy hit-and-run fray for more than an hour before the end. But nobody missed his cue. The casualties were frightful.

Three Democrats—Bailey, Bulkley and Glass—voted against the inflation

BONUS FORCES HELD ON WAY TO CAPITAL

Converging Groups Are Due May 12; Disturber of Senate Disowned.

Declaring groups of World War bonus seekers and sympathizers are en route to Washington from several widely scattered points and that they are rapidly gaining in numbers, the veterans' liaison committee last night called upon "all veterans to continue their march" and "to beware of self-styled leaders." The marchers are due in Washington May 12.

"Attempts are being made to stop the march," said the statement, "and many friends of the veterans are being used, ill advisedly, to divide the ranks of the veterans."

The statement was issued as an aftermath to the White House statement issued after the visit of the so-called legislative agent of the bonus army, Harold Foulkrod.

Foulkrod jumped into the limelight again yesterday afternoon when he violated Senate rules by applauding a statement of Senator Robinson, of Indiana, during the debate on the soldiers' bonus amendment to the inflation bill.

Escorted From Chamber.

As Foulkrod clapped his hands in commendation, attaches hastened to his side and escorted him from the chamber. He went to the outside of the Capitol Building and began an extemporaneous speech to a number of bonus-seekers gathered there.

Before going he had apologized for his outburst. Later Senator Lewis (Democrat), Illinois, asked Senate forgiveness for "those who had applauded" and this was granted. When reporters looked for Foulkrod observers outside said he had been whisked away in what appeared to be a police car.

No record of Foulkrod having been either arrested or questioned could be found at police headquarters or precinct stations last night and he himself could not be located.

Foulkrod is Disowned.

The Veterans liaison committee is headed here by three men who were encamped with the bonus army during its long bivouac here last year. They are George D. Brady, of Dallas, Texas, former national registration officer of the B. E. F., who later joined the "left wing" of the bonus army; Edward J. Williams, of Newark, N. J., and Albert G. Sellers, of Allentown, Pa.

All declared that Foulkrod had no brevet to speak for the B. E. F. or for any veteran organization. The veterans liaison committee, declared the statement of the group, represents "rank and file" members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, Workers' Ex-Servicemen's League, Khaki Shirts and several other former soldier organizations.

Restoration of disability allowances and hospital privileges taken away by the economy bill as well as immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus will be asked by the new bonus legions, said the statement.

Preacher Returns $2 in Store Theft

Letter Says Robbery 12 Years Ago Preyed on His Conscience.

Boulder, Colo., April 28 (A.P.).—Twelve years ago a store owned by L. W. Cumberford, former Boulder Mayor, was robbed. Today he received a letter from a Fresno, Calif., clergyman. It contained a check for $2 in "conscience money."

"When I was 17 a chum and I broke into your store in a spirit of bravado," the letter stated. "We took 75 pennies and a bottle of grape-juice. I felt I never could be a clergyman unless I made everything right in my own past life. I ask forgiveness."

Cumberford withheld the clergyman's name.

SENATE GROUP GIVES MORE FUNDS TO CITY

local department to ease the burden of sharp House slashes.

For beginning construction of the Woodrow Wilson High School, $475,000.

For the 8-room Logan Elementary School, $95,000.

For repairs to school buildings, $25,000.

For the District Workhouse at Lorton, Va., $54,000.

For Public Library, $5,000.

For the register of wills office, $3,500.

For public playgrounds, $7,392 (including $5,225 for bathing pools).

For a police clinic nurse, $1,530.

For fire apparatus repairs, $2,932.

For emergency relief, $250,000.

For the War Veterans' office, $5,100 (House had asked its abolition).

For Tuberculosis Hospital maintenance, $4,000.

For three sight conservation teachers, $3,400.

For deaf, dumb and blind instruction, $500.

For Americanization work, $2,000.

For Logan School furniture, $6,000.

The Senate committee further voted school officials authority to transfer special teachers to classroom work where necessary, and power to appoint qualified temporary teachers, regardless of the existing eligible list of applicants.

The House prohibition against operation of the Southeast incinerator was eliminated by the committee, but a limitation was written in the bill denying funds for maintenance of a testing laboratory in the highways department.

In making funds available for Calvert Street Bridge construction, the committee asked that the commissioners make "a restudy and reinvestigation" to determine what type of bridge is most economical, serviceable and best suited to the location.

The committee further stipulated that the Fine Arts Commission must approve the design. This language was the result of a protest by George Oakley Totten, jr., local architect, who charged that despite masonry designs submitted by himself in 1917 and approved by the Fine Arts Commission, the Commissioners are planning a steel span at Calvert street.

As the Senate bill now stands, $625,000 would be appropriated as the Federal contribution toward the District; $1,500,000 would be allowed for 1934 unemployment relief, and $500,000 would be available for street and bridge construction.

SENATE PASSES FARM BILL

Bonus Section Defeated.

The bill now goes to conference with the House, where the farm relief sections were passed some three weeks ago. In conference the Senate measure may be spread on the table for analysis. Not until then will it be possible for anyone to know all the measure actually carries, and in what form.

An attempt to incorporate immediate prepayment of the soldier bonus certificates, with the proposed new greenbacks, failed by a vote of 28 to 60. This roll call came soon after Senator Robinson had formally expressed President Roosevelt's opposition.

"I am authorized to say for him that he is unqualifiedly against the amendment," Mr. Robinson informed the Senate. "He believes that the incorporation of this amendment will reverse the policy of the pending bill and defeat the purposes in mind in attempting to secure an arrangement by which maturing obligations of the Government may be provided for."

Muscle Shoals Next.

A few minutes after final action on the farm bill, the Senate adjourned until noon Monday. After the morning hour debate will begin on the Norris Muscle Shoals bill, which includes the administration's experimental Tennessee Valley development plan.

The Senate conferees on the bill were appointed with a view to giving representation to the Committees on Banking and Currency and Agriculture. The conferees are Senators Smith, Fletcher, Thomas of Oklahoma, Wagner (Democrats) and McNary and Walcott. Conferees for the House have not yet been appointed.

The farm section of the bill carries the Smith cotton pooling plan, the domestic allotment scheme, the Simpson project to guarantee production costs and an acreage leasing arrangements. It also provides for an elaborate Nation-wide system of farm mortgage banks.

A last-minute amendment yesterday extended the cotton pooling plan to January 1, 1935.

The clause guaranteeing production costs is destined to come out of the bill in conference.

The entire mortgage relief plan was added in the Senate.

Free Silver Provision.

The inflation section authorizes the President to enforce greatly expanded open market operations by the Federal Reserve Banks, and to require the holding of Government securities by the Reserve system to tide the Treasury through the deficit crisis. The section also authorizes the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in unsecured Treasury currency backed by a 4 per cent annual retiring fund.

Another section vests the President with authority to alter the gold content of the dollar by proclamation and to provide for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a sliding ratio to be fixed by Executive order.

Another last-minute addition yesterday authorizes the acceptance of $200,000,000 in silver from foreign governments as war debt payments, at a price to be fixed by the President, but not to exceed 50 cents an ounce. This authority is limited, however, to six months. It is intended merely as a stop gap, to provide a way for debt payments from Europe pending the revision, moratorium or whatever, which is to come from the World Economic Conference.

The silver amendment, if made use of to the fullest extent by the European debtor nations, will call for approximately 388,000,000 ounces of silver. This represents almost all of the surplus monetary silver now available in the world, according to sponsors of the amendment. During debate on the section, the total silver now available was placed at 450,000,000 ounces.

New Silver Certificates.

As this silver comes to the Treasury from abroad it may be used as bullion backing for additional silver certificates under the terms of the existing law. But the amount of this new silver currency placed in circulation shall be limited, not by the amount of silver backing available, but by the amount of the payments received on the war debts.

Attempts to limit the silver payment provision to nations which did not default on their December 15 schedules last year, failed by the usual majority yesterday. The roll call on this amendment was 53 to 32.

The inflationary powers passed to the President are entirely permissive. As a practical matter they are regarded by administrative leaders as preparatory steps for the world conference. They are intended to arm the President with plenary power in the anticipated negotiations looking to the stabilization of world exchange and the restoration of some sort of an international money system. To what extent these extraordinary powers will be invoked remains for the future to determine.

Lewis Cites Precedents.

Meanwhile, the Federal Reserve operations provide the Government with means of handling its May and June short-term maturities, which run in the neighborhood of $500,000,000. These probably will be handled by the Reserve banks, with possibly some beginning on the unsecured Treasury note issues. The first considerable maturities face the Treasury on May 2.

In explaining the manner in which the inflation section fits into the administration's plan for international negotiations, Senator Robert F. Wagner (Democrat), of New York, said that "the whole thing leads up to the world economic conference."

"In my judgment," he added, "the fate of civilization as we know it depends upon the degree of economic disarmament which the World Economic Conference accomplishes."

Earlier in the debate Senator James Hamilton Lewis (Democrat), of Illinois, pointed out that the same degree of plenary authority over money had been delegated by Congress in 1795 to President Washington. It had been invoked in 1797 by President John Adams, as a part of the Government's plan to drive foreign money out of circulation in America and to firmly establish the new national currency. Senator Lewis emphasized that this earlier law had clearly authorized the degree of interference with private contracts required by the Government's monetary management. The present bill sought no more, he said.

Called "Cancellation."

An attempt by Senator Bulkley (Democrat), of Ohio, to restrict the legal tenderability of the proposed new Treasury currency to private obligations, and thus to exclude its exchange for Government gold obligations, was shouted down without a roll call.

The Hayden amendment to increase the silver debt payment provisions from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 precipitated a soft summer blow of tremulous indignation from several senators who long have been identified with the high-temperature anti-revisionists. Silver accepted at 50 cents an ounce, the maximum price under the President's authority, would represent a reduction of 30 per cent in the debt payments, Senator George, of Georgia, argued.

"If we are to cancel the debts let us do it openly and candidly," he said. "This is mere cancellation of the debts due us."

Commodity Tax Plan.

Four pending motions to reconsider various sections of the bill were withdrawn or voted down after the inflation roll call.

The commodity tax provisions of the bill apply to cotton, wheat, corn, hogs, dairy products, tobacco and beet and cane sugar.

A last-minute amendment provided for the refund to the Philippines of compensatory tariffs collected on Philippine products.

On all these products, the Secretary of Agriculture has permissive authority to maintain farm prices at the average exchange value of 1909-14.

Under the money section, the President has the same sort of authority to stabilize money on a managed currency basis, but the stabilization point is not fixed in the bill.

Warren D. Robbins Minister to Canada

White House Also Chooses Robert H. Gore as Governor of Puerto Rico.

Bearing out prophecies which have been made for several days, President Roosevelt yesterday nominated Warren Delano Robbins as Minister to Canada and also forwarded to the Senate the name of Robert Hayes Gore as Governor of Puerto Rico.

Patronage gossip yesterday named James F. T. O'Connor, of Los Angeles, as likely for appointment as Comptroller of the Treasury, with James P. Warburg, of New York, considered a likely Undersecretary of the Treasury. O'Connor, former law partner of Senator McAdoo, is flying to Washington from his home in California for a conference with Secretary of the Treasury Woodin.

Robbins, the new minister, is a cousin of the President, and is now chief of the Division of Protocol of the Department of State. Gore, who divides his time between Florida and Chicago, is a newspaper publisher, and was active in the last campaign.

Gilbert Allowed Tax Rebate of $40,000

John Gilbert is the latest movie star to win a rebate on his income tax, the Bureau of Internal Revenue having found that he paid $40,393 more than he had to in 1930, it was announced yesterday. A part of his wife's income was included in his returns for this year and he paid taxes on the full amount. Later it was learned that his wife, Ina Claire, stage and screen star, had also paid taxes on her income, resulting in a double payment.

The $40,000 was not returned to Gilbert, whose address is given as Los Angeles, but was credited on other income taxes he owes.

Bonus Is Set Back By Vote in Senate

(Associated Press.)

Cash bonus cries were stilled somewhat yesterday by a crushing Senate vote that sharply veered the fate of the issue from the Capitol to the White House.

Speaker Rainey, as soon as advised of the 60-to-28 Senate defeat of the Robinson bonus amendment, said "that ends it here" and further explained:

"There is no use doing anything in the House with that kind of a vote in the Senate."

Patman, of Texas, a leading bonus advocate, commented, also, that "any effort on this side would be futile unless the Senate changes its position."

But the Texan and his friends made clear the Senate ballot did not close their bonus efforts. Instead, they will endeavor to obtain the necessary Senate support and to do so they regard an approving glance from President Roosevelt essential.

Charge Made Donations Required of Beer Trade

Hammond, Ind., April 28 (A.P.).—A charge that payments of $500 to the Democratic State central committee's campaign fund were demanded of those seeking to become importers of beer was made today in supreme court.

Judge V. S. Reiter admitted an affidavit to that effect by Abe Rosen, of Gary, in a case involving the validity of the State beer control law.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

There are, apparently, radicals and radicals.

Vice President John N. Garner, of Texas, who was described by the Republicans as too radical to be entrusted with such a chance at the Presidency, may be radical, but he is not the kind of radical Speaker Henry T. Rainey, of Illinois, is, nor Gen. Jacob S. Coxey, sr., Mayor of Massillon, Ohio, who was the leader of the history-making march of Coxey's army 39 years ago.

Amid the flurry and the hubbub anent inflation and silver and other economic panaceas, Gen. Coxey came to Washington and asked the Vice President and the Speaker the privilege of expressing some of his ideas from the east steps of the Capitol, between 11 and 12 a. m., Monday, May 1, the thirty-ninth anniversary of the march of his famous army, seeking from the Government something which would bring surcease to their economic woes.

Speaker Rainey said that as far as he was concerned Mayor Coxey could speak from the Capitol steps, but the Vice President said no.

"For over 60 years I have studied the money question," Gen. Coxey wrote Mr. Garner in an appeal from his decision, in the course of which he quoted Mr. Rainey's permission, "and unless this country gets on a money basis and away from the collapsed credit system that was established by acts of Congress which have collapsed, prosperity can not be restored. We must have money enough to transact the business of the country without interest attachment. Money is a legal tool created by an act of Congress to cancel debts as it passes from one to another."

Bowing before the edict of the "radical" Mr. Garner, Gen. Coxey, who was 79 years old last Easter Sunday, is going to accept the privilege accorded him by the 72-year-old Speaker Rainey and speak from the steps of the Capitol, on the House side, at 11 o'clock Monday morning. He will conclude his address before noon if Capitol police do not persuade him to conclude it sooner than that.

If the gendarmes lay heavy hands on the aged battler, who was so indelibly branded a radical two-score years ago, there will develop a nice question about whether the Speaker or the Vice President controls the House side of the Capitol.

RAIL LABOR LEADERS SCORE PENDING BILL

Fear Coordinator Would Cut Personnel and Cancel Vital Service.

(Associated Press.)

Labor, fearful that thousands of railway workers will be driven to the breadlines, yesterday announced its opposition to the railway reorganization bill now on President Roosevelt's desk awaiting approval and transmission to Congress.

Though the legislation—it proposes a one-to-two-year suspension of anti-trust laws as far as rails are concerned, and creates a Federal coordinator to rehabilitate and trim the railroad systems'—contains various safeguards for labor, it was attacked vigorously yesterday in a statement from the Railway Labor Executives Association, which said:

"We see no justification for drastic reductions of essential transportation service in order that unearned interest may be paid on idle capital."

Coordinator's Big Job.

In New York, railway officials took the view that the concentrated authority of the plan made its success depend entirely on who is named coordinator. They were quick to point out, however, that the required consultation with labor committees before orders are issued by the coordinator may serve to prevent any large economies.

The coordinator's big job under the bill will be to eliminate duplicating services of competing lines and unneeded services and to consolidate terminal activities. He will have power to pass on railroad loan applications to the Reconstruction Corporation. This is designed to force rails to squeeze down their capitalization to actual working needs.

Though the coordinator's orders could be appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission, the rail executives were not inclined to believe there would be much overriding of his directions. They assumed that the coordinator probably would be chosen from the present commission and that he will consult with the commission before making any sweeping reforms.

Safeguards to Labor.

The measure has been on the desk of President Roosevelt for a week now, but the rush of international conferences has made it impossible for him to give it time. He is expected, however, to get it on the way to Congress soon.

The labor safeguards in the bill are: Protection of all labor union contract rights, creation of labor boards to consult with the coordinator, preservation of the rights of collective bargaining and maintenance of the railway labor act.

The fear of the railroad unions is that the economy ax would not only cut off unneeded crews here and there, but that in the elimination of duplicating services it would wipe out the employment of whole railroad communities.

"End of Railroad Competition."

"If we have reached the end of railroad competition," said their statement yesterday, "we have arrived at the necessity for immediate, complete and direct public control.

"Communities, shippers, and employes threatened with irreparable losses should be able to prevent the passage of such a law as now proposed. But at least the organized railway employes will do all within their power to have written into any new law adequate protection for approximately 2,000,000 workers dependent for a livelihood upon the railroads and allied transportation services.

"We shall insist that unemployed workers be given even more tender consideration than unemployed capital. We shall insist that this intolerable deflation of labor by cutting down jobs and wages, deepening the depression and steadily degrading the standards of American life, must stop."

House Approves Probe Into Motion Pictures

(Associated Press.)

The House Rules Committee yesterday approved the Sirovich resolution for congressional investigation into the motion picture industry and its financial affiliates.

Privileged legislative status also was approved through adoption of a rule to limit debate to one hour and permitting no amendments. The investigation would be conducted by a select committee of seven House members, with the right to subpena records and witnesses.

BORAH AND NORRIS DEFEND HOARDERS

Idahoan Assails Roosevelt Policy of Forcing Cash Back Into Banks.

(United Press.)

Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, led his first major assault on the Roosevelt administration yesterday when he delivered a scalding speech denouncing the President's policy of making gold hoarding a criminal offense.

With his voice rising in anger, he advocated open defiance of the Federal Government on this issue. To his assistance came another veteran Republican, Senator Norris, Nebraska.

Debate was proceeding calmly on the inflation amendment to the farm relief bill, when Borah interrupted. He arose slowly from his chair in the third row, fixed his glasses on his nose and demanded to know why laws against gold hoarding were necessary in a nation that had gone off the gold standard.

"So far as I am concerned," he said, "if I had $5,000 in gold I would tell the Government to come and try to get it."

Senate Listens Intently.

The undercurrent of conversation on the Senate floor was stilled as senators turned to listen to the brown-clad figure who is as quick to denounce a Republican President as he is a Democratic one.

Borah's battle yesterday was in behalf of the man who feels him money is unsafe in banks and prefers to keep it at home. He dwelt on the fear of the Federal Government that rests in the hearts of most citizens when he said:

"I think we are proceeding under a pure bluff and we have no authority to take such action except for the fact that the people are afraid to come in contact with the Federal Government.

"Only through guarantee of bank deposits will we ever be able to get gold out of hiding. One of the most effective ways we could put money into circulation would be to arrange the release of the money now held in frozen banks. That would put $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 into circulation immediately.

Norris Backs Borah.

"More difficult for me to understand is the right of the Government to force citizens to bring in their money and deposit it in banks and other places where there is no assurance they will ever get it back."

Norris took the same line of argument, and indirectly came out in favor of Government guarantee of bank deposits—a measure Borah has had under consideration for some time.

"I do not believe," Norris said, "that the Government has any right nor do I believe any law passed by Congress can require any citizen to deposit his money any where. We have found in recent days that the right to get your money out of a bank does not depend on the wishes of the men who operate the banks.

"The recent moratorium closed all the banks. All laws on earth—unless there be some law that guarantees the depositor the privilege of getting his money when he wants it—will not be of any avail."

DELAY IN HARRIMAN BANK CASE UPHELD

Idea Is Advanced at Senate Quiz to Hold Officials Civilly Responsible.

(Associated Press.)

Defense by the Justice Department of the delayed prosecution of Joseph W. Harriman, New York banker, was heard yesterday by a Senate investigating committee along with a suggestion from other sources that the officials who permitted the delay might be held civilly responsible for losses suffered by new depositors in Harriman's bank.

Following testimony by William H. Ramsey, Justice Department attorney, that charges of false entries in the accounts of the Harriman National Bank & Trust Co., were not submitted to the department until last December, although reported to the Comptroller of the Currency in July, Chairman Stephens, of the investigating committee, announced that F. G. Awalt, acting Comptroller of the Currency, would be called for personal testimony.

"Appears to Be Tainted."

Senator Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, author of the inquiry resolution, at the outset of the hearing said the Harriman evidence "appears to be tainted with official dilatoriness as a consequence of which substantial losses have been suffered by depositors."

He said creditors of the bank might have protected themselves if promptly advised of the fraudulent practices, and demanded a full investigation to determine whether official inaction had "trapped the public into the losses."

Ramsey testified the Justice Department had delayed prosecution on assurances that efforts were being made to save the bank. Harriman, he said, was treated the same as though he had been "John Doe from back in the hills."

Discussion Is Denied.

The attorney characterized as "unfair" a suggestion by Senator Neely (Democrat), West Virginia, that Nugent Dodds, former special assistant to the Attorney General, had not been diligent in prosecuting Harriman.

The opening hearings into the Harriman case was marked by the suggestion by Costigan that officials who approved delay in prosecution of the banker might be civilly responsible for losses suffered by new depositors.

Costigan asked Frank M. Parrish, head of the department's criminal division, if that had ever been discussed by officials in considering the case.

"At no time," Parrish replied promptly.

PERKINS PAY PLAN DRAWS HEAVY FIRE

House Witnesses Continue to Pick Flaws in Wage and Work Bills.

(Associated Press.)

A continuing parade of witnesses before the House Labor Committee yesterday piled up objections to numerous points in Secretary Perkins' plan for establishment of minimum wage schedules and for Federal control of production and hours of work.

The Secretary of Labor kept in close touch with developments. When she went to the White House Cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon, she took along for the President a summary of the testimony of the last few days before the House committee. At Miss Perkins' office it was said that she was "gratified by the volume of mail" approving her plan.

In yesterday's hearings, Chairman Connery announced that the committee would be ready to take up the bill in executive session "next week or before." He agreed with many other committee members that some change should be made in the bill, so it would require manufacturers doing both interstate and intrastate business to comply with the proposed 30-hour week maximum. It now applies only to interstate concerns.

Likewise, Connery predicted that when the bill is submitted to the House it will include newspapers and periodicals. That statement was made after Edward F. Cassidy, representing the New York typographical union, had testified it would be "unjust" to exclude them.

Defense Council's Revival Is Urged

Manufacturers Are Flatly Opposed to Passage of of 30-Hour Bill.

(Associated Press.)

Mobilization of the Nation's industrial forces to combat the depression through revival of the Council of National Defense was urged upon President Roosevelt and Congress yesterday by the National Association of Manufacturers.

At the same time, the organization placed itself squarely on record against the 30-hour work week legislation pending in Congress and adopted its own alternative suggestions, including a loosening during the emergency of the antitrust laws.

To the White House itself and the Capitol, a committee composed of 25 leading manufacturers will carry the views of the association; and an active campaign was set under way within a few hours after the protracted meeting had adjourned.

Curb on Securities Is Urged in Senate

Roosevelt Bill's Passage Held Imperative to Save Investors.

(Associated Press.)

The Senate Banking Committee reported to the Senate yesterday that enactment of President Roosevelt's bill to regulate the sale of securities was "imperative" to protect investors and bring capital out of hiding.

At the same time, a House Interstate Commerce subcommittee agreed upon a revised draft of the legislation and prepared to report to the full committee Tuesday. The bill's terms were not made public, though Chairman Rayburn said it differed in many respects from the Senate measure.

Chairman Fletcher, in the Senate committee's report, said "dire national distress" had resulted from losses estimated to run as high as $25,000,000,000 during the past ten years in securities sold to the public.

2 WRECKED PLANES ARE FOUND IN ITALY

Discovery Solves Mystery of Missing Hinkler and Van Cleef.

Rome, April 28 (A.P.).—Almost simultaneous discovery today of two wrecked airplanes, one in central and the other in southern Italy, cleared up two mysteries of the air and brought first definite knowledge of the deaths of Bert Hinkler, Australian airman, and John C. Van Cleef, youthful American who was making a world tour.

Hinkler's charred body was found beside the burned wreckage of his plane by charcoal burners in the Pratomagno woods near Florence at an altitude of 4,700 feet.

He had been missing since January, when he took off from England in an attempt to lower the air speed record to Australia, flying solo.

Van Cleef was one of five persons killed in the crash last Sunday of an Air-Orient liner flying from Corfu, Greece. Three survivors of that crash were found near the wreckage of the airliner on Mount Scifarelli near Saracena in Calabria.

Both of the planes were wrecked in the same way. They crashed against tall wooded mountains.

The three survivors of the Air-Orient crash were found sitting in the cabin of their wrecked plane, huddled together because of the severe cold and suffering from shock, but otherwise not dangerously injured.

The body of Van Cleef, identified by American Express Co. officials as a recent Princeton graduate who lived in Montclair, N. J., still was pinned in the wreckage of the ship, as were the bodies of four French passengers and members of the crew.

PRINCIPALS IN "ROMANTIC AGE"

Post Staff Photo.

Esther Carrico (left) and Constance Wirt, who play the leading roles in "The Romantic Age," a comedy by A. A. Milne, which will be presented tonight in Barker Hall, Y. W. C. A. Building, by pupils of the Misses Eastman School, under direction of Mrs. Alice S. Morse.

SCOTTSBORO GROUP ENDS JAIL REBELLION

Nine Defendants Abandon Disorder After Day on Bread and Water.

Birmingham, Ala., April 28 (A.P.).—After 20 hours of rebellion, the nine Negro defendants in the "Scottsboro case" today capitulated and went peacably to their cells for a good meal and slept most of the afternoon.

Armed with pieces of metal ripped from plumbing and lighting fixtures of the day room, the prisoners late yesterday defied officials and refused to return to their cells.

"We'll die first," they shouted to Sheriff J. F. Hawkins, who sought to reason with them after Warden F. L. Erwin had failed to quiet them.

Today, however, they sent word to the warden they would behave and promised to pay for damages in ripping out their crude weapons.

Sheriff Hawkins had ordered them locked in the day room, which is equipped only with a table and benches, and placed on bread and water until they became tractable.

Warden Erwin attributed the outbreak to "streams of Communist propaganda and letters from sympathizers," and discontinuance of the practice of permitting hundreds of Negroes to visit them on Thursday afternoon.

Prior to the rebellion the nine had sent a crudely printed placard to the warden headed "Freedom for the Scottsboro Boys" and demanding "better treatment."

Sheriff Hawkins said the only complaint they made when he asked if they had been struck or mistreated by deputy wardens was that one of them "cursed us."

Clark Deaths Laid To "Suicide Pact"

Wife and 2 Sons Slain, Says Coroner, Husband Killing Self.

St. Paul, April 28 (A.P.).—Coroner H. W. Reiter, of Scott County, announced late today that the death certificates for Mrs. Genevieve Clark, Foshay trial juror, and her two sons specified they were slain, while her husband was a "suicide."

At the same time Dr. Reiter said there was "hardly any question" that Mr. and Mrs. Clark entered into a suicide pact.

The bodies were found late yesterday with those of their sons, 7 and 10 years old, in a gas-filled car 15 miles from here. Lethal fumes were poured into the vehicle through a hose attached to its exhaust pipe.

Walker Spikes Report Of Return to Politics

Vichy, France, April 28 (A.P.).—Former Mayor James J. Walker of New York expects to prolong his honeymoon indefinitely and has no intention ever to run for political office again, he said today in commenting on reports published in the United States that he would seek re-election as Mayor of New York this fall.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—The Queens Evening News of Jamaica, Long Island, published today a copyrighted story that former Mayor James J. Walker will return to New York next fall and participate as a candidate in the mayoralty election.

Robins in Moscow For Social Studies

Colonel, Friend of Trotzky and Lenin, Visits Old Leningrad Haunts.

Moscow, April 29 (A.P.).—Col. Raymond Robins arrived in Moscow today on his first visit to Russia since the revolution, which he witnessed in his capacity as American Red Cross representative and during which his contact with Lenin and Trotzky was intimate. Disavowing any political or economic mission, Robins declared he came here solely "to look around."

"I saw this thing start and I want to see what's going on now," he explained.

It is his intention, he said, to study sociological conditions with especial reference to children and youth under the Soviet regime. He expects to remain two months or more. Spending two days in Leningrad before coming to Moscow, Robins devoted most of his time to visits to his old haunts, such as the American and British Embassies and the Smolny Institute where the Soviet government had its first headquarters.

SOVIET AND JAPAN CLOSE TO BREACH

Tension Over Chinese Rail Control May Lead to Trouble Soon.

(Copyright, 1933, by the Associated Press.)

Moscow, April 28.—The possibility of a showdown in the near future between Soviet Russia and Japan over control of the Chinese Eastern Railway is gaining strength from day to day.

Recent protests by Moscow to both the Tokyo government and to the Manchukuo board of administration, alleging interference with the operation of the railroad indicate the deepening tension felt here in the last few weeks over the ultimate status of the C. E. R.

To what this expected crisis will lead, when it comes, is the subject of varied speculations in foreign circles, but there are seemingly well-founded indications it is premature to say that Soviet Russia will not use force to protect its interests if peaceful suasion fails to prevent any attempts to seize the railway.

The Moscow government feels that its rights regarding the line, which it jointly operates with the Manchukuo government, are threatened by recent developments, including the breaking of the connection between the C. E. R. and the Russian line.

International traffic to and from the Soviet Union was effectively stopped by this move, Soviet authorities charged.

These acts, Soviet authorities maintained, were inspired by Japanese officials in Manchukuo, and the demand was made that the Tokyo government fulfill the obligations it assumed at the outset of the Manchurian occupation, to protect Soviet interests in north Manchuria.

What steps the Soviet government will take if Japan does not fulfill its earlier guarantee to protect Russian interests is problematical.

$44,600,000 Is Lent To Farmers on Crops

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Agriculture said yesterday $44,600,000 had been disbursed to farmers this year in crop loans from the $90,000,000 fund set aside by Congress. The number of applications has fallen in recent weeks and Dr. C. W. Warburton, in charge of loans, estimated that total disbursements may not exceed $60,000,000. The average loan this year is $86, compared with $120 last year, when $84,000,000 was disbursed, most of which is still outstanding.

U. S. Cities Service Inquiry Recessed

(Associated Press.)

The Federal Trade Commission last night put off until next Tuesday further hearings on the affairs of the Cities Service Securities Co. The inquiry was suspended in the midst of testimony by Dr. Thomas W. Mitchell, commission's examiner-economist, regarding the company.

Monday the commission will start hearings on the St. Lawrence Securities Co., Inc., and the Utica Gas & Electric Co. of the Niagara-Hudson power group, controlled by J. P. Morgan & Co.

Officials said last night it was probable they would follow the unusual procedure of having two hearings active simultaneously, since the concluding testimony on the Cities Service case may require more than one day. Mitchell spent most of yesterday in a discussion of the securities company's market operations previous to and during the stock market crash in October, 1929.

Training of Successor Costs Convict 3 Days

Boise, Idaho, April 28 (A.P.).—Alas, poor George, it cost him three days' extra imprisonment because he was head waiter at the Idaho State Penitentiary.

George Walters, serving a sentence in the penitentiary for a burglary committed in Canyon County, was pardoned today effective "immediately."

However, it was stipulated he would remain long enough to train his successor, as it appeared to be no sinecure to be head waiter in the main prison dining room.

SELECTIVE 30-YEAR RETIREMENT IN BILL

Compulsory Plan Dropped as House Committee Rewrites Measure.

The House Deficiencies Appropriations subcommittee yesterday completed its draft of the independent offices bill, substituting selective 30-year Federal retirement for the Budget Bureau's original compulsory plan, and sharply limiting the proposed power of the President to cancel contracts.

The subcommittee will report the revised estimates to the full House Appropriations Committee Tuesday, and ask the House Rules Committee for a special rule limiting debate when it is taken up in the House the following day.

Although House Appropriations Chairman James P. Buchanan again adhered to the committee policy of not disclosing subcommittee action, it was learned that the rewritten contract cancellation clause would enable the President to modify or set aside only transportation agreements to which the Government is party, such as ocean and air mail contracts.

The committee made no further changes in its redraft of the Budget Bureau's 30-year retirement recommendations. As it now stands, 30-year workers could be retired by department heads on a selective basis and would not be laid off automatically at the end of their 30-year service.

Nevertheless, retired workers would have to continue to pay into the retirement fund at the rate of 3½ per cent of annuities, until they reached the statutory age under the retirement act. Annuities would be suspended during periods of reemployment.

R. F. C. Official Sees Business Improvement

(Associated Press.)

The American Society of Newspaper Editors was told by a director of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation yesterday that decided signs of business improvement have been noted by corporation officials. Jesse H. Jones, himself owner of a newspaper, told the assembled editors something of the work being done by the corporation. He expressed great confidence in President Roosevelt's ability to bring the country out of the depression.

"People in all walks and of all political faiths are willing to accord him a free hand," Jones said. "Congress is giving him power to act—to correct on the spot as it were."

Farm Aid to Race With Seed Growth

Wallace Has Little Time to Put Crop Control Into Effect.

(Associated Press.)

A mighty race with nature was in prospect last night as the Administration Farm Relief bill neared the law books after swinging over its most imposing hurdle—Senate approval.

One of the first important decisions facing Secretary Wallace will be to determine whether to use broad powers to curtail production of this year's crops by leasing or acreage retirement agreements in an effort to cut down supply and help boost farm price levels.

Planting is now in full swing in all but a few areas. More than 50 per cent of the spring wheat crop has been sown. Cotton and corn planting are nearing that point. Plans for an extensive machine to administer the act have been drawn, but there is little chance it can get into action soon enough to overcome the head start of the plants and nature.

Roosevelt Will Present Diplomas at Annapolis

(Associated Press.)

White House aids yesterday said President Roosevelt does not intend to take an extended trip on the cruiser Indianapolis this summer, but that he expects to present in person the diplomas of the Annapolis Naval Academy graduating class. He intends to drive to Annapolis for the graduating exercises June 1. There will be around 450 graduates there this year.

The President also is planning tentatively a cruise on the schooner yacht, Amberpack II, some time in June, sailing up the coast from Marblehead, Mass., to Eastport, Maine, where his mother has a summer camp. His sons will accompany him and he will aid in sailing the boat as he did on a similar short cruise last year.

Face Red

Joe Robinson Scores Hit on Huey Long With Bible Verse.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, replied in kind yesterday to Senator Long (Democrat), Louisiana, who frequently quotes from the Bible, with a verse so sharp that it brought the Louisianan to his feet with crimson face.

During the latest of the frequent clashes between the two Long arose after Robinson had urged defeat of the bonus amendment to the inflation program, and sought to get an extension for him of the 15-minute debate limitation, smilingly observing Robinson would "need more than 15 minutes to justify his position."

There was applause from the galleries, in which sat, a number of former soldiers, and Senator Lewis, of Illinois, the Democratic whip, got up to demand that it be stilled.

Robinson waved to him and shouted:

"That's all right, I'll take care of that. Now for the senator from Louisiana. He has a habit of getting smart here on the floor and quoting scripture. Let me quote a little scripture to him:

"'How long wilt thou speak these things and how long will the words of thy mouth be like a strong wind?'"

As onlookers laughed, Long, his face a purplish red, bolted to his feet to answer, but Thomas (Democrat), Oklahoma, got the floor ahead of him.

CHANGES SUGGESTED IN RETIREMENT LAW

U. S. Employe Forum Urges General Revision of Pending Act.

The educational forum of local Union No. 2, National Federation of Federal Employes, at a meeting last night went on record as approving important constructive changes in the retirement law. The forum's action took the form of approval of certain changes in principle, which will be drafted into resolutions by the board of representatives of local Union No. 2, and then presented to the convention of the National Federation of Federal Employes at Kansas City in September.

During the course of the discussion, National Vice President Ulrey J. Biller, chairman of the forum and a nationally known expert on retirement, pointed out that for many years the national federation has urged the adoption of a dismissal wage by the Government, and that data on the subject often has been presented by the organization to Congressional committees.

Schedule of Suggestions.

The following proposed changes in the retirement law were approved in principle last night by the educational forum:

Giving employes the option of naming a beneficiary to receive their accumulated deductions and accrued annuity in case of death.

Giving employes the option of making additional contributions to the retirement fund, such contributions to be used to purchase additional annuity at time of retirement.

Giving employes at time of retirement the option of selecting a lesser annuity of equivalent value, actuarily determined, covering the life of the employe and of a selected beneficiary having an insurable interest in such employe.

Other Changes Urged.

Liberalizing the provisions of law governing disability retirement.

Liberalizing the provisions of the law governing retirement because of involuntary separation from service without fault on the part of the employe.

Optional retirement after fifteen years of service at 60 years of age or over.

Opposing compulsory retirement in principle when based on mere length of service or a low age arbitrarily selected.

The meeting held at Local No. 2's headquarters, 710 Fourteenth street northwest, was very largely attended, the hall being crowded to overflowing. Among those present were guests from other locals of the District of Columbia Federation of Federal Employes' Unions.

Iowa Relief Law Validity Disputed

Courts Disagree on Plan for Postponement of Foreclosures.

Des Moines, Iowa, April 28 (A.P.).—Constitutionality of Iowa's emergency debtor's relief law was both upheld and denied by district courts today while farmers seeking to block sheriff's sales clashed with officers.

District Judge A. P. Barker, in a ruling at Muscatine, upheld the constitutionality of the law passed by the recent Iowa General Assembly, although earlier in the day Judge W. E. Dingwell at Winterset had held the same law unconstitutional in several mortgage foreclosure actions brought before the Madison County District Court.

The law provides for continuance of all mortgage foreclosure actions until March 1, 1935, on request to the court and also gives the court custody of the property during the period of continuance with authority to direct the application of rents, profit and income.

GAS LIGHT COMBINE DATA SENT TO BLACK

Keech Insists Amendment Is Vital in Flow of Benefits Direct to Public.

Unless the bill providing for a merger of the Washington and Georgetown Gas Light Cos. carries an amendment eliminating the "going concern" value, "no direct benefit flows to the public," People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech stated yesterday in a letter to Representative Loring M. Black, chairman of the Public Utilities subcommittee of the House District Committee, which this week held a hearing on the measure.

The letter, which sets forth Mr. Keech's views on the merger in detail, was written at the request of Mr. Black. Pointing out that the companies estimate a saving of $50,000 a year will be effected by the consolidation, the people's counsel figures that the companies would on a basis of a 6 per cent return on a 10 per cent depreciation of a $20,000,000 valuation waive its right to but $70,000 a year. If the depreciation rate is to be lower, as is likely, "then the amount to be saved through lessening of operating expenses would substantially counteract the loss due to the elimination of going concern value," he stated.

The net result would be that the gas company would be authorized to issue additional stock and the public would gain nothing, as officials of the utility have said that no reduction in rates would be brought about by the merger, Mr. Keech adds.

Essential for Stabilization.

The people's counsel attacks the position of gas company officials that passage of the bill is essential for the stabilization of the utility's financial structure. The issue is of no importance in rate making, he explains, and the gas companies have made steady progress in earnings within the last thirty-odd years despite the fact no additional stock has been issued since 1896.

Regarding the argument of Marcey Sperry, president of the Washington company, that improvements of between $1,000,000 and $1,750,000 would be made during the coming year if the bill becomes a law, thus aiding employment, Mr. Keech said:

"So far as the local situation is concerned it is doubtful whether much of this work would inure to the benefit of local personnel for the reason that the engineering staff of the company has been practically removed and the company makes use in lieu thereof the engineering firm of Sone & Webster.

Enjoys Unusual Prosperity.

"Further, in this connection, it has come to my attention in a rather authentic way that a substantial number of persons, within the last year or so, have been let out, notwithstanding many years' service, and their places filled by out-of-town personnel."

Mr. Keech asserts that an inclusion of the amendment he proposes would be upheld in the courts and adds that the counsel for the Public Utilities Commission concurs in this view.

Since its organization, the Washington Gas Light Co. has enjoyed unusual prosperity, Mr. Keech points out. The average annual rate of dividend on stock has been 26.9 per cent, total dividends amounting to $25,000,000. Moreover, the company's present surplus is more than $8,000,000.

MASK AND WIG CLUB SCORES WITH REVUE

Pennsylvania U. Players in Fine Burlesque of Old Salem.

The Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania came back last night after too long an absence to prove that what the theater probably needs is more collegiate pep.

And about all these collegians need is a bit more blue penciling of their acts, for "Out of the Blues," presented at the Belasco, might have been a little shorter.

However, this burlesque manager's dream of old Salem in witch and Puritan days was far from a show just for Pennsylvania alumni. It was professional, handsome, tuneful—thanks to Charles Gilpin, '99, who turned out some hit tunes—workmanlike, and above all, restful.

In "Jigsaw Jag," the revue boasts a unique dance number, beautifully costumed and cleverly executed. The Pilgrim dance, "On With the Show" number with radiant gloves and shoes, and the marvelous beef trust burlesque sextet, rank with the jigsaw scoop as fit for any Broadway revue and better than most.

Both as gentlemen and ladies—(these Pennsylvanians are perfect ladies except for legs and larnyxes)—the college crew was above reproach. Outstanding stars were Samuel Walter Gregg, jr., as Louie, who has, as he sang in one of his songs "ability, pep and agility"; Donald Floyd Brown, being fetching as Tootsie and Hester Prynne possessing the nicest singing voice of the entire cast; William Spence Harvey, as Camille, and "Bud" Pearse, as the most gorgeous lady rhythm dancer extant.

The dancing chorus, which included two Washington boys, Darrell H. Smith, jr., and Richard George Woolley, were perfectly synchronized and light of foot; the singing assemblies were likewise excellent.

The show did pull you out of the blues. DOROTHEA LEWIS.

W. H. Rapley's Car In Cycle Accident

Soldier Fined After Crash While Comrade Goes to Hospital.

The crashing of a motorcycle into the rear of a moving car on the Baltimore Boulevard near Laurel last night resulted in severe injuries to a side-car passenger and a charge of reckless driving being placed against the motorcyclist, a soldier.

Private Willard Edgerton, 20, of 1800 P street northwest, Twenty-Ninth Motor Transport Company, operator of the motorcycle, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Howard Gozzell, of Savage, Md., and Private George Warner, 20, also stationed in Washington, was sent to Walter Reed Hospital, suffering from concussion of the brain and severe cuts.

The accident occurred, according to Maryland State Police, when the motorcycle struck the rear of an automobile owned by W. H. Rapley, of the Shoreham Hotel, owner of the National Theater Building, and operated by his chauffeur, Julian Tavares, 1440 Newton street northwest. Mr. and Mrs. Rapley were in the car at the time. Edgerton was unhurt.

$114,000,000 LENT FRANCE IN LONDON

of about $19,000,000 off the books and he is strongly hopeful that M. Herriot will bring such assurances from the White House conversations that the premier can ask Parliament for the necessary credits.

It was previously reported that a debt moratorium for the duration of the coming World Economic Conference was sought to satisfy Parliament's demands.

It was said that the French government is willing to participate in a tariff truce, which, it is understood, special American Ambassador Norman H. Davis will propose to the organizing committee of the World Economic Conference.

The only danger seen in such a move, it was said on reliable authority, lies in a drop of the dollar of more than 15 per cent. Such a decline is regarded in financial circles as unlikely.

If the Government takes up the payments of December 15 and June 15 to the United States, it was said, it will withhold a definite decision until it knows the conditions Congress will impose on the settlement of the debts.

The press generally paid tribute to President Roosevelt's friendliness to M. Herriot and professed to see in the American attitude in Geneva an indication of a willingness to work toward international cooperation. Nationalist newspapers said, however, that security guarantees are still lacking.

Up, Anyway

Victim Asks if One Who Holds Up Is Same as a Holdup Man.

What is the difference between a holdup man and a man who holds up?

That is what Harry Schapiro, proprietor of a tailor shop at 5506 Second street northwest, is wondering. Late yesterday a young man entered his shop and sidled up to the counter as if to pass a pleasantry as to the weather, or some familiar subject. Instead, he calmly announced:

"This is a holdup. I am not a regular holdup man, but I got to have money—so hand it over."

The mild manner caused Schapiro to think it might be a joke.

"Oh, I mean it all right," the man replied, and drew a gun. "I want money."

Schapiro opened the money drawer and picked up $18, about all the money in it. Offering it to the man, he said, "There it is; take it."

The man looked at the money and shook his head. "I don't want all of it," he said. "I am not a real holdup man."

"There it is," Schapiro repeated. "Take it if you want."

"No," the man replied, "I don't want it all. I'll take a $5 bill. I am not a regular holdup man."

He then walked out of the store, got into a car and drove away—just like most holdup men.

The Federal Diary

By GEORGE D. RILEY

WITH the entry list fast filling to the 200 mark for the Federal Diary First Annual Golf Tournament, Indian Spring, May 25, it will not be long before enrollment will close. More than one hundred and fifty have sent in their names for the grand contest.

Last night J. Leland Acuff, Prohibition, announced the name of the handicap committee chairman, who, in turn, has named the committee as follows:

Ralph A. Shepard, chairman, Treasury; Frank G. Butler, War; Dr. L. T. Hopkins, Agriculture; C. P. Medley, Veterans' Administration, and D. P. Swope, Interior. Here are some of the provisions the handicap committee has decided to follow:

Handicaps will be accepted generally from regularly established club handicaps. Handicaps determined by a departmental or bureau organization based on tournament results of eighteen holes play. In these cases each entrant should submit a statement from the secretary of his organization as to his handicap.

In the absence of established handicaps as above, other entrants should submit their three best cards of eighteen holes each played this year. Where it is possible only to submit records for nine holes play, four or five cards will be sufficient. All cards should show date of play and be attested by another player.

If this information has not been furnished by those who have submitted applications it should be furnished as soon as possible. Future applications should be accompanied with this information. All handicap information should be forwarded to the Federal Diary Department by May 12. It is suggested you clip this information for reference.

NOT only the savings involved, but cold-blooded revenge, is the motive for the consideration now being given by Federal employes living in Arlington County to the idea of adopting daylight saving in their risings and goings to bed.

They want revenge on the Virginia Public Service Co. on account of the bills rendered this month. No, not the amount, which does not seem to be considered out of order, but the little stickers up in the corner. Those stickers are tax-cut propaganda, but that's not wherefore.

It's because they are the vague, deceitful kind of propaganda that has poisoned the people against the agencies that serve them, and played upon the invisibility of invisible services to the exclusion of any consideration of the services that happen to be invisible.

Few tears are being shed for the poor stockholders, as the company traces back through the Seaboard Public Service of Alexandria to National Public Service of New York, to the National Electric Power Co., to the Middle West Utilities Co. Provide your own insull-ting puns.

THE WASHINGTON POST is interested in the welfare of Government workers, but I wonder if it really comprehends the fact that Congress, in reducing leave of absence from 30 to 15 days, has (in effect) robbed them of any vacation.

The Congress no doubt figured that "back home" two weeks comprises the customary annual vacation, and that to allow Federal employes 30 days leave is unreasonable. In this calculation, they overlooked the fact that in the business world the usual two-weeks vacation is by no means the only "time off" allowed employes. That it is not at all unusual, and in fact quite customary for employes to occasionally request and receive, in addition to the two-week vacation, an hour or two, or even a half day or day's leave to attend to some necessary business—which may be a ball game, a visit to the dentist, shopping, gardening, or what not?

Congress, in shortening the leave period, failed to take into account the fact that it would be the first to criticize chiefs of division in the Government service who extended small courtesy leave to their employes, and that as a matter of fact such practice can not with propriety be permitted in the civil service. Were it permitted, or generally practiced, it would certainly lead to favoritism, and even to scandal. There should be no discrimination between employes. To prevent discrimination, a record of fractional leave is necessary.

THERE is no authority of law admitting granting of leave in excess of fifteen days without loss of pay. When reduced to a record (with the average worker, in or out of the Government service) these small leave periods consume fifteen days a year, and so, the law robs Government employes of any real vacation.

For example, last year I planned for this coming summer a two-weeks auto trip to Chicago to see the fair. This is now impossible. If I subtract two weeks from the eleven and a quarter days due to December 31, I shall have one-quarter day left to take care of odd periods of needed leave. As a matter of fact, any person who is awake and has any human interest in life, outside of the business that flows over his or her desk, needs one and a quarter days of leave per month to attend to it. The fifteen-day leave law provides this, but leaves Government workers vacationless.

Can not The Post do something about it? We need its help.

Two Government employes were noted in serious conference about the much-discussed 30-year retirement plan.

"Yes," retorted debater No. 2, ruefully, "my name heads the list."

ASSOCIATED STUDIOS IN SPRING CONCERT

Gala Program of Vocal and Instrumental Music Is Presented.

The Associated Studios presented its spring concert last evening at the Sears-Roebuck Art Galleries, a gala program of vocal and instrumental music.

Outstanding on the program of commendable work by the students was Jack Levenson's playing Kreisler's "Caprice Viennoise" and "Tamborin Chinois" and "On Wings of Song" of Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, as violin solos.

In the voice part of the concert Lillian Adelaide Watson's rendition of the aria "Ah, Fors' e Lui," from Verdi's "La Traviata," was especially well sung.

Although these two led their respective branches of the musical art, the other numbers of the evening's program are by no means to be overlooked. The concert opened with the salutatory, "Liete Signor," from Meyerbeer's "Les Huguenots," sung by Edna Marie Jones. The aria, "Care Selve," saved from the no-longer-sung opera, "Atalanta" of Handel, was rendered by Hazel Gem Hughes, and Rose Bright offered "Printemps qui commence," from "Samson et Delilah" (Saint-Saens).

Louise Bernheimer, accompanied by Mrs. Clara Bernheimer, played on the cello a nocturne of Gruttsmacher and "Gavotte" by Popper. As the evening's piano solo, Helen Grimes presented Debussey's shimmery "Claire de Lune."

The Associated Studios was organized by Otto Torney Simon a little less than a year ago as a cooperative affiliation of artists-musicians for their combined studio interests and recitals. Henri Sokolov, violin; Mme. Grete von Bayer, piano; Richard Lorleberg, cello; Adolf Torovsky, organ and theory, and Prof. Simon, voice, comprise the affiliates, whose studios are maintained at 1624 H street northwest. W. A. Two Beer Permits Revoked by Board

Holders Were Found to Be Located in Prescribed Residential Zones.

Adhering to its contested policy of refusing to grant beer permits to businesses in residential zones, the District Commissioners yesterday revoked two temporary licenses that had been inadvertently granted in such "nonconforming" areas.

The permit holders whose off-sale licenses were canceled upon recommendation of the Beverage Permits Board are Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. store at 2001 First street northwest, and Lena Wisenberg, 1431 C street northeast.

A communication was also addressed to Mrs. Lena D. Deakin, of 2140 F street northwest, that her application for a license was denied on the same grounds.

Anacostia Protest On Traffic Voiced

Nichols Avenue Congestion Discussed by Group of Citizens.

Protest of traffic conditions on Nichols avenue from Anacostia Bridge to Sheridan road was voiced at a meeting of the Anacostia Citizens Association last night. Among suggestions for relieving traffic congestion in that section were the substitution of buses for street cars on Nichols avenue and the elimination of parking on one side of the street. A committee report on the subject will be heard at the association's next meeting.

The association also asked for the instalation of new windows in No. 15 Engine Company, and the shortening of a triangle at Valley place southeast. New members elected to the association were J. W. Conway and Guy Keaton.

LOEW'S FOX

"ZOO IN BUDAPEST." Fox picturization of a story by Jack Kirkland, adapted to the screen by Louise Long and Rowland V. Lee, featuring Loretta Young, Gene Raymond and O. P. Heggie, with Russ Powell, Wallis Albright and Paul Fix. Directed by Rowland V. Lee. Reviewed Friday morning.

By NELSON B. BELL.

In his first production for Fox, Jesse L. Lasky has revealed the same high quality of showmanship that characterized his many years of service as vice president in charge of production for Paramount.

He has sponsored a story, in "Zoo in Budapest," that is imaginative, resourceful and exciting and one that could not possibly be told anywhere but on the screen. It is brisk in movement, thrilling in climax and somehow seems to be indigenous to the city in which it purports to be laid.

"Zoo in Budapest" relates the adventures that befall an animal keeper, an escaped orphan, who seeks to evade being bonded out to the tannery for five years by the officers of the asylum, and a small boy who runs away from his nurse as the zoo is closing at twilight and goes back to collect a promised ride on the elephant. Zani, the animal tender, is sought by the police for stealing furs from the necks of beautiful women, because he abhors the thought of animals being killed and worn; Eve, the waif, is frantically hunted so that the orphanage need not forfeit its profitable contract with the tanning works, and the youngster is, of course, hysterically searched for by his wealthy parents.

The extraordinary developments that follow the escape of a large number of ferocious wild beasts from their cages strike a new note on the silver sheet and possesses the rare charm of genuine novelty.

So deftly has "Zoo in Budapest" apprehended the atmosphere of its foreign locale that one is immediately reminded of Lilliom, the merry-go-round man, or even of the picturesque figures that peopled "Sunrise," that bizarre tale of simple folk that flourished a number of years ago.

Gene Raymond and Loretta Young are admirably cast in the roles of the youth who knows no world beyond the iron boundaries of his beloved zoo park and the frightened and plaintive orphan who has never before in her life "worn a dress that wasn't a uniform." It is difficult to identify Mr. Raymond as the same young actor who betrayed such an astonishing wealth of artificialities with Bette Davis in the recent "Ex-Lady."

O. P. Heggie, in addition to a masterpiece of makeup, discloses a complete natural harmony with the kindly impulses of a compassionate head-keeper and Herr Doktor of the zoo. This role, which he plays so well, is remindful of his first appearance in Washington many years ago as Androcles, in Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion," at the Belasco.

Throughout its length, "Zoo in Budapest" is notable for a superb quality of pictorial beauty—a characteristic, by the way, of all of Rowland V. Lee's direction—and flawless photography. The climacteric scenes of the animal break are contrived with no little cunning and amazing realism. They are apt to stick pretty tenaciously in memory.

On the stage, Olsen & Johnson present their "Atrocities of 1933" to a greater length than some may find wholly agreeable, but with a catholicity of taste—or lack of it—that ranges from some pretty swell music to the rowdiest sort of comedy gags and blackouts.

They are aided in this mad and merry hodge-podge by a considerable company as crazy as they are themselves, scattered all over the stage and as promiscuously out among the audience, among whom will be found Kay Hamilton, singer; George Moore and Emil Shy, comedians; Holtz and Holtz, featured line dancers; "Happy" Moore, a gentleman of girth as well as mirth; "Speedy" Patterson, colored eccentric dancer; Bobby Graham, juvenile hoofer and rattle-bone syncopationist, and Sidney Gibson, tiniest of a group of midgets. All very rough-and-tumble.

The Fox Movietone News and Prof. Lampkin's calesthenicized rendition of the "Orpheus" overture further augment a feature that adheres to the highest traditions of the cinema in both content and treatment.

PALACE

"CAVALCADE." Fox picturization of the play by Noel Coward, adapted to the screen by Reginald Berkeley, featuring Clive Brook and Diana Wynyard, supported by Herbert Mundin, John Warburton and an all-English cast. Directed by Frank Lloyd, with war scenes by William Cameron Menzies. Reviewed (return engagement, at popular prices) by W. A. Whitney.

Of all the countless thousands and thousands of motion pictures that have been made since Thomas Mott sneezed his now famous sneeze, only two stand preeminently above their fellows—"The Birth of a Nation" and "Cavalcade."

Were the complete list of truly great pictures compiled, certain foreign ones would have to be included with these two, but of those of American origin, these two, and only these two, have those intangible qualities and details that make for time-enduring greatness.

With "Cavalcade" it is not alone the play, the story, the cast, the acting, the direction, the camera work that makes this unique among sound pictures, but rather it is all these things plus that indefinable something which unostentatiously works into the very being of the spectator—that something, perhaps, which theologians term soul.

It is not the intention here completely to review this picture; that was done so thoroughly so recently in these columns upon the occasion of "Cavalcade's" road-show engagement at the National that it would be superfluous to reproduce it here.

Suffice it, then, to say, in summarization, that "Cavalcade" is, by such insufficient measuring sticks as are at hand, the picture with no betters, and only one equal—flawlessly written, staged, acted and photographed, and in each department treated with a feeling little short of inspired.

If you happen to be one of those queerly constituted persons who consider the "movies" the nadir of banality, by all means stifle, kill, eradicate that notion, and see "Cavalcade," for the so-called legitimate theater has very few works whose perfection can approximate the drama here portrayed.

EARLE

"CENTRAL AIRPORT." First National picturization of the story, "Hawk's Mate," by Jack Moffitt, adapted to the screen by Rian James and James Seymour, starring Richard Barthelmess, with Sally Eilers, Tom Brown, Grant Mitchell, Willard Robertson and James Murray. Directed by William Wellman. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

Richard Barthelmess is still "Jack the Giant Killer." In this latest of his stellar vehicles—which by the way bears a striking resemblance to a vast number of aviation pictures that have preceded it on the release schedules—he is once more the valiant youth fighting seemingly insuperable handicaps and conquering all, save love. As a matter of fact, he is the winner at love, too, only it just happens, in this instance, that the kid brother marries the girl. So after all his heroism, Jim Blaine points the nose of his ship into the setting sun and flies away a bachelor, barnstorming hedge-hopper, leaving the kids to be, we hope, approximately happy.

While there is infinitely more action, interest and suspense in "Central Airport" than is conveyed by that prosaic and soundly commercial title, the film still lacks any semblance of novelty either in conception or treatment. There are the same old crashes, the same old rescues, the same old blind flying and the same old drone of the motors and screech of the loops, nose dives and barrel-rolls that have been present in all the aerial thrillers since "Wings" and "The Legion of the Condemned," down through the long list to "Hell Divers" and "Air Mail."

There is nothing in his part at all commensurate with Barthelmess' considerable endowment as an intelligent and a sensitive actor with a fine flair for emotional and poignant drama. There is not a great deal more for Sally Eilers, as the beautiful young parachute jumper who first wins the regard of the outlawed commercial flier, who crashed with a load of passengers in a storm and later fascinates his younger brother, who also takes up flying and signs on as her partner after another of Jim's crack-ups. Tom Brown does a characteristically enthusiastic and natural job as the kid brother.

Waring's Pennsylvanians continue the major stage attraction and repeat last week's overwhelming success, as well as several of the numbers that brought it about. Notable among these are Ravel's "Bolero," "The Village Choir" and "Ave Maria" scene and the Lane Sisters and Fred's "Off to Buffalo" number.

Adding a touch of newness to their program are the glee arrangement of "It Was So Beautiful," Babs and her brothers' "Two Tickets to Georgia," Johnny Davis' "scat" songs, Tom Waring's "Let's Sing Again" and "It's Time to Sing Sweet Adeline'," "Poley" McClintock and "Scotty" Bates' burlesque of the Lane Sisters, Evelyn Nair's tricky dance in those white satin, bell-bottomed pajamas, and, of course, the orchestra's legato, "hot" and novelty numbers.

To add a fillip of surprise even for one who has seen every "act" the band has had for the past 11 years, Fred stepped off a dance with Miss Nair that could have taken a dozen encores. A grand aggregation, those Warings and their Pennsylvanians!

Miss Maxine Doyle, all done up in figured silks, or something, also was called upon to announce the Six Franklins, who turned out to be seven and two acrobatic dogs, in ladder-balancing and gymnastic feats, and Johnny Hyman, who brings back his blackboard jokes on prominent people and the English language.

The Universal News, with Mr. Mcnamee intoning the interpretative chatter, and Freddie Clark's orchestral interludes complete a bill which, like last week's, affords an abundance of sprightly entertainment, but is better on the stage than it is upon the screen. N. B. B.

METROPOLITAN

"A BEDTIME STORY." Paramount picturization of a novel by Ray Hornman, starring Maurice Chevalier, with Helen Twelvetrees, Edward Everett Horton, Adrienne Ames and Baby LeRoy. Directed by Norman Taurog. Reviewed (second week) by W. A. Whitney.

When anyone can merely "look pretty" and at the same time steal a motion picture right away from the inimitable Maurice Chevalier, it is indeed something to write home about. But just as soon as Baby LeRoy comes onto the scene of "A Bedtime Story" out go M. Chevalier's chances of being noticed, and, lest there be any mistake about it, this is one of the m'sieu's best acted and sung charades.

Long after the details of the story are forgotten and other phases of this bedtime story are enshrouded in the same nebulosity as childhood's memories, the chubby countenance of Baby LeRoy will shine out clearly. From the time he is found in M. Chevalier's auto until the latter's coincident acquisition of a wife and family, Baby LeRoy, with appropriately "dubbed in" coos and ga-gas, is the center of wonderment.

With so obvious a story as this, the music which M. Chevalier sings is quieter, less ribald than is his wont, but, withal, the part for the music and the music for the part.

Aiding quite appreciably in the comedy is Edward Everett Horton, whose typical delineation of the gentleman's gentleman offers a sharp contrast to the care-free Maurice.

Then there is Helen Twelvetrees, as the stranded chorus girl turned nurse (any job in these times, you know) who, in common with everyone else, falls insurably in love with M. le Baby—which paves the way nicely for the Chevalier-Twelvetrees nuptials.

Lanny Ross and Pearl Osgood are seen and heard in "Yours Sincerely," based on the musical comedy, "Spring is Here," with the capable assistance of Janet Velie and Dudley Clements. A release of the Paramount news completes the program.

Morgenthau Clarifies Tobacco Sales Policy

(Associated Press.)

Henry Morgenthau, jr., Farm Board chairman, in an explanation of the board's policy, said yesterday that it has no intention of forcing cooperatives to sell tobacco on hand at whatever prices can be obtained.

Morgenthau said there was an apparent misunderstanding in the tobacco trade as a result of the board's recent announcement of its plan to assist farm marketing associations in the sale of commodities pledged as security for Government loans.

DAVIS BLOCKS SPLIT ON ARMS AT GENEVA

French-German Clash Over Policy Threatens Open Break at Geneva.

Geneva, April 28 (A.P.).—A head-on collision between French and German delegates that threatened to disrupt the World Disarmament Conference was smoothed over today by the intervention of Norman H. Davis, the American envoy.

Mr. Davis recalled the constructive efforts being made in Washington to put the troubled world in order and pleaded that all show a similar attempt to conciliate at Geneva.

In order not to jeopardize the balance of the arms reduction proposals recently submitted by Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, the United States Ambassador at Large said his Government supported the British plan. The statement was one of the dramatic developments in the day's discussions.

Davis for Broader View.

Declaring that the origin of the difficulties grappled with in Washington is excessive nationalism, Mr. Davis said "we have been too accustomed to approach these problems with a restricted point of view."

The dissension struck the conference when Count Rudolph Nadolny of Germany complained that Germany had been waiting fourteen years for the powers to make good their promises to reduce armaments, and when Rene Massigli of France retorted "it is my duty to invite those bringing the accusation that certain powers, including France, have failed to fulfill their engagements to reread the parable of the mote and the beam."

This was interpreted by the delegates an an illusion to charges in the past that Germany regarded treaties as a scrap of paper.

Delegates Differ Widely.

Count Nadolny denied M. Massigli's assertion that amendments introduced by the Germans to the British arms reductions suggestions proved that Germany intended to rearm. He declared that the whole question was whether other powers intended to disarm.

The dramatic alliance of the United States and Great Britain against any attempts to weaken the British plan was one of the major developments in today's discussions.

BRILLIANT SEND-OFF STAGED FOR HERRIOT

grandson, the scion of Minister and Mrs. William D. Herridge.

The departure of M. Herriot at Union Station was attended with more than the usual Gallic intensity and bustle. In the midst of a crowd of diplomats, military attaches, naval officers, Secret Service men, both French and American, movie operators and radio announcers, the former president of the French council of ministers moved like some genial paterfamilias, with a clap on the back for this one, a shake of the hands for that and a hearty wave of his broad black felt hat as the train was moving out of the station.

Little Entente Represented.

The significant presence of the members of the Little Entente was remarked by several observers. Roumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia in the person of their diplomatic representatives here were grouped around the burly form of the Mayor of Lyons shortly before his departure. Roumanian Minister Davila and Czechoslovakian Minister Veverka were smartly turned out in top hats and morning coats, but Dr. Leonide Pitamic and his counselor of legation, Bojidar Stoinavitch were more soberly dressed. Polish Ambassador Stanislaw Patek was conspicuous by his absence.

The train left promptly at 1 o'clock. James Clement Dunn, chief of the division of international conferences of the Department of State, was present and accompanied the French party to New York. Warren Delano Robbins, chief of the division of protocol, represented the President in taking leave of M. Herriot. French Ambassador Andre Lefebvre de Laboulaye, translated the former premier's speech into English before the microphone, but at one point where the ambassador's English failed him and Counselor Jules Henry was out of sight, he turned despairingly around to get an interpreter and M. Herriot, to his great surprise, furnished the correct translation in English.

The communique of the Roosevelt-Herriot conversation was presented to the president of the council for his approval at an early hour this morning. The final form of the document bore some changes, the most significant of which was the substitution of the word "general" for the word "mutual" where the communique refers to security.

Maintenance of Peace.

The statement declared:

"At no moment has understanding been more necessary between France and the United States for the maintenance of peace, for progressive and simultaneous economic disarmament and the restoration of stable monetary conditions in . . atmosphere of general security."

The debt subject was treated in a special communique which was considerably more succinct but contained no more information than the lengthier one. The purely tentative nature of the understandings between the President and the French statesman were emphasized. The statement said:

Senate May Upset Work.

The debt conversations will be continued through diplomatic channels after the return of the French diplomat to Paris.

The impression which prevailed in French circles before the departure of the Herriot party yesterday was an optimistic one, but tempered with realization that the American Senate may yet undo all the work that has been accomplished in personal exchanges between the two statesmen. Further developments are expected to follow the visit of M. Herriot as soon as he has had an opportunity of forming his legislative battalions in support of the propositions he has brought back with him. A success for Herriot at this time in French parliamentary circles would easily enable him to overcome the present Premier M. Daladier and become president of the council of ministers again. Such a succession would undoubtedly see the realization of the Franco-American program laid down here by the two statesmen.

Mr. Bennett discussed the problems of American tariffs and Canadian fisheries with the President yesterday.

Big Battle of Beers Nears

Buffalo Butts Into Historic Argument Between St. Louis and Milwaukee and Corps of Correspondents Accepts Jury Duty in Test.

A long standing dispute will soon be settled—or something—by a "congressional investigation." Much talk has recently resounded through Capitol corridors. That in itself is nothing unusual, but the topic of conversation has centered around the question of which brands of new legal beer are best.

Heated words have been exchanged. The problem originally was this: Which city produces the best quality beer, Milwaukee, Wis., or St. Louis, Mo.?

Representative John J. Cochran, of St. Louis, is willing to risk his reputation, and even his seat in Congress, upon the decision of an impartial jury. Representative Raymond Cannon, loyal to the product which "made Milwaukee famous," accepted a challenge to enter his champion in a contest.

The next question was to find an impartial jury. But after a notice of the contest was posted in the House press gallery, there was no difficulty whatever in selecting a jury. In fact, the volunteers were so numerous that it was decided to call in the entire corps of Washington correspondents.

Then along came "Jim" Mead, of Buffalo. He said:

"You fellows seem to think that Milwaukee and St. Louis are the only beer-producing towns in the country. I am willing to back the product of the Iroquois Beverage Co., of Buffalo, against both of you."

A communication to the president of the Iroquois company brought the response that he was willing to put up his beer against that of any other brewery anywhere in the United States, Germany, Czechoslovakia or Austria."

So, next Tuesday, a jury of award will be assembled in the auditorium of the National Press Club. And then, providing the exhibits hold out, an attempt will be made to determine for all time which beer is superior.

Should any other breweries get wind of the contest and request entry of their products, it may become necessary to reconvene the court and withhold the final verdict until such other contestants shall have had an opportunity to present their evidence.

The volunteer jurors intimated they would be very glad to hold as many sessions and as often as they were called upon. In addition, Mr. Cochran will serve the celebrated St. Louis corned beef; Mr. Cannon will bring forth some Milwaukee sausage, and Mr. Mead will supply cheese that some day, he says, will make Buffalo famous, too.

2 Escapes of Bandit Gangs Assisted by Machine Guns

Auto Racers Stage Battle With Fleeing Holdup Men in Illinois.

Wilmington, Ill., April 28 (A.P.).—Three fleeing bank robbers with a submachine gun fought off two automobile racers who overtook them after an attempted holdup today.

One of the racers, James Butcher, was shot in a battle on the highway 6 miles from Wilmington. His brother, Harry, with two empty guns, gave up the chase to aid James. The Butchers once competed in the Indianapolis Speedway Decoration Day auto race.

The robbers continued their flight until their car overturned on a gravel road. Then they kidnaped Edward Peterson, of Elwood, Ill., first autoist to appear, and fled with him in his car. Peterson has not yet reported.

Two robbers, pistols in hand, entered the First National Bank of Wilmington at noon while the third waited outside in a car. At sight of the guns, L. A. Bitterman, cashier, and Oscar G. Thompson, bookkeeper, dropped to the floor. Bitterman touched a button which discharged a tear gas gun and set off a bell alarm which roused the town. The men fled without loot.

A few doors away the Butcher brothers heard the alarm and rolled out their racing car for the chase. A 5-mile dash, with their greater speed and practice on the slippery gravel, brought them up behind the bandits' car and an exchange of shots followed.

Suddenly the bandits stopped, after a dangerous skid, and opened up a deliberate fire on the brothers with a submachine gun. James Butcher was wounded in the shoulder and Harry turned away to take his brother to Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet. The wound was not serious.

The bandits sped 6 miles farther toward a cement highway at Wilton Center, but the tricky gravel upset them as they turned north onto the highway. None was hurt, witnesses said, but the car was damaged and they waited until Peterson, a building contractor, drove up.

En route through Wilton Center, several of his friends told of seeing Peterson pass through toward State Route 44, in company with the bandits, but paid no further attention to him. The car disappeared going north.

Bitterman said the bandits were the same men who took $8,000 from the bank two years ago.

3 Are Shot as Minnesota Bank Is Robbed of $2,000 in Cash.

Madison, Minn., April 28 (A.P.).—After robbing the Klein National Bank of $2,000, four bandits shot three persons today, slugged another and scattered onlookers with submachine-gun, rifle, pistol and shotgun fire.

The raiders were fired on by three townspeople and pursued by a posse, but escaped westward apparently into South Dakota, 13 miles away. None of the victims was seriously wounded.

Wounded as they stood on a street corner two blocks from the bank, Z. L. Hayden, hardware merchant, was shot in the chest and leg; Hans Strand, elevator agent, was shot in the hand, and Jens Evenson, another townsman, was wounded in the leg.

Roy O. Stemsrud, assistant cashier of the bank, was struck on the head with a pistol by one of the three gunmen who entered the bank and threatened nine persons, including patrons, because a time lock prevented opening of the vault. The bank was robbed of $8,000 three months ago today.

The shooting began when a workman started to write down the license number of the bandits' car while it was parked at the rear of the bank. The driver stepped out and opened fire with a submachine gun, but none of the bullets took effect.

Carrying the loot, the other three bandits, routed by the sounding of a burglar alarm, jumped through a rear window when they found a door barred. As the car started away, three of the robbers leveled their weapons at a group of workmen, who dodged to safety.

Heading out of town, the raiders were shot at by the postmaster and two other men from a hotel porch balcony. Then the robbers opened fire upon the unarmed spectators.

Weil Is Sentenced In Rosenwald Case

Gets 7½ to 15 Years for Attempted Extortion; Bank Loss Blamed.

Philadelphia, April 28 (A.P.).—Charles R. Weil, 29, today pleaded guilty to attempted extortion of $100,000 from Lessing J. Rosenwald, chairman of the board of Sears, Roebuck & Co., and was sentenced to 7½ to 15 years in the Eastern Penitentiary.

Rosenwald testified to receiving three letters and a telegram from a supposed gang of extortionists who threatened him. Two patrolmen also told of arresting Weil in a store while he talked with Rosenwald by telephone.

Weil told the court he acted entirely alone. He said he was desperately in need of money, having lost his position after a bank failure tied up his savings.

Civilians and Army Men Stage Horse Test Today

A contest to decide which is the best way of riding a horse over a jump will be held today at Fort Myer Garden, just north of the west approach to the Memorial Bridge, when civilian riders boasting that their method is the better will compete with the best of the Army riders from Fort Myer, just as confident.

The show, held to decide once and for all the much-argued point, is for the benefit of the Army Relief. There will be thirteen classes in all in the competition. The jumps used are those found in natural hunting country. Two sessions of the show will be held, one at 10 a. m. and another at 2 p. m. Officials in charge have announced that post entries will be accepted.

D. C. BANKS' OPENING IS STILL UNSETTLED

Some Action Expected Next Week but Officials Refuse to Talk.

Although continuous negotiations for the opening of the closed banks in the District are being carried on, both F. G. Awalt, acting comptroller of the currency, and officials of the institutions involved denied yesterday that any definite plans have been adopted, or any opening dates fixed.

Reports continue to circulate as to proposed consolidations, but no official confirmation has been forthcoming, both the comptroller and the bank officials refusing to vouchsafe any information concerning such maneuvers.

It is generally believed, however, that plans for opening the banks, or releasing the tied-up deposits in some manner are virtually agreed upon, and definite announcements may be expected some time next week.

It also is believed that a number of banks will lose their individual identities and become branches of merged banks, but the names of those institutions likewise have not been designated by official announcement.

F STREET WIDENING ASKED OF D. C. HEADS

Merchants and Manufacturers Urge Repairs Between Seventh and Ninth.

The straightening and widening of F street between Seventh and Ninth streets northwest, so as to permit two-way traffic, was requested of the District Commissioners yesterday by the board of governors of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association.

The street, it was pointed out, will soon be repaved and improved from Ninth to Fourteenth street. The association, in a petition to the Commissioners, urged that their suggestion be carried out while this work is in progress.

With cancellation of the annual boat trip outing down the Potomac River, Dr. Malcolm Gibbs, chairman of the booster committee, was directed to arrange a week-end trip to Atlantic City, N. J. The outing will be held the latter part of June.

The Commissioners also were urged to take immediate action to provide necessary funds for District relief work. This should be done, the board declared, either through congressional legislation or borrowing from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

SENATE VOTES INFLATION.

Inflation took the Senate by storm yesterday. A measure incorporating all the unsound monetary schemes that have been devised in the last 100 years was approved and sent to the House of Representatives. The so-called deliberative body of the American Congress spurned the advice of its most able members of both parties; it ignored the warnings of history, and embraced the theories of visionaries who think they can save the country by falsifying its money.

The Democratic majority in the Senate was apparently unmoved by the pleas of Senator Glass for sound money. His excoriation of the bill as a departure from the Democratic platform and from the campaign promises of President Roosevelt failed to turn Democratic votes against it. Senator Glass is the most capable expert on governmental finance and money representing the Democratic party in Congress. No doubt he has gone through days and nights of agony in making a decision to fight the program of the President he helped to elect. But he could not stultify himself. He was bound to fight for what experience has taught him to be the best interests of the American people.

A dogged fight was made by Senator Reed to remove the most pernicious feature of the bill—that giving the President power to drain out the gold content of the dollar by as much as 50 per cent. But when the Senate voted on his amendment Mr. Reed was badly beaten. The majority chose to defy the Constitution, which vests in Congress the sole right to coin money and regulate its value.

The proposal to allow payment of the veterans' bonus in fiat money was defeated in the Senate, but it may yet be forced into the bill by the House. That body is apparently more radical on the inflation issue than is the Senate.

The first effect of the Senate's action will be to shake confidence. Indications from many sources show that business has been making small gains in the last month. Commodity prices were on the upward trend. But no one now knows what the value of the dollar will be next week or next month, to say nothing about next year. How can business go forward on a normal scale? It is true, of course, that the falsification of money sends the stock and commodity markets up. Speculators scramble to avoid losses, while the great mass of the population can only stand idly by and see their savings, their wages, their life insurance, their pensions and all other income shrink in purchasing power. Apparently the Senate has mistaken the scramble of speculators for prosperity. But these gamblers buy and sell only what is already in marketable form. No business concern will dare to make contracts for the production of new goods, because it will have no means of knowing what the dollar will be worth next month.

The last citadel of confidence has been blasted. The people lost confidence in business ventures, but they clung to the dollar. Now the dollar is to be adulterated. Instead of building up from a solid foundation of confidence, the Senate has chosen to demoralize all values in its blind effort to stabilize prices.

It is worthy of note that the Senate passed this amendment without knowing what will be the fate of Government bonds. No one knows whether the administration proposes to break the Government's promise to pay bonds in gold of the old standard. If an effort should be made to substitute debased currency for gold in making these payments, the credit of the Government will suffer a terrific shock. In view of his campaign pledges, it is unthinkable that President Roosevelt has that course in mind. Yet, if the gold clause is to remain in force, many billions of dollars must be added to the burdens of taxpayers.

History may record this action of the Senate as the monetary crime of 1933. The Nation will be fortunate indeed if it does not pay for this folly by years of distress.

RAILROAD COORDINATION.

President Roosevelt's railway relief program offers hope for immediate improvements in the national transportation system. The carriers would be relieved from operation of the antitrust laws and allowed to coordinate their services with a view to reducing expenses and offering better service to the public. These improvements would be put into effect at once, however, without awaiting the completion of mergers which are undoubtedly contemplated.

A Federal Coordinator of Transportation would be appointed by the President, presumably from the Interstate Commerce Commission. He would be directed to divide the railroads of the entire country into three groups, one including the eastern carriers; another, the southern carriers, and a third, the western carriers. This bill does not make the mistake of creating a single czar over the railroads. Within each group a coordinating committee would be set up, consisting of railroad men selected by the carriers, votes being cast in accordance with the mileage of each road. These regional committees would be assigned the task of carrying the reform program into effect.

It is the purpose of this legislation to eliminate unnecessary duplication of service and facilities and permit joint use of terminals; to control accessorial services, including buses, airlines and trucks; to avoid waste and unnecessary expenses; to promote financial reorganization of the railroads so as to reduce their fixed charges, and to provide for investigation of other railroad problems. The coordinating committees would attempt to put these policies into effect with the consent of the railroads. If voluntary action should fail, the committees could ask for orders from the coordinator. If such orders should be issued the individual roads would have to comply with them under penalty of heavy fines. However, such orders might be set aside by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

President Roosevelt's bill is an obvious attempt to force the railroads to get together and work out their own problems. So far as they are able to do so, they need expect little interference from the Government. But this measure would provide sufficient reserve force to compel action. The old idea of competition between railway lines has been completely eliminated. The new objective is coordination of transportation agencies with due regard for the public welfare and safeguards against monopolistic abuses. If this program succeeds, it will pave the way for consolidation of the railroads on a grand scale, which is much to be desired. In the meantime the carriers and the public would have the practical advantages of consolidation.

NEW VETERAN MOVEMENT.

The reappearance in Congress of the demand for the immediate cash payment of the bonus serves to call attention to the rapid growth of the American Veterans Association, which is spreading over the United States. This new and essentially democratic organization of men of all grades and terms of military service, is not formed to secure favors, but, on the contrary, to oppose special benefits to veterans who suffered no disabilities as a result of war service.

The "declaration of principles" of this new organization, drafted in Constitution Hall, as the one patriotic body accorded use of the hall for the year, denounces "all selfish combinations which seek to direct, coerce or awe the deliberations of our legislators" and embraces the doctrine that "service to the Nation in time of conflict is the duty of every able-bodied citizen, to be freely given from patriotic and unselfish motives and not for private gain."

This association was formed last September in Chattanooga, Tenn., and from the beginning the high ideals of the "declaration" have been maintained. The new organization grew rapidly, and additional groups organized from one end of the country to the other. New York and several other States already have the ten chapters required to form a State organization. Nearly all of the work has been done by veterans working without pay. The organization is united in the double purpose of discouraging the payment of public money to veterans who are not entitled to it and in preserving respect for the high ideals upon which service for the flag should be based.

THE DISTRICT BUDGET.

Some improvements have been made in the District budget by the Senate appropriations committee. The measure is still unequal to the District's needs, but some of the most glaring inconsistencies of the House bill have been eliminated. It is a more friendly and reasonable bill than that passed by the House, even though the amount of its specific appropriations is less.

The Budget Bureau recommended that the Federal contribution toward maintenance of the National Capital should be reduced by the same proportion that the District budget was reduced, in spite of the fact that last year's contribution was a niggardly compromise made in disregard of law. The House accepted this proposal and then tried to cheat the District in applying it. The Senate committee did not reject the unjust formula, but it did apply it fairly, thus bringing the Federal contribution up to $5,200,000. The House allowed only $5,700,000.

Expenditures that may be made from the water and gasoline tax funds were increased from $1,675,000 in the House bill to $2,135,000 in the Senate measure. A portion of the gasoline tax fund would be used to begin construction of the Calvert Street bridge after a restudy of that project has been made and the plans approved by the Fine Arts Commission. An unexpended fund of $876,000 formerly appropriated for the Municipal Center would become available for school construction under the Senate bill, thus relieving to some extent the danger that portable schools will come back into general use in the National Capital.

Elimination of $1,000,000 which the House directed the District to repay the Government for funds advanced to purchase park lands is entirely justifiable. If this item had remained in the bill the District would have been paying back this fund almost as rapidly as it has been advanced. Washington taxpayers ought not to be required to pay another cent under the Capper-Cramton act. As a municipality Washington already has more parks than it can afford to maintain. Since Congress has cut down the Federal contribution toward maintenance of the District, let the Government pay for any park development that Congress thinks advisable for the Federal City.

On the whole the Senate bill is much more satisfactory than the House measure. But it can be justified only on the theory that a great emergency confronts Washington taxpayers. Many necessary improvements are not included, and the municipal service is impaired in several departments. If these hardships are to be imposed upon Washington people they can be offset only by tax reduction to the full extent of the economies effected. This is no time to pile up surplus capital. If this budget should be finally approved, drastic tax reduction should follow as a matter of course.

FEDERAL AID TO SHIPPING.

Government aids to shipping should be looked upon as an insurance premium paid to protect the vast investment which the American people have made in their merchant marine, according to Admiral Cone, Chairman of the United States Shipping Board.

Admiral Cone states that the fair nominal worth of the American fleet engaged in foreign trade is about $628,000,000, and that the value of private American shipyard plants adds another $100,000,000 to the capital investment. He cites the tremendous sums that Federal, state, and municipal authorities have spent for harbor, channel, and ship terminal improvements, in order that the country's foreign trade, passing between 150 ports in the United States and about 600 ports abroad, might move with efficiency and despatch.

Opposition to Federal aid to shipping originates chiefly in those foreign maritime countries which before the war practically monopolized the carriage of American overseas traffic. Admiral Cone reminds those who seek to do away with construction loans and ocean mail contracts that they overlook the preponderant items on the credit page of the ledger. Aside from the value of the fleet as an auxiliary of the Navy, there is a direct financial benefit, amounting in normal years to $300,000,000, which accrues to the country in the form of freight and passenger revenues derived from overseas shipping services. The employment of thousands of American citizens, afloat and ashore, and the purchase in this country of vast quantities of marine equipment and stores, are other tangible items that should not be overlooked in computing the value of American shipping to the people of the United States.

Admiral Cone is doing his duty when he takes a strong stand against any destructive change in the national policy with respect to merchant shipping.

THE SHORTER WEEK

From the Kansas City Times.

Have all the unsafe or unworkable features of the 30-hour week bill been explored? It seems doubtful. Hence the necessity of proceeding with the utmost caution in legislation of such extreme and untried character. The bill is aimed at the stimulation of business by aiding employment, the theory being that it would create more work, more wages and, therefore, more money to spend.

But granting its constitutionality, which is highly questionable, could the measure be made to produce the desired results? Note how it would work. The given industries to which it would apply, most of the industries engaged in interstate business, would be called upon either to employ more workers without any reduction of wages or to reduce the wages of those already employed in order to accommodate more workers. In the latter case, of course, there would be no gain in the total volume of wages or employment, but merely a spreading out of both—taking something from one worker to give it to another.

In the former case, many if not a majority of the industries affected would be unable to pay the higher wages or to accommodate the larger number of workers without any reduction of wages. What would be the alternatives? These concerns would have to go out of business or pass on to the consumer the burden of higher production costs. The latter would be difficult or impossible because of competition from concerns doing strictly an intrastate business, to which the bill does not apply. If the States were so inclined, it would require considerable time to enact similar legislation and there would be, in all probability, a most disturbing lack of uniformity in the State action. In the meantime, much damage would have been done, with the worker himself the chief sufferer.

There is still another alternative. It would be probably increased use of labor-saving devices to reduce costs that otherwise could not be borne. If that were the outcome, the worker again would suffer through the limitation on employment. Added to all that are the doubtful expedients of the minimum wage and controlled production in certain instances, provisions incorporated in the bill now in the hands of a House committee.

Obviously, the safer way out for the worker and all others concerned lies in a general upturn of business and employment which it is hoped may be brought about. As the general improvement comes, hours, wages and all the rest may be properly adjusted.

Senator Glass shattered the idea that objection to inflation is just Republican opposition.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

TO JENNIE SPEAKING PIECES.

I think perhaps we may return
To all the humbler ways
And all the sweet contentment learn
Of the good old-fashioned days.
The friendly hearth no joy will lack
Until the last blaze ceases,
But I'm not eager to go back
To Jennie speaking pieces.

I'm for the meal that mother cooks,
The home place and its charm,
An evening with my favorite books,
My dog's head on my arm.
I'm for the family gatherings, too,
My nephews and my nieces,
But I won't hark an evening through
To Jennie speaking pieces.

Perhaps those happy days gone by
With honest laughter rang,
And I'd be quite content to try
Once more the songs we sang.
Simplicity of life I make
The subject of my thesis,
But not one backward step I'd take
To Jennie speaking pieces.

That made us sit with folded hands
In that dear long ago,
Obeying mother's stern commands
Attention to bestow.
And thinking of my torture then,
In me the thought increases,
I hope we won't go back again
To Jennie speaking pieces.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY Dear Louise: When I was a small boy I read numerous tales concerning dragons—great, lizard-like beasts as big as a house—that carried off fair maidens or were slain by ancient heroes.

Adults who wished to shield me from error explained that no such animals ever had existed. They were wholly imaginary creatures, invented by story tellers. Legend in all lands told of their existence ages ago, but scientists knew better.

I also heard the old folks tell about certain unfortunates who had been buried alive. There could be no question about it, for the bodies had been exhumed some months or yars after burial and the hair had grown.

Scientists hooted at that, too. They didn't believe in old wives' tales.

But now all the world knows that "dragons" big enough to make one bite of a man really did exist ages ago, and the folklore and legend passed on from one generation to another before the beginning of written records was faithful and accurate history.

All the world knows, also, that death is a chemical change that affects the body a little at a time and hair last of all. It is now the scientist rather than the "superstitious yokel" who tells about the beard that grows after burial.

What has all this to do with you?.

Well, I am reminding you that ancient peoples had brains and learned much from experience. They had no books, but they preserved the wisdom of the race by teaching it to each new generation.

Don't scoff at any ancient "superstition" or legend. As scientists learn more and more, they discover that every ancient belief had its foundation in fact. The old-timers read nothing but observed more. They learned no ologies, but they put two and two together and made wisdom.

Part of that wisdom was the understanding that pure womanhood is necessary for the good of the race, that marriage should be a life-time contract, and that men worth while, whatever their own sins, will demand as mates the spotless virgins who have loved no other.

A lot of smart people thought they knew better in boom-and-whoopee days. They thought they could make rottenness decent by calling it "sex freedom."

But hard times have opened their eyes. When money is scarce, sex freedom seems less important than honor, faithfulness, security and a home. Your safest plan, my dear, is to abide by the old, old standards. Love,

DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

When Depressions Come to an End.
Topeka Capital.

The question when the depression will end is given a new turn by the sudden shift from deflation to inflation to end it. Throughout its course the country has been deflating its way, as in all previous experiences of the kind, certainly a costly and slow process, but such inflationary expedients as were adopted were without effect. The huge borrowings from the R. F. C. did not halt the depression. A year ago when for five months the reserve banks purchased Government securities, up to 1,100 millions in all, which was thought to be a certain formula, so far as increased monetary circulation is concerned, and thereby would lift prices, prices continued to fall, and a month after these purchases came to an end the lowest point was reached, in midsummer of 1932. Deflation went on and has continued.

From experience with breakdowns of the past there is some light to be drawn on the question how and when depressions finally wear themselves out. What causes reemployment? The best answer to that question seems to be that reemployment starts after deflation has equalized conditions, particularly between prices of basic commodities and finished goods. When a balance is reached then stabilization occurs.

Nobody need be surprised at the way President Roosevelt threw out the first ball to open the season at Washington. We've known ever since March 4 that he had plenty of speed.

Perhaps Tydings Will Agree?
Kansas City Times.

Our sympathy to Senator Tydings, of Maryland. After pointing out that high duties in the Hawley-Smoot tariff act caused his State to lose its market for apples in France, he was reminded that he was responsible for one of the provisions of that act putting a duty on imported straw hats.

Apparently the senator was attempting to drive two horses in different directions.

Being human ourselves, we sympathize with the human weakness of the distinguished senator from Maryland in yielding to local pressure for the straw-hat duty. But doesn't the incident suggest that if such a stalwart statesman as Millard Tydings can't stand against local pressure for duties, it might be well for Congress to give large authority over such duties to the President, who represents, far more than individual congressmen, the national rather than the sectional viewpoint?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Writer Suggests That Women in Men's Jobs Account for Dislocation of American Economic System.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a recent letter talking about "money," I disclaimed being an expert, and in regard to the economic sickness of the United States it must be confessed that I am also very much puzzle-witted. That is to say, that I find the technique of rehabilitation difficult. But viewing it superficially, I have an idea that Prof. Moley and the rest of the professional experts perhaps might make an easier job of it if they would give serious thought to what I consider the main cause of all our woes.

Referring strictly to United States conditions, it is my opinion that it was the feminist movement, strengthened a hundred-fold when women were allowed to vote, which plunged us into a slump which has the appearance of being more miry and slippery than any for which mere man was ever responsible.

To state it plainly, what was called "woman's rights" has within a generation increased by at least one-third the number of candidates for the small jobs of industry and commerce, and it looks as if within a few more years women may share equally with men if they do not monopolize the high-class business and professional jobs.

To realize this, it is only necessary to notice, without going into other details, how girls have taken the place of boys and young men in work which not a great many years ago started the latter on their manhood careers.

The boys who used to sweep out the office and make themselves generally useful and graduate from that into more or less responsible positions in the business word, according to their fitness, are now conspicuous by their decreasing numbers. Their places have been taken by office-girl typist-stenogs. The boys, whether suited for the work or not, are forced to seek jobs as chauffeurs and drivers of drays and delivery trucks and the like, and the supply of ordinary manual-labor jobs, under the changed conditions, is far short of meeting the demand. The painfulness of the situation is shown in the fact that the new-deal statesmanship has to send our surplus of idle boys and young men into the woods to chop down and plant trees and dig ditches, at $1 a day in order to relieve their distress and keep them out of mischief. Understand, I do not want this to be considered as a hard-boiled kick. In Government as well as in private life, getting something for nothing is impossible. The worry of changing from one thing to another is what we have to pay for progress, and I have little doubt that when everything is well adjusted the people will be as happy and as prosperous in the strictly feminized United States of the future as they ever were in the past, if not more so.

But the sudden addition of millions of women workers to the ranks of the gainfully employed was bound to cause a serious dislocation of the economic system. That alone is entirely sufficient to account for this country's economic depression, and what I am troubled about is that in tackling the problem of rehabilitation our experts do their figuring without giving enough attention to this all-important factor.

JACOB RADKE.

Not a Friend Left—Costs Money to Butt Into Other People's Business.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: President Wilson made a huge mistake—loaning our money to so many nations. We haven't a friend left that will speak a good word for us. Hereafter, let's refuse a few to help us get our money back from the rest. The parley at Rome last week voted solidly in favor of Uncle Sam taking the $11,000,000,000 war-debt residue on his own shoulders. That, mind you, in addition to the $30,000,000,000 we have already shouldered—all for butting into a scrap that wasn't our own. And that is another point to consider, "Keep your nose out of other people's business." Unless you wish to seize territory it doesn't pay. Wilson was so meek he did not even ask for the West Indies and the Pacific islands as security for loans.

As long as our diplomats have no wit for profit-taking we should keep our nose out of every foreign scrimmage—and that goes for China just now. What's it to us if Japan takes all of Asia, except what Russia wants? She'll have to stop there—or fight the Russian Bear.

Proceeds of Gasoline Tax Misdirected While Necessary Highway Work Is Neglected.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The building of a highway bridge at L street and Rock Creek should not be allowed to remain without the construction of its approaches. A million dollars in gasoline taxes levied for the purpose of highway construction in the District of Columbia should be used for the construction of the Rock Creek parkway instead of being deliberately diverted to uses for which it was not levied. This idea of misappropriating funds is becoming too general for the benefit of the country. Funds should be used for the purpose for which they are levied. The automobile user pays his gasoline taxes for highway construction and maintenance, and also bridges, and it is an injustice to deny him what he has paid for. I hope to see at an early date the completion of the Rock Creek driveway, which will relieve traffic congestion on such important streets as Sixteenth street and Connecticut avenue.

Mrs. Herbert Parsons, in whose honor the club was organized, and Mrs. Lowden, wife of former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, responded. Mrs. Frank Garrett, also among the founders, read the messages from absent members. Representative Florence P. Kahn, one of the founders, then the wife of a representative, paid tribute to the founders. Later in the afternoon a musical rogram was given by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Matteson, of Columbia, S. C., and Mrs. R. L. Dodson, of Ridgeway, S. C., who are the house guests of Representative and Mrs. Allard Gasque. After the music, tea was served. Mrs. Joseph A. Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

THE more I see of bargains, the more I realize that a bargain is a bargain, and nothing more. One day lately I found myself just fresh out of bags, and thinking of all the intriguing and enticing, compelling and fascinating, &c., advertisements I have been reading these many months, I hied me forth to go bagging. I confess that I stopped without much expectation at the $1.95 counter. And there I saw what was left of the several million $1.95 handbags—and so seeing, I likewise saw that they were $1.95 handbags, no more, no less. Well, to make a long story much less painful, I finally paid a little less—a very little less—for the kind of bag I've always carried—and there was just carfare left out of a $20 bill. And went home sadder, but no wiser, because I knew all along that it would be that way.

And then bags are so important! A cheap bag can simply spoil any kind of an ensemble—making a cheap outfit look worse and a nice one look terrible. And as to wearability—better-made bags wear like better-made bags—and last and last, and keep their shape while lasting.

Maybe I'm prejudiced—maybe I'm just "elegant." Say what you will, I insist that a lovely lady can not afford to own or use anything cheap—bag or anything else. That is no economy—and a positive expense to one's taste.

The newest bags fit the different hours of the day better than they used to—now you can have a shopping bag that is a shopping bag, roomy and useful, and smart in outline. These morning bags, suitable for any morning occasion—walking or shopping—and excellent for the business girl, are in soft but sturdy leathers. The favorite top or trimming or handle is silver, and rather heavy. Then the afternoon bag is less heavy, smaller and, of course, more dressy. It can be leather, too, but must be a fine leather and a fancier shape. Very dressy afternoon bags are suited to the type of garment known as the Sunday night frock. Meaning that these bags, like the gowns they accompany, are designed to be worn for dressy afternoon affairs and informal evening affairs.

And summer sports bags are all sorts of cotton fabrics, from the seemingly most unappropriate to the very practical ones. The one thing that makes them chic is their excellent workmanship—any old cotton made up any old way won't do!

* * * *

And since the bag that takes most all of a $20 bill is often beyond our wardrobe allowance, and since you can not bear a cheap bag, what can a poor girl do? Well, she can do what we do—and that is send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the new illustrated leaflet which we just finished making for you—that tells you all about how to make $20 bags yourself! With a couple of dollars invested, of course, in each one—not $20.

Au revoir!

What Today Means

"TAURUS."

IF April 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 5:50 a. m. to 7:25 a. m., from 9:35 a. m. to 10:40 a. m., and from 5 p. m. to 6:35 p. m. The danger periods are from 1 p. m. tto 2 p. m and from 9:40 p. m. tto 10:55 p. m.

If you wish to make your point on this April 29 you will have to do it by persuasion and not by argument. It will be difficult to lead people on this day; they will have to be gently urged and pushed. Children should be kept closely under the surveillance of their elders, for they are likely to be up to much devitry on this day.

The child born on this April 29 will seem to be constantly in scrapes and troubles of one sort or another. An active little one, quick to anger and equally quick to forget and forgive. Athletically inclined but fond also of mental diversions. Both the boys and girls will make themselves useful around the home.

If April 29 is your birthday, you are undoubtedly a very responsible person. As a confidential adviser or assistant, you would do well. You are at times inclined to be a little headstrong, but if reasoned with, you can be made to see the right course to follow. You have a tendency to be impulsive and quite often you speak hastily and "out of turn." Both sexes are popular with their friends and invariably when the emergency arises they can prove themselves to be the "friend in need." The women are inclined to be capricious and it is difficult to know just what to expect from them next. They take great joy in purely social activities and seldom do they miss a bridge tea or dance to which they are asked. They are inclined to overdress and to wear too much jewelry.

Born on April 29, you are not the one to "kick" or omplain about your lot in life. You do your best, and after that you take things as they come, and without grumbling make the best of them. You get a great deal of pleasure out of other people's children, but you are not one who would like to have a large family of your own. The men will spend a great deal of time at home and will enjoy many quiet hours therein.

Successful people born in April 29:
Matthew Vassar, philanthropist.
Jacob W. Bainey, naturalist.
Adolph H. J. Sutro, mining engineer.
Charles R. Otis, elevator inventor.
William L. Elkins, astronomer.
Lorado Taft, sculptor.

Guiding Your Child

By MRS. AGNES LYNE

SOMETIMES it is much more convenient in the rush of many duties to serve the child his dinner or the family breakfast even in the kitchen.

Kitchen meals, however, need not be slovenly and give the children the idea that standards are not important when "just the family" are together, or that when he eats by himself he can be as unmanneriy as he pleases.

A good housekeeper does not allow her kitchen to become chaotic in the course of the preparation of a meal. Containers are put back, refuse disposed of, and used utensils stacked in the sink so that the general impression is the by no means unpleasant one of working order.

The table at which the meal is served should be carefully and attractively set. There should be napkins as for other meals. Plates may be served direct from the stove so that cooking pots and frying pans need not be brought to the table.

There should be the same thoughtfulness in passing, the same clearing between courses and waiting for others to finish that there is at other times.

The children should feel that eating in the kitchen offers no exception to the rule that one must come to table washed and combed and presentably neat.

It may seem that in insisting upon such decorum one is laying too much stress upon unimportant details.

But children are not by nature neat and well mannered. If they are to learn to be these things thoroughly and for good, they must experience a consistent training in them during their formative years.

They must not see their parents relax their standards if they are to develop dependable ones of their own.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

BITING NAILS.

M. T. C. write: Could you tell me how to stop a certain persons from biting his finger nails?

REPLY.

Send a stamped and addressed envelope and we will send you a recipe for a bitter nail varnish. Its purpose is to make nail biting unpleasant. In that way it contributes to self training. In the end it is training that cures.

PROBABLY NEURITUS.

A. S. writes: My father has been troubled with a pain in his left arm about three weeks. It begins low in t shoulder and in the side of the neck, and continues clear down his arm. His thumb goes to sleep very often, the muscles between his shoulder and elbow seem to be the sorest. Can you tell me if this is rheumatism?

REPLY.

1. This seems to be a case of neuritis. It may be due to pressure in the neck, shoulder or upper arm, or to infection—one or both.

2. Your description does not point toward any heart trouble.

EAR NOISES.

Mrs. J. H. B. writes: 1. I have been having a time with a noise, similar to a train pulling out, in my left ear.

2. Is this one sign of cancer?

REPLY.

1. A great many people of middle age and beyond have ear noises. The rule is that treatment gives no relief. There are some exceptions. Our advice, given several times daily to an endless procession of inquirers, is to train themselves to disregard the noise. This every person does with more than 90 per cent of the noises he hears.

2. It is not.

Today's Recipe

Graham Cracker Pie.

2 cups rolled graham crackers
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup butter, melted

Lightly mix ingredients. Reserve ½ cup of crumbs. Press remaining crumb mixture into pie pan. Bake 10 minutes in moderate oven. Add filling.

Filling.

4 egg yolks
4 tablespoons flour
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 teaspoons vanilla

Beat yolks and add flour, sugar and salt. Add milk. Cook in double boiler until filling is thick and creamy. Stir frequently. Add vanilla and pour into pie shell. Cover with meringue.

The Meanderer

Lists Bowls and Rolls, Pans and Pottery, and a Bargain Purse for the Economical Shopper.

Telephone questions on The Meanderer's column to The Washington Post, National 4205, Extention 19; or address The Meanderer, The Washington Post, inclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

The Sunday night frock won't be spattered with whipping cream if the hostess who prepares the impromptu supper herself uses a new deep mixing bowl the Meanderer has found in a department store on G street. The new deep bowls come in a set of three, for $1, in the jade green durable ware which has been "fired" thoroughly to resist breakage. This new ware is made in open stock for kitchens. The green pitchers in "jadeite," as it is known, are particularly attractive—for beer, for instance—in a large size costing less than a dollar and a smaller pitcher—for milk, we'll say—will cost the shopper just 25 cents. Salt and pepper shakers, ice-box sets, orange reamers and the flour, sugar and coffee sets, attractively labeled, are available in the green ware.

Honey pecan rolls Meaderings readers have learned to buy from a bake shop on Fourteenth street or its companion shop on F street are 29 cents a dozen today. The same shops, which are opposite two of Washington's largest department stores, show a new date and nut layer cake, with nuts and dates in both cake and icing, today for 29 cents; and cocoanut macaroons also are in the shops' bargain list—selling for 23 cents a pound, rather than their usual price of 40 cents a pound. And the latest news from these popular shops is that they are to sell whole cooked picnic hams next week at 89 cents each, for which they have begun to take orders. That means it is possible to buy beer, pretzels or rolls and cooked ham over the same counter for an easily assembled beer supper. The hams are cooked whole, with spices, with a flavor superior to much of the cooked ham on the market, and are cellophane wrapped, all ready for picnic use.

Canadian style bacon, meaning the loin of pork boned, rolled and smoked, has come in a new large shipment to a favorite meat stand in a market on K street. Half or whole stripe of the Canadian bacon sell for 35 cents a pound, smaller quantities for 40 cents.

Olive oil of the true imported Italian sort so surely a part of the well-stocked cuisine, should be purchased in generous quantities without much delay, the Meanderer advises. She has learned from a dependable source—in an importer's shop on Ninth street—that the American dollar very soon will fail to buy the quantity of oil in Italy that it has bought in the last several years. Importers expect a decided increase in cost, probably in less than 30 days. The shop on Ninth street has its full stock at present prices—45 cents a pint, 80 cents a quart, and $2.25 a gallon.

Asparagus must be cooked standing up, all cooks know, but keeping the asparagus upright in the way it should go is not easy. Help toward the right cooking of this vegetable comes in a new long, perforated aluminum utensil to fit into a double boiler. The diameter of the asparagus cooker is narrow, so that the bunch of asparagus has no choice but keep erect. This helpful new pan sells for 39 cents in the housewares section of a big G street department store.

A tricky, patented, automatic pancake turner, which can't miss its cue and wreck the pancake is selling to dozens of housewives in the same houseware department just mentioned, for only 19 cents.

Giardiniera is the label on mixed pickles selling in an Italian importer's stand in a market on K street. This "giardiniera" mixture includes cauliflower, onions and carrots as well as cucumbers and red and green peppers.

The thinnest, crispest wafers the Meanderer has found for a long time are rice cakes in a Chinese shop on H street. They are packed in boxes of 100 cakes for $1.25.

Handbags more than worth their price may come first or last on the shopping list, possibly to hold the savings resulting from watching the Meanderings. Such bags are selling today for $1.95 in an F street shop just off Fourteenth street. Five hundred bags, valued from $2.95 to $5.95, and including many colors and materials—patent, calf skin and fabric, in gray, red, blue, green, black and the wanted white sorts for summer. The shop will clamp on jig-saw initials free of charge according to the shopper's order.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

OLD-TIME BREAD PUDDING GLORIFIED IN MANY WAYS

By ANN BARRETT

A GOOD bread pudding is fit for a queen. In fact, when you spread a custardy bread pudding with raspberry jam, then top it with a deep meringue—it's called Queen Pudding. It's a high favorite in the home of one-time Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur.

And it's just one of many ways to glorify bread pudding from the following standard recipe: First add 1½ cups dry bread crumbs to 3 cups scalded milk, and let this cool. Then combine 2 eggs (slightly beaten with fork), 1-3 cup sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, ¾ teaspoon vanilla. Add to first mixture, with 3 tablespoons melted butter. Mix, pour into greased baking dish, and bake (slowly, please) at not more than 350 degrees F., for about 1 hour.

This recipe gives a pudding texture. If you like a more custardy texture, butter 4 slices of bread (4 inches square and ½ inch thick). Break them into small pieces and pour over them the same custard mixture given above.

Glorified Bread Puddings.

For a fruited bread pudding, add ¾ cup raisins or 1 cup stewed or canned fruit to above recipe. For butterscotch pudding, use brown sugar—first cooked gently with butter, then added to scalded milk. For caramel pudding, use ½ cup granulated sugar—first melted down rich and brown (but not burned) in a heavy pan, then dissolved in scalded milk. This is slick topped with marshmallows 5 minutes before taking it from oven.

For chocolate bread pudding, melt 1½ squares (ounces) grated chocolate in ½ cup of the hot milk, and beat smooth. Cocoa is still easier to use—just mix ½ cup of it with the sugar. For coconut bread pudding, just add ½ cup shredded coconut to the hot milk.

Cabinet Pudding.

Then some day when you want to let yourself go completely, try this cabinet pudding with pineapple sauce. The mere mention of it makes my mouth water!

First take 6 slices white bread (4 inches square, 1-3 inch thick, and with crust cut off). Then pour over these 2 egg yolks mixed with 1 tablespoon powdered sugar and ½ cup thin cream. Let stand 10 minutes. Next, peel and chop 15 pistachio nuts, and mix these with 3 slices fresh pineapple (chopped), or 1 cup canned, crushed pineapple (drained). Put this mixture and soaked bread into greased baking dish in layers, with bread on top and bottom. Then pour the following mixture over them: 2 cups milk, 2 eggs slightly beaten, 4 tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon almond or pistachio extract. Next set the pudding dish in shallow pan containing hot water up to half the height of the dish. Bake in a slow oven (not more than 350 F.) for 1 hour. Serve with a sauce made by boiling up ¾ cup pineapple juice with ¼ cup sugar and ¼ cup candied lemon peel. Remove peel before serving. Serve this pudding warm or cold.

Send for More Recipes.

One of these days while you've got a bread pudding in the oven, you might like to have a leg of lamb roasting at the same time. Directions for roasting lamb, for making new, delicious sauces to serve with it, and recipes for other good lamb dishes make our new bulletin on lamb very timely now that spring lamb is in season. AVOIDING A "SIGN-OFF."

IT is usually a policy of sound bidding that rebiddable suits should be shown. However, the showing of these suits, particularly in the case of the Responding Hand, often is disturbed by the fact that these bids may be read as "Sign-offs"—in other words, that partner may decide that the best policy is to leave the bidding alone. In cases such as these, it is necessary to disregard the fact that a suit is stronger than the previous bidding has indicated and boldly strike out with an aggressive, though slightly dangerous bid.

Such a situation confronted Mr. Lester Bachner in a semifinal match for the team-of-four championship played recently at the Roosevelt Hotel, New York City. Mr. Bachner was a member of the New York Bridge Whist Club team, which lost in the semifinals to the Crockford's Club aggregation by a score of only 60 points. Mr. Bachner sat South on the following hand:

North, Dealer.

The bidding: (Figure after bid in table refers to numbered explanatory paragraph.)

North	East	South	West
1♠	Pass	2◇	Pass
2♡	Pass	2NT(1)	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Mr. Bachner knew that a bid of three diamonds would undoubtedly be construed as a "Sign-off" by his partner. His hand, in view of his partner's Opening bid, was certainly one which promised game—though not necessarily in diamonds. The Queen of hearts afforded him a slight fit in one of his partner's suits, while the Ace of clubs promised that the opponents' suit could be stopped at least once. The two notrump bid was the only solution of his problem.

As the play developed, Mr. Bachner could not fail to get an opportunity for a series of end-plays. The Opening heart-lead placed East in the lead with his singleton King. Unable to return this suit, the Knave of spades was finally returned. When this trick was won with the Ace, the Opening leader was forced to lead another heart, which was won by Declarer with the Queen. Another spade lead disclosed the fact that West was void of that suit, and the finesse of the diamond Queen was taken. When this held, Declarer had no more problems, as the lead of the diamond Ace, followed by another diamond, forced a lead from West, which was bound to produce the ninth trick. Leading the good diamond would merely set up the suit in Declarer's hand, while the lead of the club would obviate any guess as to the location of the Queen. Actually the club was led, and Mr. Bachner spread his hand for the nine necessary tricks.

A New Yorker AT LARGE

By MARK BARRON.

The photographers on Park avenue miss Barbara Hutton. She's on a 'round-the-world cruise.

Whatever became of that Social Register and much publicized beauty, Marjorie Oelrichs?

Claire Luce does such a strenuous dance in her new show that she has to miss a performance ever so often in order that she may have the muscles in her legs treated.

Oh, Pshaw!

Bernard Shaw, on his visit here, said many unkind things about Americans, but one of the few he praised was H. L. Mencken. But what Prof. Mencken said about Prof. Shaw—oooh!

Stocks Continue Advances After Overcoming Losses

Average Gain of 1.1 Points Added; Sales Rise to 2,163,630 Shares.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Stocks were reluctant to decline today, and after losing fractions to a couple of points on a slow sag, recovered smartly in the late trading.

Generally speaking, the rally accomplished little more than the recovery of what had been lost, though motor and steel shares pushed up more aggressively than did most other industrials, the utilities or rails. The market looked rather professional all day, its final spurt coinciding with the defeat of bonus legislation by the Senate.

Expanding steel mill activity and favorable reports on automobile production gave comfort to those who are impressed by the tenor of current business trends. General Motors, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Auburn and Bethlehem rose fractions to more than a point net. Allied Chemical, ostensibly on short covering, gained nearly 2 while Du Pont did as well. Standard Oil of New Jersey, Case, American Can and National Biscuit also firmed. Rails, heavy in the morning, hardened on the final upturn. Southern Railway issues made new highs for the year. Anaconda and Cerro de Pasco dipped a point, then rallied. Sales totaled 2,163,630 shares.

Reaction was obviously helped by more extensive pressure from shorts but by noon, when prices made their lows, activity had dwindled to the vanishing point even though wheat was weak. Closing strength seemed to have been provided in liberal measure by covering.

Wholesale and retail trade is broadening, says the current summary by Dun & Broadstreet, Inc. It points out that "the probable effect of inflation" has been the chief contributing factor to the larger sales volume, but whatever the impetus, gains are noticeable. "There appears to be well-founded ground for the statement," asserts this agency, "that unemployment has shown a moderate decrease, with the entire employment situation developing hopeful aspects."

Stocks.

Early losses were overcome and an average gain of 1.1 points resulted. Favorable steel and auto reports aided the rally. The turnover increased to 2,163,630 shares.

Bonds.

Proposed legislation failed to inspire the bond market, and after cautious trading, prices closed unchanged. Sales dwindled to $10,396,000.

Curb.

Early trading produced losses. These were regained partly in a mild pickup of buying. Some issues advanced sharply. Volume of sales decreased to 241,000 shares.

Wheat.

Heavy selling sent wheat prices lower. Corn and oats followed. Liquidation of Eastern pools was blamed. May wheat sold at 65⅞ to 65½ cents.

Cotton.

Liquidation was absorbed by trade buying and a rally cut losses to 6 to 9 points. July sold at 7.48; May, 7.34.

BOND PRICES STAND AT THURSDAY LEVEL

Legislation Fails to Inspire Market; Sales Cut to $10,396,000.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—The administration's new railroad bill, and other measures simmering on congressional fires, failed to stimulate the bond market today and prices generally shifted about uncertainly in a narrow range.

The trading volume reflected the cautious deliberations of investors by dwindling to the relatively low sales total of $10,396,000, par value, while the average for 60 domestic corporate loans was unchanged. This average had advanced on each of the eight previous sessions.

Railway liens were decidely irregular. Gains of a point or more were recorded by some issues of Atlantic Coast Line, Canadian Pacific, Chicago & Western Indiana, Cleveland Union Terminal, Cuba Northern, Delaware & Hudson, Louisville & Nashville, Union Pacific and others. Southern Railway consolidated 6½s were heavily traded for a gain of 4½ points and Wabash first 5s were up 4. On the other hand, loans of Erie, Allegheny Corporation, Chesapeake Corporation, Missouri Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Nickel Plate, Northern Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio sagged.

There was little either way in the utilities and industrials. International Telephones rallied for a point or more while Postal Telegraph 5s showed the largest turnover of any corporation issue with a gain of 1½ points. Loans of Western Union, Vanadium, Sinclair, Goodyear and Armour & Co. rallied 1 to around 2 points. Maturities of American Telephone, American & Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, McKesson, Philadelphia Co., Texas Corporation and Tobacco Products were heavy.

United States Government securities were dull and slightly lower. Bonds of Germany, France and Great Britain were irregular, but the Argentines, Australians and Belgians rallied.

Bank of England Reported To Have Record Gold Stock

(Associated Press.)

The Bank of England was reported today by the Commerce Department to have had on April 5 the largest supply of gold in its history, the total holdings amounting to £177,360,405 at par as compared with the previous high record on September 12, 1928, of £176,585,000.

Roger R. Townsend, the department's trade commissioner at London, said that the continuous increase in the bank's gold reserve has given rise "to local reports that a return to the gold standard is being contemplated."

"One view is being expressed in London that Great Britain will return to the gold standard before the end of the current year," he said, "with the belief that the bank intends to hold £250,000,000 as a minimum reserve before returning.

"If this view of the situation is correct, the bank would need an additional £75,000,000 of gold to reach the required minimum, on the assumption that the figure is to be reckoned at par of exchange.

"It is estimated that this additional amount is available already in the exchange equalization account, believed to contain some £75,000,000 to £80,000,000 in gold exchange at the present time."

"Furthermore," Townsend added, "if the pound should be stabilized at the current rate of exchange and the bank's present gold holdings of more than £177,000,000 revalued on that basis, the total would automatically be increased to somewhat more than £250,000,000 at the new par of exchange, without addition of the exchange account's resources."

The pound is now worth approximately $3.72 in exchange.

The department pointed out that the present gold influx to Great Britain began in the latter part of January and more than £56,500,000 have been added to the bank's stock during the past two months and a half.

Gold held by the bank now is more than £40,500,000 higher than in September, 1931, when the gold standard was suspended by England, and more than £8,000,000 above the total in April, 1925, when Great Britain first returned to the gold standard after the war.

Receivership Is Sought For Bond Electric Firm

Wilmington, Del., April 28 (A.P.).—Receivership suit was filed in chancery court today against the Bond Electric Corporation by Hugo Cassell, of New York, acting as a bondholder. The bill of complaint alleges the corporation defaulted in the payment of interest due April 1 on $581,000 of ten-year 6½ per cent sinking fund gold debentures, and is unable to meet maturing obligations.

Incorporated here in 1927 as the Yale Electric Corporation, the concern has plants in New Jersey and New York and warehouses in California and Illinois.

GOODS MARKET.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Trading in unfinished cotton goods was quieter today, but prices held steady. Finished goods continued to attract call for early shipment with prices tending firmer. Rayon yarns are being ordered for knitting purposes very freely. Burlaps continued firm. Wool goods are tending upward with sales moderate.

U. S. Steel Appoints Two New Executives

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—The United States Steel Corporation today announced that F. D. Foote, formerly president of the Pittsburgh Forgings Co. and the Greenville Steel Car Co., had been made assistant to C. L. Wood, commercial vice president.

Mr. Foote, it was explained, will be responsible for "the coordination of sales efforts affecting the railroads and the railroad equipment industries." Appointment of E. P. Brooks, formerly of the sales executive staff of Sears, Roebuck & Co., as another assistant to Mr. Wood, was also announced. His duties were not defined.

Steel Prices Unchanged.

CURB MARKET PICKS UP PART OF LOSSES

Some Issues Rise Sharply as Sales Dwindle to 241,000 Shares.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Curb stocks found lower levels in their reactionary course today, but improved their position somewhat under a mild pickup in buying in the last hour. Volume continued to decline with total transfers of about 241,000 shares against 281,000 yesterday.

A few issues with narrow markets rose sharply on small transactions. The leaders generally lacked the buying power to overcome recent tendencies to slip backward. A few of the utilities improved fractionally and certain of the mining group like Newmont and Lake Shore climbed a point or so.

Inactives like Hazel Atlas Glass, Parker Rustproof, Pepperell Manufacturing, and Brillo Manufacturing A advanced from 2 to 6 points. Oils were steady.

Bank Rate Unchanged.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).No announcement was made by the New York Federal Reserve Bank yesterday regarding the rediscount rate of 3 per cent.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—The tone of the stock exchange continues bright owing to the favorable outlook in connection with the coming world economic conference. German bonds, Argentine securities and coal shares benefited by trade agreements, whereas gilt-edged securities were supported by investors. Gold mining shares and transatlantic issues eased. The market closed steady.

Paris—Heaviness continued on the bourse with the exception of rentes, which recovered recent losses. Trading was restricted, exchange fluctuations disconcerting speculators. The closing was irregular.

New Zealand Closes 1932-33 With Surplus

Wellington, New Zealand, April 28 A.P.).—New Zealand closed her 1932-33 financial year with a small surplus.

Contrary to expectations, J. C. Coates, minister of finance, announced today revenues had increased in the last three months of the fiscal year sufficiently to turn what in January was expected to be a budget deficit of more than £500,000 into a surplus of a few thousand pounds.

This will permit a slight lessening of the government's campaign of cutting expenditures.

WHEAT VALUES DROP UNDER HEAVY SALES

Downward Plunge of Prices Laid to Liquidating of Eastern Pools.

Chicago, April 28 (A.P.).—Wheat and corn prices collapsed today, wheat 2¼ cents maximum and corn almost 2 cents.

Senate approval of plans to lower the gold content of the dollar failed to bring about an expected fresh wave of public speculative buying, and instead many traders gave special attention to assertions that the farm commodity bill as at present amended would be deflationary in effect. Heavy selling, ascribed to Eastern sources, found all grains were devoid of adequate support from buyers.

Wheat closed unsteady near the day's bottom figures, 1½ to 2⅛ lower than yesterday's finish; corn, 1¼ to 1¾ down; oats, ⅝ to 1⅛ off, and provisions showing 10 to 15 cents setback.

Plunges of Prices.

Downward plunges of prices carried the wheat market to about 6 cents a bushel under quotations that were current on Monday last. Numerous stop-loss orders were executed as a result, and some trade authorities said supposed inflationary measures had lost effect as an immediate market stimulus. Dearth of new purchasing power was very apparent, and prices again and again suffered a vertical drop as sellers' offerings met with relatively few takers.

One explanation of predominance of selling pressure was that a large Eastern pool was liquidating its wheat holdings, and that the effects were augmented by professional short selling and profit taking by investors who previously had kept suttborn through uncertainties of the last few days. Contributing to wheat weakness was an authoritative trade summary saying recent rains in the Southwest had improved winter crop prospects and that spring seeding in the Northwest had made rapid progress this week.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat weakness.

Provisions were responsive to downturns of hog values and of grains.

The most important of these are electrical manufactures and equipment, telephone, telegraph, power and light lines, automobiles and building. The decline in these activities was of necessity reflected in the copper industry."

Steel's Production Climbs With Price

Nation's Yield Expected to Reach 29 Per Cent for Week.

Cleveland, April 28 (A.P.).—Further sharp upturns in production and climbing prices were reported in the steel industry today. The magazine Steel led off with the announcement it would report next Monday that steel ingot production in the United States for the week ended April 29 would attain 29 per cent of capacity. Since the month opened with production at an average of 15 per cent of capacity, the 29 per cent average will mean that the output has practically doubled during the month.

Almost simultaneously, the magazine Daily Metal Trade said a leading steel sheet producer in the Pittsburgh area was announcing an increase of $2 a ton for hot rolled and hot rolled annealed sheets. The magazine said this producer was also stepping up light and heavy cold rolled sheet prices by $3 a ton and expected a similar advance in cold rolled strip. It was stressed these prices were expected to hold only for the second quarter. Steel sales executives at Youngstown confirmed that an increase of $2 a ton for hot rolled sheets and strip and $3 a ton for cold rolled sheets and strip was looked for.

Gains in ingot production in the steel districts of Youngstown and Cleveland were simultaneously noted.

Five-Day Suspensions and $100 Fines for Three Players

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

New York, April 28.

KEEP punching, boys—— American League President William Harridge didn't say just exactly that or, as a matter of record, anything resembling the above, but the leniency of the sentences of Myer, Whitehill and Chapman is construed to mean that the baseball powers are not exactly displeased at the proceedings in Washington last Tuesday.

If there is anything that is wrong with baseball outside of the admission prices, it has been the pacifism of the game, the battle of Griffith Stadium was a pleasing relief to all the fraternizing and palling about that has marked the actions of our big league ball players for several years.

Brawl Came as Needed Tonic.

The little brawl in Washington was the tonic needed to remind fandom that the game isn't entirely populated by business-men ball players who think only in terms of wages, contracts and personal safety, and that the fans may expect a bit of spice along with their baseball fare which for too many years has consisted of home runs or pitching performances.

There is no case on record of any ball player being seriously hurt in a fight on the field and such squabbles would better be taken as mere incidents of the game. It is difficult to blame the fans for pouring on the field as they did in Washington. Fights among the ball players have been so infrequent that when one does occur, there is bound to be excitement among the spectators. If the battles were the rule, rather than the exception, the fans would soon learn to stay in their seats.

Probably Chuckling Inside.

Mr. Harridge's attitude in ruling on the culprits was stern and his voice was harsh. But he is probably chuckling at the speedy response to his plea for more aggressiveness on the field. That is what makes the turnstile click, and if the aggressiveness is accompanied by short and snappy exchanges, the music of the turnstiles will be sweeter to the magnates.

Today's attendance at Yankee Stadium far surpassed the normal Friday crowd as a result of the Washington fisticuffs, and if the proceedings at Griffith Stadium prolong the feud between the Nats and the Yankees, none will be the loser and the treasuries of both clubs will be grateful beneficiaries. Keep punching, lads.

Joe Judge, limping from a spike wound, visited his old mates at their hotel today. Judge was spiked by Bartell, of the Phillies, in a game at Brooklyn. "The guy had the nerve to tell me I wouldn't have been spiked if I wasn't clumsy around the bag," said Joe.

The National League is the hotbed of that quaint old practice of dusting 'em off, said Judge. In the two days he played with the Dodgers he had five balls thrown at his head.

Tomorrow's pitching assignment for the Nats will be given either Alvin Crowder or Monte Weaver, Manager Cronin said tonight. Crowder will be the choice if his cold continues to show improvement.

Chapman, Myer and Whitehill worked out with their clubs before the game, but were hustled out of uniform after Harridge's edict. Myer and Whitehill saw the game from a seat near the dugout, while Chapman was the guest of his local defenders in the New York press box.

OWNER GRIFFITH IRED BY LENIENCY SHOWN CHAPMAN IN VERDICT

Special to The Washington Post.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, April 28.—Brought to the bar of American League justice this afternoon, Buddy Myer and Earl Whitehill, of the Nats, and Ben Chapman, of the Yankees, were meted suspensions of five days and fines of $100 each, but the verdict of League President William Harridge failed to satisfy Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington club.

Griffith declared he would accept the verdict without official protest, but he failed to recognize any justice in the decision which penalized two Washington players compared to the Yankees' one, whom he holds entirely responsible for the incitation of the riot at last Tuesday's battle at Griffith Stadium.

"Chapman should have been suspended for a total of days equal to the amount given Whitehill and Myer," said Griffith. He was the one who provoked the affair at second base, and he started the business in the dugout.

Allen Hit Myer Two Times.

"They failed to take into account the fact that the Yankees have been threatening to get Washington players, Myer particularly. Buddy told me and he told Harridge that Johnny Allen dusted him off and put him on the ground ten times last year. Allen hit Myer twice. Gomez has been throwing 'em close to Manush for two years and we know it." Griffith was displeased, although the punishment of the three players was comparatively lenient, a fact that is recognized by baseball men here. Manager McCarthy took the announcement of Harridge with good grace, saying he was undisturbed about the matter. The three players will be eligible to return to the lineups on Monday, which is an open date.

Were Not on Job, He Declares.

"If they'd been on the job there would have been no riot," said Griffith, "and if they said in their reports to Mr. Harridge that Chapman didn't go out of his way to spike Myer, then they either didn't see the play or they are trying to make themselves look good. The things that are done right under our umpires' noses wouldn't happen if they didn't try to protect themselves. Whenever they make a report to the league president they are thinking about their jobs. And you can quote me.

Harridge held all three players equally guilty in provoking the riot, after absolving other members of the Yankees on the grounds that they were going to the protection of Chapman. The league president interviewed Griffith, Manager Cronin and Whitehill and Myer in the Nats' hotel this morning and handed down his decision at Yankee Statdium at 2:30

Macks Triumph Over Red Sox, 9-8

Philadelphia, April 28 (A.P.).—The Athletics took a free-scoring game from the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a two-day series today, 9 to 8. The Mackmen concentrated the bulk of their hitting while scoring six runs in the third inning.

The Red Sox used three pitchers and the Athletics four before the affair was over. Roy Johnson and Smeed Jolley both hit for the circuit. The latter, batting for Shea in the eighth, connected with one and cut the victors' three-run lead to the narrow margin of one.

4 Marks Fall At Penn Relays

Keller, McCluskey, Bonthron Stars of First Day.

10,000 See Athletes Set Fast Pace in Annual Events.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, April 28 (A.P.).—Sensational performances by three long-limbed college track stars, Jack Keller, of Ohio State, Joe McCluskey, of Fordham, and Bill Bonthron, of Princeton, today featured a record-smashing start to the thirty-ninth annual Pennsylvania relay carnival before a crowd of 10,000 onlookers.

Four major carnival records fell on the windswept Franklin Field and Keller and McCluskey contributed two of them as they dominated their specialties for the third successive year. Major college relay honors went to Pennsylvania's 440-yard team, to Princeton's sprint medley quartet, anchored by Bonthron, and to Manhattan College's distance medley four, which surpassed the carnival record as well as the best previous American mark listed. Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy contributed the outstanding schoolboy performance with a record-breaking victory in the 440-yard interscholastic relay championship.

Keller, in the 120-yard high hurdles, outclassed a field of Eastern rivals, and twice shattered his own carnival record of 14.7 seconds, made two years ago as a sophomore. The Ohio State flier stepped over the barriers in his first trial in 14.6 seconds and then fairly flew over the hurdles in the final as he was timed in 14.3 seconds, only a tenth second short of the world record and the fastest hurdle race ever witnessed on an Eastern track.

McCluskey Lowers Own Mark.

The black-haired McCluskey, with no rival to press him in the 3,000-meter steeplechase, lowered his own carnival mark for the third straight year. Taking the hurdles and water jumps with characteristic class, the Fordham star beat his nearest opponent, Edgar Lee, of Virginia Union, by 150 yards and was clocked in 9 minutes 28.5 seconds, just one-tenth faster than his time in winning the event last year.

Ohio State failed in two gallant bids for relay honors, the last one failing by a narrow margin as Bonthron's thrilling stretch spurt carried the Princetonian to triumph, by a stride, over Brown, Negro running anchor for the Buckeyes, in the sprint medley championship race. Jack Keller, doing double duty by running one of the 220-yard legs of this race, helped keep Ohio in the van until Bonthron did his stuff, coming up from fourth place with a whirlwind finish.

Manhattan College celebrated its first major Penn relay victory in spectacular style. Anchored by Frank Crowley, intercollegiate indoor mile champion, Manhattan's quartet easily whipped New York University and Cornell, an added starter, in the distance medley relay and shattered an 18-year-old carnival record.

Manhattan's time of 10 minutes 14 seconds, for the aggregate distance of 2½ miles, wiped out Yale's mark of 10:20, made in 1915, and also surpassed the listed American record of 10:15 4-5, which has stood to Penn State's credit since 1922.

Barker Spurts to Aid N. Y. U.

Cornell apparently had second place clinched in the distance medley, with Joe Mangan running anchor, but the captain of the Ithacans was caught by surprise in the stretch by George Barker's spurt, which gave N. Y. U. the place.

Pennsylvania's crack sprint quartet deposed Ohio State in the 440-yard relay championship. The Quakers came through handily and New York University, due to a fast finish by Kunitzky, took second place from the Ohioans.

Eugene Beatty, veteran Negro distance hurdler from Michigan Normal, captured the 400-meter hurdles for the third straight year, but he had only a margin of inches as he sprawled across the tape in front of Robert Jackson, of Lehigh, who came up fast at the close.

Fail in Defense Of Honors.

Canada's schoolboy stars, from Hamilton Collegiate Institute, failed in their first defense of relay honors won last year. They finished eighth in a big field in the interscholastic medley relay, won by Mount Pleasant High, of Schenectady, N. Y., for the

Des Moines, Iowa, April 28 (A. P.).—Eight thousand spectators attending the Drake relays carnival today watched Roger Snipe, 17-year-old youngster, of Perry, Iowa, lead his team to victory in a 1-mile high school relay under unusual handicap.

Given a pair of shorts which would have fitted a 200-pounder, Snipe, a slight 140-pounder, attempted to run with them. As he galloped away, Snipe's pants dropped to his knees. With one hand hitching them up at intervals he continued to set the pace.

Fifty yards from the finish, however, as a second runner challenged him, he released his hold, his shorts fell to his knees and he finished to the accompaniment of roars from the crowd.

INDIANS BEAT WHITE SOX BY 5 TO 1

CLEVELAND, April 28 (A.P.).—The Cleveland Indians got their hitting eye against the White Sox today, winning their first start in four against the Chicago club, 5 to 1.

George Connally kept the Sox' seven hits well scattered, while the Indians collected eight blows off Gaston and Murray.

Tiger Rally Wins Over Browns, 5-3

St. Louis, April 28 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns literally threw away a ball game this afternoon, the Detroit Tigers winning an undeserved victory, 5 to 3.

With the score tied in the ninth and one out, Hayworth bunted safely. Bridges also bunted and Scharein threw high over first. Campbell recovered the ball and made a wild heave over third, letting in two runs. The Browns stole seven bases, four of which were in the first inning. Wells pitched splendidly, striking out seven men.

French Hurls Pirates to Victory

2 Walks by Mooney Are Turned Into Runs by Bucs.

PITTSBURGH, April 28 (A.P.).—A combination of very timely hitting and flashy fielding behind Larry French, who bore down expertly in the pinches, enabled the Pirates to turn back the St. Louis Cardinals, 2 to 0, in the series opener today.

Each run came from a single hit, behind a walk, plus an outfield fly in one case and a sacrifice in another, but it was a fielding feat that finally settled the game. The Cards had runners on first and third with one out in the eighth inning. Frank Frish lashed a drive toward right and Tony Piet made a beautiful stop and converted a near-hit into a double play which ended the St. Louis threat.

Mooney's Wildness Costly.

Jim Mooney pitched fine ball for St. Louis except for occasional costly wildness. He gave only four hits, but two of them were converted into runs, while French, although allowing six blows, occasionally bunched, managed to escape trouble.

In the second inning Floyd Vaughn drew a walk to start the frame. Piet doubled to right, advancing Vaughn to third, and Hal Finney's fly to Ernie Orsatti allowed the runner to come home. In the seventh it was Piet who drew the pass and went to second on a sacrifice by Finney. Then after French filed out Lloyd Waner came through with a timely single to drive in the clinching run.

The Cards threatened in the fifth when a walk, a hit and a steal put runners on second and third and again in the sixth as the result of singles by Orsatti and Jim Collins, but each time French tightened up to make the final out before any one scored.

Reds Pound Warneke To Defeat Cubs, 6-1

Chicago, April 28 (A.P.).—After being held for seven innings by Lon Warneke, the Cincinnati Reds battered the young right-hander out of action in the eighth and scored enough runs for a 6-to-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs today.

A double by Jim Bottomley, singles by Lombardi and Rice, mixed with two walks and two errors, accounted for Warneke and his successor, Roy Henshaw. Bug Tinning finished. Red Lucas, the Cubs' most persistent jinx, kept nine hits well scattered.

Pinchot Signs Bill For 15-Round Bouts

Harrisburg, Pa., April 28 (U.P.).—Fifteen-round boxing bouts in Pennsylvania became legal tonight when Gov. Pinchot signed a bill increasing the limit of boxing bouts from 10 to 15 rounds.

The law was enacted by the General Assembly to attract to Pennsylvania additional championship boxing matches which promoters heretofore took to other States because of the limited number of rounds permitted.

WON'T SIGN BET BILL.

Sacramento, Calif., April 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Rolph told State Senator Harry Parkman and Assemblyman Thomas Maloney today he could not sign the bill permitting pari-mutuel betting on horse racing which they sponsored in the Legislature.

STAR PORTER, 11-1, ROMPS TO VICTORY AT HAVRE DE GRACE

Steffen Rides Colt to Easy Triumph

By WALTER HAIGHT
(Post Staff Correspondent).

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, April 28.—Wearing the chain gang colors of Ral Parr, Star Porter, a son of The Porter, romped to victory over a field of 3-year-olds to take the feature race of the day over the 6-furlong sprint course. Behind Star Porter, sent to the post by Elmer Trueman, came three Derby eligibles and one Preakness candidate. Second, despite a long drive, was the favorite, Edelweiss, while Parity, from the Sagamore Stables, was third.

Star Porter, not named for the classics, left little to be desired in his performance. The colt broke with the leaders, forged to the front in the first sixteenth and was never headed thereafter. Tractable, Parity and Edelweiss tried to displace Star Porter and they met the same fate. Edelweiss managed to make up a half length in the last quarter, but there was no sign that Steffan was pressing the son of The Porter.

As usual with Trueman-trained horses, the big price was there. Star Porter supplied $24 for each $2 wagered.

The track was lightning fast and the 3-year-olds ran the sprint in 1:11 3-5.

Flying Hour Takes Secondary.

Flying Hour, ridden by Buddy Hanford, trained by Preston Burch and owned by Mrs. Walter M. Jeffords, won the secondary feature, The Modesty, for 3-year-old fillies. It was a case of trying to catch the daughter of Galetian and none proved capable of the task. Illusive, the General Lee filly, owned by Representative Corning's daughter, made a game effort but just wasn't there. The third place award was garnered by Cutie Face.

If Ida, a high-stepping little filly aired by General Lee, showed a burst of stretch speed in the juvenile dash to account for the opening purse. Pat Remillard rode the winner and kept her just off the pace battle between Ragtown Belle and Dixie Bee. Once inside the quarter pole, however, Remillard went to work on his mount and If Ida cut down the leaders to win going away by a half-length margin. If Ida was half of the Wakoff-Menaquale entry and paid a $7.20 mutuel. The favored Ragtown Belle was second and Dixie Bee third.

Tremendous Wins For Gilbert.

Fillies made it two straight victories when Tremendous, with Gilbert in the saddle, went to the front nearing the stretch turn to score over a field of ten that accepted the contest over mile and one-sixteenth route. Mamascene was second with Calgary Kay, the veteran gelding, third. Tremendous paid off with a $7 mutuel.

One of the cheapest fields in the history of this track faced the barrier in the third race, a mile and 70 yards test for maiden 3-year-olds and Starter Milton was 14½ minutes getting the field away from the barrier and then only after Kay C had reared and fell into the starting stall gate, suffering a broken leg. She was wedged in the apparatus and the gate had to be removed.

When the race was finally run, Rhodesia turned in a victory over Electric Gaff and Scotch Tom after setting the pace from start to finish. Rhodesia's sensational workout a few days ago was public property and he paid a $5.20 mutuel.

Ladfield Upsets Butter Beans.

Ladfield, with the veteran Eddie Barnes in the saddle, finished fast to take the sixth race from a band of good sprinters, Butter Beans was second and Glorify third. The latter ran out to a three-lengths lead rounding the far turn, but never recovered after Rider Windle attempted to give his mount a breather.

Traffic Judge took the measure of Lucky Racket in the final with Meander third.

BETHESDA VS. PHOENIX.

Bethesda Volunteer Fire Department team will engage the Phoenix A. C. today at 3 o'clock at Bethesda.

IF IDA, kept close to the pacemakers and racing stoutly while on the outside, came determinedly under strong pressure and wore the leaders down in the final stages. RAGTOWN BELLE, hard ridden and forcing a stiff early pace, gained a slight lead in the closing furlong, but was unable to stall off the winner. DIXIE BEE, stoutly ridden, showed good speed for a half mile, and continued courageously when placed to punishment. MAD PASSION finished with a belated rush on the outside. BIG DIPPER raced very creditably. LITTLE CORPORAL closed fast at the end. HAIR TRIGGER was outrun. THOTH had speed leaving the barrier. GNOMMIE was away poorly and ran out around the turn. GIGGLY ANN raced very green.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TREMENDOUS, $7.00, $3.60, $2.40; DAMASCENE, $5.60, $3.00; CALGARY KAY, $2.60.

TREMENDOUS, avoiding interference at the first turn, raced close to the leaders while under urging, responded readily to displace MAJOR GENERAL and SAND BELL, and held on stoutly to outstay DAMASCENE. Latter, kept on the outside for clear racing room, came stoutly when shaken up for the final drive. CALGARY KAY, taken up at the first turn, raced in hand while weaving his way to the leaders, and closed fast under very weak handling. He raced as if best. SAND BELL, a stout factor from the start, held on well and may have needed the race. MAJOR GENERAL showed good speed until he tired. BLACK PATRICIA had no excuses. MARY'S MAY had a rough passage going to the first turn, and then went very wide into the back stretch.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RHODESIA, $5.20, $4.00, $3.80; ELECTRIC GAFF, $4.20, $3.60; SCOTCH TOM, $4.20.

RHODESIA outran his field to the first turn, was taken in hand while resisting contention from SCOTCH TOM, saved ground and had much in reserve all during the stretch run. ELECTRIC GAFF, unruly at the barrier, raced within striking distance of the leaders, and then closed gamely to outfinish SCOTCH TOM. Latter, stoutly urged in the early stages, held on gamely when the final issue came. GRAMARYTE, sluggish for the first five furlongs, finished full of run nearing the finish. POSTPONEMENT showed an even effort throughout. POLITICAL raced well placed and continued with good speed. BRAD tired. KAY C. reared and fell between a stall partition, and was withdrawn when she dislocated her left hind leg.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—STAR PORTER, $24.00, $5.40, $3.00; EDELWEISS, $2.60, $2.20; PARITY, $2.40.

STAR PORTER, racing in his best form and displaying high speed, was steadied along early and holding on stoutly when forced to a drive, had enough left to stall off EDELWEISS. Latter moved to the winner with a rush when leaving the back stretch, came wide into the home stretch, but finished resolutely and was gradually wearing the winner down. PARITY had good speed for the entire trip. SANG FROID was held safe. BUBBLER was never a dangerous factor. TRACTABLE was not persevered with when he tired.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; allowances. The Modesty. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:55. Off at 5:04. Winner, Mrs. W. M. Two-dollar mutuels paid—FLYING HOUR, $8.40, $4.40, $3.80; ILLUSIVE, $8.40, $4.20; CUTIE FACE, $13.20.

FLYING HOUR, took command while full of run, was steadied along in front and drew out at her leisure during the final furlong. ILLUSIVE, strongly handled, came with excellent courage to outlast CUTIE FACE. Latter forced a fast pace for five furlongs, then continued gamely in the final drive. SINGING HEART, fractious at the barrier, was in close quarters until reaching the home stretch. She closed with a rush when securing racing room. BOY CRAZY showed much speed the entire journey. BLACK QUEEN finished strong in the last half mile. MANYA was outrun. WAR BANNER stopped early.

SIXTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:35. Off at 5:37½. Winner, Mrs. C. Crane's dk. b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LADFIELD, $21.00, $7.20, $4.20; BUTTER BEANS, $3.80, $2.60; GLORIFY, $2.80.

LADFIELD, following close to the leaders, lost some ground entering the home stretch, but kept under strong pressure, took a slight lead and just lasted to outstay BUTTER BEANS. Latter raced GLORIFY into defeat and held on with determination. GLORIFY, poorly handled and messed about from the start, held on well but was unable to stall off the winner. WISE COUNT raced to his best form, and had no excuses after saving a lot of ground. SUN MISSION showed good speed and appears in good condition. EUCLID was held safe. TUT TUT was overmatched.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from gate. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 6:09½. Off at 6:10. Winner, R. P. Two-dollar mutuels paid—TRAFFIC JUDGE, $8.80, $4.00, $3.20; LUCKY RACKET, $3.00, $2.40; MEANDER, $4.20.

TRAFFIC JUDGE, rated in front under mild reserve for the first seven furlongs, drew clear when ready and held LUCKY RACKET safe under slight urging at the end. LUCKY RACKET, allowed to drop far out of contention, circled around her field and finished strongly. MEANDER worked his way to the leaders on the inside, and continued gamely when put to severe pressure. BURNSIDE raced forwardly and showed a good test. MATADI could not improve his position when hard urged. POLITEN finished with good speed. MISS CORINNE had no excuses. SYRIAC raced wide and failed to respond when punished. KEITH quit badly.

AT THE POST

with Bill Benning

HAVRE DE GRACE, APRIL 28.

DEAR AL:

Well, friend, I know of two horses we won't have to waste any more dough on. Vimont and Fervor enlisted in the Army yesterday. They were sold to the Remount Service. Many horsemen are predicting the end of the style of stall gates used at this track after seeing Kay C. break a leg at the post here today. Tomorrow is getaway day here and it's hard to tell which way the boys are shooting. In fact, it was just as difficult today and yesterday. BILL.

FIRST RACE—DRESSNER did everything I asked of him the last time. Is a speedy youngster with a lot of experience. RACE STREET was over his head the last time but was right with the leaders. Is the one to beat. MIXED PARTY has performed well and looks good for the show.

SECOND RACE—BALLY BAY ran a fine race last out to win breezing and the same effort repeated would take care of this field. Needs clear sailing to show her best effort. CONTRIBUTE has had a rest and will be dangerous. BRIGHT BIRD might want an off track but showed a good race on a fast course.

THIRD RACE—MICROPHONE has been cut twice here and closed fast behind Finite in the last. Takes 5 pounds off that effort and I expect a more alert break tomorrow. CHARACTER is speedy and fit but is in new hands. CANRON'S fast trials can't be overlooked entirely.

FOURTH RACE—STEPENFETCHIT will reverse the decision on Tred Avon if they meet on a fast course. Moved right up on an off track the last time and is slated to improve. SPRINGSTEEL was a creditable second to the speedy Sweeping Light.

FIFTH RACE—GOLD BASIS picks up some weight but must be considered after that performance behind Sarada the other day. Practically left at the post, this one finished with a burst of speed. PROJECTILE is the word of the clockers. MR. KHAYYAM for the show.

SIXTH RACE—BROADWAY LIGHTS was right behind Sweeping Lights as that one matched the track record here. Is fit and ready and will be hard to beat in this field. KEGGY and ANNIMESSIC for the other money places.

New Yorker's Horse Wins In Britain

NEWMARKET, England, April 28 (A.P.).—William Woodward, owner of the famous Gallant Fox, won his first English turf classic today when Betty Brown carried the silks of the New York banker to a clean-cut victory over 21 of the country's best 3-year-old fillies in the 125th renewal of the One Thousand Guineas.

With Joe Childs, King George's jockey, in the saddle, the little daughter of Friar Marcus bounded into the lead at the 7-furlong pole and pulled away to finish the mile with a half length to spare over another American-owned horse, W. M. G. Singer's Fur Tor. Myrobella, leading money-winning 2-year-old of last season and the favorite, at 5 to 1, was third, beaten three-quarters of a length.

Th victory gave Brown Betty, quoted at 8 to 1, a record of five straight victories after running second in her first two starts as a juvenile. Myrobella entered today's race with an impressive record of five triumphs in six starts.

Is First Away From Barrier.

For 7 furlongs, Myrobella looked as if she was going to vindicate the judgment of her supporters. She was the first away from the barrier, but Childs was never far back with Brown Betty. At the half-way post Myrobella was still in front, with Brown Betty at her heels and Fur Tor close behind.

A furlong from home, the favorite weakened and Childs quickly drove the Woodward filly into the lead. Fur Tor moved up at the same time but was unable to match the speed of Brown Betty in the drive for the judges' stand. The winner's time for the distance was 1:39 2-5.

William Woodward, a member of the Jockey Club for years, is the owner of Gallant Fox, the great stallion who won both the Preakness and the Derby in 1930 and seven other rich stakes to make his owner the leading money winner of that year. He was defeated only once, by the 100-to-1 shot, Jim Dandy, in the mud at Saratoga. Earl Sande rode the Fox to all his triumphs.

Woodward has raced a stable in England for several years. He is a New York banker.

TECH BEATS WESTERN NINE IN HIGH SCHOOL SERIES, 14 TO 7

Thomas Hits Triple and 2 Homers

Turner's Relief Pitching Aids Maroons to Triumph.

Good Baseball Played After Early Frames at Eastern Field.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

THE effective relief pitching of Eddie Turner and a trio of prodigious hits rattling off the bat of Knocky Thomas gave Tech a 14-7 victory over Western in their inter-high school series game yesterday on the wind-swept Eastern High School field.

Turner was hustled out to the mound with his first aid kit, containing a good fast ball and deceptive curve, which he administered with telling effect to the Western batters who had just decided that "Bubba" Wiles' hurling was very much to their liking. Turner limited his opponents to four hits, three coming in the ninth inning when the Red Sox threatened to write a typical high school ending to the story.

Two home runs by Thomas and a triple good for another tally—figured more or less in Tech's victory. Had Thomas elected to stretch the triple another notch he may have made it as the return to the plate was wild. Knocky's first hit sailed in the general direction of Fifteenth and H streets, several blocks distant. The second was a line drive that whistled over Edmonston's head in center field to the far corner of the running track. Thomas also stole home after getting on base through an error and working his way around the circuit to third, for a perfect day.

Ready started on the mound for Western, but was recalled in round four when Tech's heavy artillery blasted the Reds' lead and sent the eventual winners ahead by a 10-6 score, which proved to be too much of a lead for the Georgetowners to overcome.

Western started well enough, coming from behind in the third inning in a brief but pleasant flurry of hitting that produced five runs and wiped out a three run advantage acquired by the Maroon and Gray in the previous stanza.

Brown's single started Western's rally in the third and Wiles' dismissal from the game. Ready got a triple when his fly bounced off Virnstein's glove after a lengthy run. Brown scoring. De Stephen, who played a whale of a game at the far corner for his team, walked and both runners scored on Rohrbaugh's double. Corcoran and Wood walked, filling the pathways to capacity.

Turner was summoned from the sidelines at this juncture, and Brennan, the first man to face him, flied out to center field. Beach's return to Thomas caught Rohrbaugh sliding into home on a spectacular play. Loveless completed the rally with a clean single that scored Corcoran and Wood.

From the sixth inning on the teams settled down and played respectable baseball. Tech's veteran combination had a slight edge over its rival afield, an important factor when the ninth inning arrived with two men on base and none out.

p. m. In his announcement, Harridge said:

"We all want aggressive, alert play, but we do not want rowdyism.

Endangers People Who Attend.

"A riot, such as that in Washington, endangers the people who pay their way into the game, and we do not wish to see any more of that. The next case of fighting, if one should come up, will not be met with leniency shown to Chapman, Myer and Whitehill.

"In going over the facts in the case I found that there would have been no riot but for the necessity of Chapman's going through the Washington dugout to get into the New York club house.

"At most of our ball parks there are no runways from the visitors' bench to their dressing rooms. I have asked our clubs to remedy that fault as soon as is practicable. Had Chapman gone straight from the field to his club house he would not have encountered Whitehill, the pitcher would not have insulted Chapman and there would have been no public demonstration.

"However, I am not condoning Chapman's action after Whitehill's remark. I believe Chapman should have gone on his way and appreciated that Whitehill was just as much wrought up over the general excitement as he was.

Effort to Prevent Double Play.

"In making my decision, I felt that Myer had provoked Chapman by kicking the Yankee outfielder. I did not get any report from our umpires, Messrs. Moriarty and Geisel, that Chapman deliberately had spiked Myer. Apparently it was a play such as we see very often—an effort by a runner to prevent a double play.

"I felt that Chapman's assault on Myer had been provoked. I also believe that Chapman's assault on Whitehill was provoked, but with all that, Chapman had no right to strike either Myer or Whitehill.

"All the facts evening themselves up, I decided that, with a warning, five days and $100 would be sufficient punishment. I have told the New York and Washington clubs that the players must pay their own fines and have called the attention of the two clubs to our rule which makes it mandatory for players to pay these assessments out of their own pockets."

Rudy Dusek Due Garibaldi Match

Turner Shifts Program to Wednesday; 4 Other Bouts Booked.

Rudy Dusek and Gino Garibaldi will appear in the feature bout of the weekly wrestling show to be held at the Auditorium Wednesday night. The matches have been moved up a night because of Promoter Joe Turner's inability to secure the arena Thursday.

Dusek and Garibaldi clashed two weeks, and head-on at that. Gino tumbled out of the ring and Dusek fell within the enclosure. Both were counted out by Referee Cyclone Burns, but as Dusek was on the inside he received the verdict.

Wednesday's bout will be a finish struggle. A card of four supporting bouts will be announced tomorrow.

SMITHFIELD WANTS GAME.

EMERSON 10-7 VICTOR OVER CENTRAL

Injuries to Losers' Players Prove to Be Costly.

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL'S crippled baseball team bowed to Emerson Institute by a score of 10-7 in a loosely played game yesterday on the Monument Grounds.

Central outhit its rival, but the Prepmen combined their safeties with costly miscues of the opposition to score four runs in the sixth inning and assume a four-run lead which the Blue was unable to overcome.

STEWART HURLS NATS TO WIN OVER YANKS

Still heavily burdened by his managerial worries, Cronin could only smack out his second clean single of the day to give the Nats a running start in the tenth. Schulte laid down the conventional bunt to advance Cronin to second, and Joe Kuhel, who had been knocking down Yankee base hits all day, lined a soft single over Lazzeri's head to bring his boss in with the important run.

Pinch Hitters Failures.

Manager McCarthy martialed his pinch-hitting strength in a last desperate gesture, but Stewart disposed of Ruffing on a pop to Sewell and then struck out Lazzeri. Combs hit one on the handle for two bases to left, but Joe Sewell kindly dribbled one to Johnny Kerr for the convincing put-out.

Pipgras' shaky start gave the Nats two runs in the first when singles by Cronin and Schulte scored Bluege and Manush, who had walked. Bluege got on base in the second with a single to left and advanced around the circuit when Manush singled through short and Goslin dropped a Texas leaguer at Babe Ruth's feet. Shut out for five innings, during which they made only two hits, the Yanks penetrated Stewart's defense for the first time in the sixth when Joe Sewell mooched a walk and received free transportation home when Babe Ruth banked a ball into his favorite right field bleachers. Dickey caressed one into the same locality in the seventh to tie the score and when Sewell singled with one out in the eighth, the Yanks had the winning run on base.

Stewart called a halt to this threat when Ruth flied to center and Gehrig popped to Kuhel. All was quiet on the Yankee Stadium front thereafter until the Nats won the ball game in the tenth.

New Leaders In City Pin Tourney

Masonic Teams Roll to Front; Class B Doubles Changes.

NEW leaders took command in four divisions of the Washington city duckpin bowling tournament last night at the Lucky Strike alleys. The night was replete with good pinspilling as scores of mapleway artists battled for city championships.

Two Masonic League teams, Potomac and Stansbury, rolled into the lead in their respective classes. Potomac went to the fore in Section B with a score of 1,721, while Stansbury assumed the lead in Section C by virtue of its 1,720 total.

Rudy De Glantz and his partner, Harry Dixon, climbed the summit in Section B of the doubles competition with a combined total of 734. A new team topped all previous efforts in Section C, Shipp and Storey bowling 702.

Roosevelt and Central To Meet at Golf Today

Roosevelt High and Central High will inaugurate activities in the high school championship series today at East Potomac, with Junior Slater, J. E. Graves, A. Schriber and Louis Smith carrying the hopes of the Mount Pleasanters and Johnny Connelly, Rock Creek open champion, championing the cause of Roosevelt.

Md. and Washington In Lacrosse Contest

Fresh from its 7-3 triumph over Navy at Annapolis last week, Maryland's lacrosse team goes back into action today at College Park with Washington College, of Chestertown, Md., as its opponent. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Starting the Navy fray with a patched-up line, Maryland found itself outclassed by the Tars. But as play progressed the Terps' attack began to function and midway in the third period they overhauled their rivals and forged ahead to victory.

The same team that started against Navy will be used today. It is as follows: Goal, Pfau; point, Snyder; cover point, Silber; first defense, Rombro; second defense, Sothoron; center, Pugh; second attack, Wood; first attack, Hockensmith; outhome, Faber; in home, Vincent.

Stoefen and Shields in Finals

Rainville Beaten by Los Angeles Star, 6-2 and 6-3.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., April 28 (A. P.).—Lester Stoefen, of Los Angeles, moved into the finals of the Hot Springs tennis tournament here today with a victory over Marcel Rainvillle, Canadian Davis Cup player.

His back court game and cannon ball serves were a big factor in the ease with which the Californian took the first two sets, 6—2, 6—3. Then the Canadian star, after a determined rally, nosed out Stoefen, 10—8, in the third set, but the Californian came back in the fourth set to win, 6—3.

Stoefen will meet Francis X. Shields, of New York, in the finals tomorrow.

The tournament crowned a new women's champion, Mrs. Agnes Lamme, of Rye, N. Y., who scored a startling victory over Miss Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia, in straight sets.

The Philadelphia entry, ranked sixth nationally, played listlessly in the first set, which she dropped 6—1, and after a short-lived rally in the second set lost, 6—4.

Mrs. Lamme and Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, won the mixed doubles championship by outclassing Miss Hilleary and Dick Covington, of Asheville, N. C., 6—3, 6—2.

Shields and Stoefen smothered Bill Bragaw, of New York, and Charles Lockhart, of Pittsburgh, 6—0, 6—1, 6—2, in one of the semifinals matches in the men's doubles.

G. W. Netmen Beat Pittsburgh by 5 to 3

Special to The Washington Post.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 28.—George Washington University's tennis team defeated the Pitt net varsity today on the stadium courts by a score of 5 to 3. Billy O'Loughlin, Pitt ace, won his singles match and paired with Ganger to cop a doubles verdict, while the other local win was registered by Volmer in a singles fray with Murayama, of the visitors.

The visiting racket wielders played fine tennis in every match. Robinson and Pierce, of the visitors, both dropped their first set, but came back strongly to take the two deciding ones.

G. U. Frosh Are Beaten By Episcopal Netmen

Episcopal High School's powerful net team scored a decisive 8-1 victory over the Georgetown Freshmen racquet wielders at the Hilltop yesterday, running its string of consecutive victories to seven straight.

Lay defeated Jacobs, 6—2, 6—3. Williams defeated Eckenrode, 6—3, 6—3. Swift defeated Tassil, 6—0, 6—0. Dawson defeated Wulf, 6—0, 6—3. Christian defeated Shalers, 7—5, 6—4. Claiborne defeated Finan, 6—3, 6—3.

Middle Atlantic to Act As Golf "Clearing House"

THE Middle Atlantic Golf Association will be looked upon as a "clearing house" for the tournaments to be staged in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia, and clubs affiliated with any one of the four associations planning on events should notify the Middle Atlantic body in advance, it was decided last night at a meeting of officials and members of executive committees for the two States and District at the Columbia Country Club.

Particular emphasis was placed on the decision to permit the Middle Atlantic championship to have precedence over any other tournament in the section. This season's tournament will be held at the Rolling Road Club, Baltimore, June 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Close to 25 officials attended the meeting, most of which was taken up with informal discussions on various golf topics. No decision was reached on the plan to standardize a handicapping system among the Middle Atlantic, Maryland State, Virginia State and District associations.

G. W. Defeats Delaware, Pounding 3 Hurlers, 15-4

Fenlon Leads Revengeful Attack With Four Hits for Perfect Night; Weingartner Allows 4 Safeties and Fans 9.

A BURNING desire for revenge, and plenty of it, put dynamite in the bats of George Washington's young team as it pounded out a 15-to-4 victory over the University of Delaware in the second game of their series last night at Griffith Stadium. The visitors had their batting practice the night before when they drove the Colonials to cover under the fire in a 12-to-2 victory.

Johnny Fenlon, stocky George Washington third baseman, led his team's attack with four hits in as many appearances at the plate. But Bill Albert's sock to deep left-center for a home run was the big punch in the attack.

Delaware got to Weingartner for three runs in the first inning, but was virtually held in check thereafter. The big fellow held his opponents to four hits and fanned nine.

Three four-run innings put the game safely in the bag for the District Collegians. Two Delaware pitchers were driven to the showers and the third treated rather roughly.

Seven boxing matches preceded the baseball game, all of which were well received by the 4,500 fans present.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE Federal Radio Commission yesterday granted Station WJSV permission to remain on the air at the present location—on the Mount Vernon highway, midway between Washington and Alexandria—for a period of three months in order to complete tests with the directional antenna recently installed. The commission previously ordered WJSV off the air May 1 because of alleged interference with the experiments being conducted by the Naval Research Laboratory, located a mile away.

The Navy Department gave its consent to this extension "in an effort to cooperate in giving Station WJSV every reasonable opportunity to overcome the difficulties in which it finds itself, on condition that WJSV, in an equal spirit of cooperation, agrees that if they have not within that time eliminated such interference to the satisfaction of the commission and the Navy Department, they will on August 1, 1933, cease operation and will, with the approval of the commission, remove to a new and more satisfactory location."

"The action of the Federal Radio Commission in granting a further extension of the permit to operate the station at its present location is, of course, very gratifying, particularly as it comes with the full approval of the Navy Department," said Harry C. Butcher, general manager of WJSV. "The Navy has cooperated finally in helping us to minimize the interference at the Bellevue laboratories, which was the basis of the Navy complaint.

"The additional tests will in no way affect listeners."

In order to give radio listeners a more vivid picture of the world championship indoor polo finals from Chicago tonight, a parabolic microphone, such as was used to pick up the national political conventions last summer, will be installed at the side of the field by technicians.

Engineers are experimenting to get sound effects of the colorful and dramatic clash which will be broadcast over WMAL at 11:30 p. m.

The thud of ponies' hoofs on the tanbark, the swish of mallets, the creaking of saddle leather and the impact of hard riding players will give an added zest to the broadcast as the aces of the sport ride for the highest honors of the game.

The Shaw University Choral Society, a Negro choir of 40 voices under the leadership of Harry Gil-Smythe, pianist, will be heard in a half-hour program this afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, WEAF network.

Gabrilowitsch, pianist and symphonic conductor, will be the soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Serge Koussevitzky conducting, when the final broadcast concert is presented over WMAL at 8:15 p. m. The program, which will complete the Brahms festival cycle, will open with the Academic Overture. Gabrilowitsch will be featured during the playing of the pianoforte concerto in B-flat, No. 2, and the symphony in C minor, No. 1, will be played in conclusion.

Senator William E. Borah, member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, will be interrogated by Frederic William Wile over WMAL, 7 p. m. Wile will query Senator Borah on the status of intergovernmental debts and tariff revision, which problems have been brought to the foreground in recent conferences of President Roosevelt, Premier MacDonald, of Great Britain; M. Herriot, of France, and Prime Minister Bennett, of Canada.

Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, will be the speaker during the Institute of Public Affairs over WJSV tonight at 10:15 o'clock. His topic will be "The American Legion in Service of God and Country." His remarks will be picked up from New York City, where the legionnaires are holding a dinner.

Harry Reser, banjoist, who runs a correspondence course in banjo playing, says a statistical survey of his "school" shows that prisoners, sailors and boys in love are his biggest groups of pupils. He also has several Chinese and a man in New Zealand enrolled in his remote control plunking classes.

Outstanding features of the Penn relays, annual track and field carnival of the University of Pennsylvania, will be described during a broadcast from Franklin Field in Philadelphia this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock over WMAL-WJZ network.

Welcome Lewis the other night during rehearsal insisted the violinist was not playing his notes correctly.

"You can have the fiddle if you can do better," the fiddler insisted.

Welcome picked up the violin and showed him how. She then confessed to the bandsmen that she played violin in vaudeville and in several orchestra pits and has studied the instrument since childhood.

THE Cup Final, English football classic comparing to the World Series in the United States, will be heard in America for the first time today.

Two north country teams, Everton and Manchester, meet for the title this year. They will play in Wembley Stadium before King George and some 150,000 of his subjects. The broadcast in this country will start over WRC at 10:15 a. m., being picked up from the British Broadcasting Corporation Empire beam transmitter.

John S. Young, announcer, has received a daily fan letter from Boston signed "Your Bay State Listener," for the past five years. He says the writer—and he thinks it's a woman—already has spent something like $24 in postage stamps.

Albert S. Hangar, vice president of J. E. Hangar, Inc., will speak over WJSV tonight at 7:30 o'clock, as the eleventh speaker in a series on "Leading Industries of Washington," arranged by the Chamber of Commerce.

"Travelin'" is the title of the opening number the Boswell Sisters will present over WJSV at 9:15 p. m., from Tulsa, Okla. That song means a lot to the girls these days, as they move to a different town every day. They also sing "Grass Is Getting Greener All the Time," "Lazy Sliv'ry Moon" and "Stay on the Right Side of the Road"—always a good rule for travelers to keep in mind.

REPRESENTATIVE WRIGHT PATMAN, of Texas, will discuss "Currency Inflation" over WJSV at 9:30 p. m.

During the course of his talk he will advise against the proposed formation of another "bonus army." It was to await passage of Patman's probonus legislation that the B. E. F. marched and settled in the Capital City last year. Representative Patman has been criticized for allegedly encouraging the boys to come to Washington when there was no hope for his bill passing.

Compositions by the Scandinavian composers, Kjerulf and Grondahl, will be featured by Sigurd the Viking in his song recital over WJSV this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

SENOR ORTIZ TIRADO, leading tenor of Mexico's National Opera Company, will appear in the first of a series of concerts over WRC at 8 p. m.

Senor Tirado is a native of Mexico's capital city. He was educated at the National University of Mexico, where he studied medicine, and later studied voice.

Tirado will sing the classics of Spain and Mexico, and also will introduce the lighter music of his people. Songs of the fiesta and of Mexico City's gay music halls will be featured as well.

He comes from one of the oldest families in Mexico, and is a cousin of Senor Enrique Ruis, consul general for Mexico in New York.

Ostrich Egg Sent To Park Manager

Denver Aids Mail First One Laid to Colleague Visiting in Ohio.

Denver, Colo., April 28 (A.P.).—There's a present en route to W. B. Lowry in Youngstown, Ohio—and what a present! It's the ostrich egg he asked for several months ago and it weighs 2 pounds 13.5 ounces.

It's rather an important egg because it's the first one ever laid in Denver. Sudan, who shares the City Park Zoo with two other birds, Shiek and Sahara, laid the egg.

Lowry, City Parks manager, who is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Lowry Glacer, in Youngstown, put in his requisition for the first ostrich egg long ago. His office staff hard boiled it, packed it in tissue paper and mailed it to him.

HOUSE TO CONTINUE LOWELL ACT PROBE

Editor Denies Reports That Loudoun County Plans Mass Meeting.

(Associated Press.)

Further consideration next week by the House Judiciary Committee of the Smith resolution to investigate the official conduct of Federal Judge James A. Lowell, of Boston, was promised yesterday after the committee discussed it briefly and informally.

Chairman Sumners (Democrat), Texas, of the committee said merely that the matter was "under consideration," but it was understood that at its next meeting the committee will make an effort to define the scope of the inquiry.

As the preliminary discussion took place in the committee, reports reached here that a mass meeting of protest against Lowell's decision freeing George Crawford, Negro, was planned in Loudoun County, Va., where Crawford is wanted on charges of murder.

Protest Meeting Off.

At Leesburg, the county seat, the reports were discredited. R. T. Corbell, managing editor of the Loudoun County Mirror, said a suggestion that an indignation meeting be held was made by Crandal Mackey, Arlington County lawyer, in a letter to a citizen of the community, but that "sentiment was against it."

Corbell said a check-up of sentiment in the area showed strong disposition against any demonstration of any kind while the return of Crawford to Virginia remains unsettled.

Ely Pledges Cooperation.

Richmond, Va., April 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Pollard and Attorney General John R. Saunders today reviewed the Virginia angles in the George Crawford case on appeal before the United State Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston May 23, and announced their readiness to cooperate with Massachusetts authorities in any way desired.

Pollard today received a letter from Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts which asserted that the decision of Judge James A. Lowell in the Crawford case had been improperly "magnified and exploited in major proportions."

He said he appreciated Gov. Pollard's deprecation of abuse of the judge in the case, and assured the Virginia executive that the State of Massachusetts would continue its cooperation with Virginia to the end "that there may be no miscarriage of justice."

Drive Organized For Negro Bank

Subscriptions to Capital Are Started at Citizens' Mass Meeting.

A determined drive for a colored national bank was organized last night at a mass meeting in the auditorium of Garnett Patterson Junior High School under auspices of a citizens' committee and officers of the Industrial Savings Bank. A subscription approximating $53,000 toward a $200,000 capitalization of the proposed bank was announced following the meeting.

The proposal to sell 10,000 shares of capital stock, of a par value of $20, for $25 each, was indorsed unanimously. Men and women from various walks of life, spoke with much feeling of the long service rendered by the Industrial Savings Bank and the need for a national bank for the uptown community.

Jesse W. Lewis, head of the department of finance of Howard University, presided. The meeting was addressed by Elder Michaux, the Rev. E. L. Harrison, Marie Madre Marshall, William L. Stevenson, the Rev. W. H. Jernagin, Jesse H. Mitchell, W. H. C. Brown and J. A. Jackson, specialist of the Department of Commerce.

The drive is calculated to convert the Industrial Savings Bank into a national bank without receivership. Committees were named to carry on the campaign.

Gulf Stream Cited As Weather Finder

Future Prophets May Go to Sea to Predict Land Changes.

Another virtue of the Gulf Stream—that great current of warm water that bisects the Atlantic—has been discovered.

Already known as the conveyor of warmth to the latitudes of northern Europe, which would be sub-Arctic without it, its effect on the weather of the eastern United States is being studied.

Conclusions from the study, presented yesterday before the American Geophysical Union by Charles F. Brooks and E. Monroe Harwood, of Harvard University, indicate that the weather man of the future may go to sea to forecast land weather.

By putting a thermometer in the Gulf Stream this forecast may be made. For, it was reported, there is a close similarity between changes in temperature in the Gulf Stream and on land.

Thieves Loot Virginia Store of Much Stock

The store of George Byrne, on the Lee-Jackson highway, near Annandale, Va., was virtually stripped of its entire stock by burglars Thursday night.

When Mr. Byrne went to open his store yesterday he found that he had very little merchandise to sell.

County Officers to Be Sworn.

Following arrival of the long awaited commissions for Prince Georges County magistrates and notaries, arrangements are being made to have the officers and notaries sworn in immediately, Brice Bowie, clerk of the circuit court, has announced. Mr. Bowie will be at Mount Rainier at 5 p. m. today and later at Hyattsville. Tonight he will be at Berwyn and Laurel.

ACCORD IN TRAFFIC CODE ROW, SOUGHT

Corporation Counsel William W. Bride yesterday sought a reconciliation of the conflicting views with regard to the authority of the Public Utilities Commission over traffic matters in the hope of saving the new traffic code. Conferences will be resumed early next week between representatives of the commission and the Traffic Advisory Council, which are at odds.

It is believed that a compromise may yet be reached and that the new code, which is a coordination and simplification of the District's traffic regulations, will be adopted by the Commissioners, though possibly after Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, its chief instigator, has left the District service.

The Public Utilities Commission, while approving the code in general, proposed certain changes which the Traffic Advisory Council and Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer would not accept. Mr. Bride suggested a clause which would set forth that the code would not conflict with any traffic authority accorded the commission in the public utility act, but neither side was willing to accept the cmopromise alone.

The new code has been under revision now for several months since it was originally drafted by the advisory council and the traffic director.

FREE SHOW SLATED TODAY FOR YOUTHS

Loew's Fox Is Host This Morning; Attendance at Church Is Stressed.

Any boy in Washington, 18 or younger, will be admitted free to the special show at the Fox Theater this morning, which marks the opening of the city-wide celebration of National Boys' Week, according to S. Percy Thompson, chairman of the Board of Trade committee which is sponsoring the city-wide celebration.

Today is known as "Loyalty Day" and in accordance with plans made by the 14 organizations which are taking part in Boys' Week, a delegation representing the boys of the city will call on Commissioner Reichelderfer at 10:15 a. m. and will pledge their loyalty to the city and obedience to its laws. Another delegation, representing the Boys' Club of Washington, will call on Maj. Ernest W. Brown, superintendent of police, and pledge their loyalty and cooperation.

Ceremonies at the Fox Theater will be confined to a short talk by Harrison E. Howe, member of the Board of Trade Boys' Week committee, who will explain the purpose of Boys' Week. The balance of the program will be devoted to the showing of a special picture arranged by Carter Barron, Washington representative of the Loew interests.

Representative Fred A. Hartley, of New Jersey, author of the District boxing bill and an interested worker with boys, outlined the purpose of Boys' Week in a talk over Station WJSV last night. In connection with Representative Hartley's talk, a program was given by the Boys Harmonica Band of the Boys Club of Washington.

Ministers of the city have been asked to give special mention to Boys' Week in their sermons tomorrow and each of the fourteen organizations taking part in the program is making special efforts to get every boy to attend church on that day.

Brave Retired Officer Girds For Town Balloting Battle

A distinguished officer of the Army, now retired, whose bravery has won for him the Distinguished Service Medal, the French Legion of Honor, the Croix de Guerre with palm, as well as the British Order of St. Michael and St. George, will be a participant in another type of battle next Monday at Takoma Park, Md.—this time a battle of the ballots.

He is Lieut. Col. Arthur L. Conger, a resident of Takoma Park, who has been nominated for a two-year term on the town council. The vote will be held on Monday. At the present time Lieut. Col. Conger is serving by appointment on the town council, filling out the unexpired term of Councilman Ware.

Col. Conger is from Akron, Ohio, and is 61 years old. He was graduated from Harvard in 1894 and served in Cuba in 1898 with the Twelfth New York Volunteer Infantry. He won a commission as second lieutenant of Infantry on September 9, 1898, and was immediately ordered to Manila.

There he won the Silver Star for gallantry when leading a detachment of the Eighteenth Infantry against a much superior force of insurrectos, his detachment killing a large number of them and capturing their leader.

He was on the Mexican Border in 1916 and in France as commander of the Fifty-sixth Brigade. He is a graduate of the Infantry Cavalry School, 1906, the General Staff College, 1907, and of the Army War College in 1920. In 1924-27 he served as Military Attache at Berlin, and was retired at his own request after 30 years of service in 1928.

Close political observers in Takoma Park predict that Col. Conger will succeed in the approaching battle of ballots as well as he has succeeded in previous battles of bullets and bolo knives.

Affray Suspect Jailed For Fine Nonpayment

Appearing in Marlboro Police Court to answer a charge of assault and battery on John Moore, of Forestville, Md., a relative, Forest Smith, also of Forestville, was apprehended yesterday on a charge of failing to pay a fine of $150, imposed last January. Smith, fined $5 and costs on the more recent charge by Judge J. Chew Sheriff, was then turned over to the custody of Sheriff W. C. Hopkins. A jail sentence of 90 days also was meted out.

ARLINGTON DRIVERS NEAR TAG DEADLINE

Those Without 1933 State Licenses Must Get Them Today.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Tomorrow midnight is the dead line for 1933 automobile tags. J. V. Turner, distributor for tags in this section, announced last night that he will close his office at East Falls Church tonight at 6 o'clock.

According to the records in his office there are still approximately 3,000 motorists who have failed to obtain their licenses.

There will be no extension of time allowed and all persons operating automobiles on Monday not equipped with 1933 tags will be subject to arrest and a fine in the county court.

Tags are not being sold at any place other than at Mr. Turner's office at East Falls Church.

County Treasurer Charles T. Jesse last night called attention to the fact that capitation taxes must be paid on or before Saturday, May 6, to permit voters to participate in the Democratic primary August 1 and in the November election. Jesse pointed out that at the primary the voters will select their candidate for governor, United States senator and a member of the House of Delegates from Arlington County.

The County Board at an adourned meeting today at the courthouse, will lay the tax levy for that portion of East Falls Church which lies within Arlington County.

The board will, it is understood, also act on a request of the county school board for a loan with which to pay the monthly pay roll of teachers.

2 Men Sentenced In Roadhouse Row

The excuse that a police cartridge belt was used in the technicality of trouser-suspension, and that a police whistle and badge didn't belong to him, yesterday failed to save Asie Cox, of Gambrills, Md., from a sentence of eight months in the House of Correction, when tried in Prince Georges Police Court at Marlboro.

Cox, in company with his two brothers, Basil R. Cox, who was also sentenced to serve four months, and Virgil R. Cox, are alleged to have engaged in a fight at a roadhouse in Queen Anne after Asie displayed police authority.

During the melee that followed, George Hamilton and Henry Hamilton, both of the Queen Anne section, and several other guests of the house, were severely cut with a knife. Besides the first two sentences, both of which were based on two charges each of assault and battery, Judge J. Chew Sheriff fined Virgil Cox, Harold Steiner and William Franklin $5 and costs for disorderly conduct.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE snail can well lay claim to the title of nature's own sword walker. It needs no tricks or illusions, not even specially toughened skin, to climb right up on the sharp edge of a keen razor without so much as a scratch on its skin. An edge that would easily cut the human skin can be crawled on with impunity by the lowly snail.

The barnyard porker once played an important part in the watchmaking art. It was his bristles that were the life and heart of the finest timepieces—the hairspring. Until 1656 the skill of the metal worker could not match the ordinary hog in making hairsprings for watches. Since then, however, metal springs have been developed that are more accurate and practical than pig bristles.

Firemen will tell you that water is useless in fighting burning gasoline, but in a unique fire in Kansas City water proved highly effective. A 16,000-gallon gasoline tank, being drained through a valve at the bottom, caught fire at the valve. Firemen were unable to close the valve, and chemicals did not extinguish the blaze. One resourceful fireman poured water into the top of the tank. Being heavier than gasoline, the water sank to the bottom of the tank, where it entered the valve and cut off the burning gasoline.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

OLD DR. ROOSEVELT.

DR. ROOSEVELT (as the patient comes out of the coma)—How do you feel now?

Uncle Sam (still pretty dazed)—What's happened to me, anyhow?

Dr. Roosevelt—I told you to keep out of here, Huey. A sickroom is no place for you.

Huey (disappearing with a loud chortle)—Says you!

Dr. Roosevelt—Lemme see your tongue?

Uncle Sam (amazed)—My tongue?

Dr. Roosevelt—Of course, your tongue.

Uncle Sam—That's funny. For the last few years every time the boys wanted to see what was wrong with me they would look at Europe's tongue. Once when I had a pain in my back they even put the hot-water bottle on Great Britain.

Dr. Roosevelt—You're under new doctors now. (As Uncle Sam shows his tongue). My! It's much better, isn't it?

Huey Long (suddenly opening a window and peering in)—You're kidding each other. His tongue is the same as it's been for years.

Dr. Roosevelt (throwing a bottle at the window)—Drat that kid!

Uncle Sam (brushing his hand across his forehead)—I feel awfully funny. Sort of shaken up. What's happened to me?

Dr. Roosevelt (proudly—We've been giving you pretty radical treatment for the last two months.

Uncle Sam (with a sigh)—It's time for those R. I. capsules, ain't it doctor?

Dr. Roosevelt—What are R. I. casules?

Uncle Sam—Rugged Individualism.

Dr. Roosevelt—Oh, I threw those into the furnace long ago.

Uncle Sam (his face brightening)—They weren't doing me any good. How about the R. F. C. tablets?

Dr. Roosevelt—I'm tapering you off on those a little.

Uncle Sam—What's in all these new bottles on the table?

Dr. Roosevelt — Oh, that's some Banking Control Elixer in the green bottle. The red one contains Farm Mortgage Liniment, and that little round box holds Muscle Shoals Pink Pills. But I'm going to try something else on you this morning.

Uncle Sam (apprehensively)—What's it this time.

Dr. Roosevelt (holding up a box of yeast)—I want you to take this entire box.

Uncle Sam (terrified)—All at once?

Dr. Roosevelt—That's nothing. You may have to take barrels of it before I get through.

Uncle Sam (examining the stuff)—What is it?

Dr. Roosevelt—It's Columbia Inflation Yeast.

Uncle Sam—I had something like that 60 or 70 years ago and it nearly killed me. What'll it do to me?

Dr. Roosevelt—Well, we can't tell exactly. If it works all right it'll make a new man of you.

Uncle Sam—But if it doesn't?

Dr. Roosevelt—Then we'll have to begin all over again!

SOUNDS OMINOUS.

These are bitter days for reformers. On a recent card at the Havre de Grace track, Mixed Party won the first race, Decanter was third in the second and On Tap won the third.

And it may have been a sign of the times that on the same day at Tanforan First Mortgage was a winner over Morale.

Secretary Woodin now offers bonds to small investors. How about lending us the money to buy them? Where will he get the money? From the receipts of the last sale of bonds to us, silly!

The brewers admit that the first beer was weak. They're telling us!

U. S. CHAMBER TOLD CHEST EXPENSE CUT DOWN TO MINIMUM

Relief Facilities Increased 27 Per Cent as Cost Drops to 5.37.

Although the number of families obtaining relief from social agencies has increased more than 27 per cent, the cost of relief administration by the Community Chest has been cut to a minimum, it was stated last night at the fifth annual meeting at the United States Chamber of Commerce.

William Flather, jr., treasurer of the Chest, reported that the cost of raising and administering funds during 1932 was only 5.37 per cent of the funds collected. The Chest, he stated, was forced last year to expend funds collected to suffice for a full year within eleven months.

A deficit now existing, he asserted, was due to accumulated shortages and would be provided for in future budgets. The report of Joshua Evans, jr., chairman of the budget committee, was presented by Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest. Mr. Evans was ill.

King Promises U. S. Aid.

His report contained the fact that due to a campaign deficit the budget for 1933 contained a shortage of almost $1,000,000. Only planning of distribution of funds made possible the relief accorded the needy of this city, the report said.

Senator William H. King, of Utah, addressed the meeting. He told Chest members that they should support their agencies to the limit and that Congress would do its share.

J. Bernard Wyckoff, member of the Chest's executive committee, presented the report of the campaign committee for Arthur Hellen, vice chairman of the committee, who also was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

Private Aid Generous.

Private funds here have carried more of the relief burden as compared with the relief afforded from public sources than has been the case in other cities, it was stated in the report.

Mr. Street presented his report of the year's activities, illustrating it with slides. He reported the difficulties of providing relief with inadequate funds and explained the necessity of unified community planning and action in relief work.

Edwin C. Graham, president of the Chest, presided at the meeting. He praised the work of committees and of administrators of relief.

Frederic Delano Speaks.

Frederic A. Delano addressed the meeting. He explained the need of continued work to alleviate hardship and suffering.

The cost of national relief this year will be approximately $1,500,000,000, Harry Hopkins, chairman of the temporary relief administration of New York, told members attending the meeting.

This bill, he stated, could not possibly be paid by public agencies. The staggering figure was far beyond the Federal Government's coffers, he asserted. Only by the participation of city and State governments could the bill be met, Mr. Hopkins said.

Board of Trustees.

SWANSON IS VISITED BY SPANISH SAILORS

Company of Man o' War Also Goes to Annapolis; at Navy Yard Today.

The Juan Sebastian de Elcano, a Spanish man o' war, is tied up at the navy yard and her crew of officers, midshipmen and enlisted men from the overseas republic are paying a five-day visit to the Capital.

Under the command of Capt. Fragats Lopez y Cortijo, the ship is on an extensive training cruise. Eighteen officers, 42 midshipmen, 22 petty officers and 150 enlisted men, one Mexican naval officer and four Mexican midshipmen are on board.

Capt. Lopez called yesterday on Secretary of the Navy Swanson, Assistant Secretary of the Navy Henry L. Roosevelt, and Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of Naval Operations. He was accompanied by Commander Federico Monreal y Pilon, naval attache of the Spanish Embassy here.

The visit of the Juan Sebastian de Elcano marks the first time in a number of years that a Spanish man o' war has come to the Capital.

Yesterday the visitors went to Annapolis, where they were the guests of the officers and midshipmen of the Naval Academy. Last night special entertainment was provided at the recreation center of the navy yard for the enlisted men of the Elcano.

At 8:30 a. m. today the company of the Elcano will visit the Washington Navy Yard. At 10 a. m. the Spanish midshipmen will inspect the Naval Air Station, Anacostia, and later will make a sightseeing tour of Washington. At 3:30 p. m. the visitors will be guests of Georgetown University and at 8 p. m. the officers of the Elcano will be guests at a dinner dance at the Army and Navy Country Club.

At 1 p. m. Monday the Assistant Secretary of the Navy will give a luncheon at the Mayflower Hotel.

Walsh Cites Mob Act In Appeal Against Reds

The act of a mob of Iowa farmers in dragging a judge from his bench and attacking him for refusing to promise to sign no more mortgage foreclosures was cited last night by Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, as "a warning to the small interested group who would bring relief to a hostile Soviet government by bartering public welfare for private gain."

Opposing recognition of the Soviet in the last of a series of ten public lectures dealing with Communism, Dr. Walsh declared that the proponents of recognition for the most part represent trade interests who are "advocating not only compromise of American principles but agitating for a public fund, to guarantee their paltry volume of Russian business."

PROBE IS LAUNCHED IN POLICE CONDUCT

Man Suspended Pending Investigation of Alleged Striking of Boy.

H. C. Hinton, Third Precinct policeman, was suspended from the police force yesterday pending investigation by officials of a fracas in an alley near his home at Georgia avenue and Decatur street northwest Thursday, when he is alleged to have struck a schoolboy over the head with his baton and drawn his service revolver.

According to James J. Sheehy, 18, and his younger brother, Clay, 15, of 4711 Georgia avenue, they were playing ball in the alley when the policeman, off duty, but attired in uniform, came up and grabbed them by the belts.

James said he jerked away from the policeman and started to run up the alley. He said Hinton hurled his baton at him and when he picked up the stick the policeman drew his revolver and demanded it. He said he then dropped the baton and walked into his back yard, whereupon Hinton followed, he said, and after struggling to open the gate struck the youth over the head with the baton.

Hinton did not take the boys into custody, but swore out warrants charging them with playing ball in the street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sheehy complained to Maj. Ernest W. Brown, who immediately launched an investigation in charge of Inspector T. R. Bean.

Patrick Criticizes Takoma Citizens

Utilities Head Says Group Censures Commission Unjustly.

The Public Utilities Commission, through its chairman, Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, yesterday forwarded to the House District Committee copies of letters criticizing the Citizens Association of Takoma, D. C., for its alleged failure to ascertain the facts before attacking the commission.

The commission charged that the association censured the commission's action on telephone rate reduction without proper inquiry. It stated that George Sullivan, chairman of the committee's utilities committee, had not seen fit to keep appointments made with him for the purpose of correcting misleading information.

Commenting on another of the association's resolutions, dealing with court procedure where a utility appealed from the commission's orders, Chairman Patrick said "common fairness" should have prompted framers of the resolution to ascertain the facts.

P. U. C. CHALLENGES PHONE REGULATIONS LAID DOWN BY I. C. C.

Files Brief Charging Local Jurisdiction Has Been Invaded.

The Public Utilities Commission yesterday hurled an emphatic challenge at the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission over intrastate accounts and depreciation charges of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. and contended that Congress vested the District agency with "full and adequate power to regulate the accounts of utilities operating in the District of Columbia."

In an exhaustive brief citing authorities for the Public Utilites Commission's contention, Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, and William A. Roberts, special assistant counsel, ask the I. C. C. to rescind its orders calling for a uniform classification of telephone accounts and exercising jurisdiction over all telephone depreciation charges.

Jurisdiction Disputed.

The memorandum, which follows a much shorter memorandum filed with the I. C. C. about 10 days ago, when a hearing was granted the District commission and a dozen State public service commissions, points out that both the Public Utilities Commission and the I. C. C. are administrative bodies, with authorities specified by Congress.

Although Congress gave the I. C. C. jurisdiction over certain local utility matters, it later "withdrew these powers and transferred them with great amplification to the Public Utilities Commission," the brief states. An exercise by the I. C. C. of exclusive jurisdiction over telephone accounts "would result in an invasion of the inherent and reserved rights of the States to require information for purposes of regulation from public utility corporations operating within their boundaries," it adds.

Principles Proposed.

Warning that "any attempted exercise of conflicting authority can only result in the frustration of the regulatory efforts of the two commissions having the same objective," the Public Utilities Commission urges the I. C. C. "to adopt as its basic principle in the exercise of its power over interstate commerce operations of telephone carriers, the establishment of primary jurisdiction in the State or local regulatory body, with provision for review only in such cases as are clearly beyond the sole jurisdiction of the local commission or in instances where a direct burden of interstate commerce by the local action is shown."

Pair Is Sentenced To Death in Chair

Goodman and Pitmond to Pay With Lives for Slaying of Watchman.

A sentence of death was imposed on Joe Goodman and George McKinley Pitmond, both colored, yesterday when they were called before Chief Justice A. A. Wheat in District Supreme Court. They were sentenced to be electrocuted on October 17.

The pair was convicted of the slaying of William Simms, colored, night watchman at the Dickey Bros. Feed Co., in Kenilworth, on the night of January 22. They were found guilty of having forced their way into the feed store office where they confronted Simms with weapons. When he refused to give them money, he was beaten with an iron bar, and the next day was found dead in the company's office.

Assistant United States Attorney Irving Goldstein prosecuted.

Capital Slayer Draws 15-Year Jail Sentence

For the slaying of Jesse Wood, colored, Wilbur Briscoe, also colored, yesterday was sentenced to serve fifteen years in jail by Justice Daniel A. O'Donoghue, in the District Supreme Court.

Wood, it was shown, through Assistant United States Attorney James Kirkland, was shot and killed last January in his home at 1234 Sixth street northwest. A codefendant, William S. Johnson, was acquitted by the jury, which was faced with an indictment charging both men with first degree murder.

Former Galapagos Island Citizens Find Home in Zoo

2 Flightless Cormorants, 4 Penguins and 10 Boobies Arrive.

Four penguins, two flightless cormorants and ten boobies all feathery denizens of the Galapagos Islands, were received at the zoo yesterday and duly installed in suitable quarters.

The acquisitions are presented from the San Diego Zoo. They were brought back by an expedition sponsored by a wealthy Californian. Dr. William M. Mann, curator of the zoo, expressed considerable gratification at getting them.

The penguins are very docile birds. They do not shy from human beings nor do they seem alarmed at the noises of civilization. They were quite at home yesterday in the main cage in the big bird house at the zoo. Their plumage is of a very dark, glossy grey and their white breasts present a comely contrast.

The flightless cormorants are just that. About the size of a turkey, they are of a dull slate color although more grotesque appearing to persons more familiar with the barnyard fowl. Their wings are not of such dimensions as to enable them to fly, although the appendages do help them in leaping from water to land.

FLIGHTLESS CORMORANT.

The boobies are sluggish-looking birds whose name apparently derives from their apathy to everything in general. They are squat, dark-speckled birds and are, like the other two new species at the zoo, amphibious.

ART LEADERS VIEW LIGHTING EFFECTS

Association Conclave Ends With Exposition, Dance and Entertainment.

How special lighting may bring out color and beauty in things which the eye does not ordinarily see was demonstrated yesterday at the general session of the Eastern Arts Association's convention by H. T. Strong, color specialist.

The day's events closed with an elaborate "ship" entertainment and dance in the east ballroom of Wardman Park Hotel, given to the delegates by the exhibitors.

Various sections of the convention met for discussions yesterday. Addresses by Egmont Arens and Mrs. Hazel Dell Brown featured the fine arts division's gathering.

Dr. Fred Strickler, of Columbia University, lectured on "Industrial Arts—a Fundamental in Education" before the industrial arts section.

Many persons visited the exhibits, which are located at the following places:

Fine Arts, National Museum; Industrial Arts, McKinley High School, John F. Cook School and the Armstrong School, and Home Economics, the Dennison Vocational School, Margaret M. Washington School, Francis School and Armstrong School.

Daylight Saving Time Due in Certain Cities

Though clocks in Washington will not be affected, Washingtonians should be aware of the fact that daylight saving time in certain cities goes into effect at 2 a. m. tomorrow. As a result radio programs, train schedules and other schedules will be one hour ahead of Washington time.

New York and other cities usually having daylight saving time during the summer months will be an hour ahead of Washington again. The complete list has not been announced.

BILL IN SENATE ASKS UTILITIES TAX RAISE

Capper Again Urges Boost on Phone, Gas, Trolley and Electric Lines.

Senator Arthur Capper (Republican), Kansas, former chairman of the Senate District Committee, yesterday reintroduced a redraft of his bill to boost the tax rate on District utilities. He estimated the measure would yield $1,000,000 annually.

The bill would provide a "gross-net" tax. Under the present system, some utilities pay a 4 per cent tax on gross earnings, and others 5 per cent, while the street car companies pay 4 per cent on gross receipts.

The measure introduced yesterday would provide a 4 per cent tax on the gross receipts of gas, electric, street railway and telephone companies, and, in addition, a 6 per cent tax on net receipts. These taxes would be over and above the existing real estate tax.

The measure also deals with bank taxation, but leaves present rates practically undisturbed, Senator Capper pointing out that local bank taxes are already high as compared with the rest of the country. Tax deductions by banks, however, would be limited to interest paid on bona fide savings accounts.

So far as steam railroads are concerned, the bill would make taxable such structures as tunnels, bridges and viaducts, now exempt, and, in addition, a license tax based on the value of their property in the District.

Senator Capper offered a somewhat similar bill last session, in connection with his committee's study of the Mapes tax program. It was submitted to the Bureau of Efficiency, the Commissioners and the Public Utilities Commission for revision. As introduced yesterday, it largely conforms with a redraft prepared by a committee appointed by the District Commissioners.

Dr. Theodore Maynard, professor of English at Georgetown University, will read some of his own poems at the luncheon meeting, at 1:15 p. m. today, of the American Association of University Women at their clubhouse, 1634 I street northwest. He will be introduced by Miss Mary Louise Brown. Mrs. Richard Hague will preside.

WAR DENIES RIGHTS OF NEUTRAL NATION, LAW SESSION TOLD

Charles Warren Addresses American Society at Convention Here.

Rights of neutral nations do not exist, it was said last night at the convention of the American Society of International Law.

Neutral rights, Charles Warren, former Assistant Attorney General, told the assemblage, "mean the least privileges which a belligerent nation thinks it could afford to grant to a neutral without serious risk of dragging the neutral into the war."

Conclusion Is Obvious.

This conclusion is obvious, he said, when history is read realistically and not legalistically. He, and Philip C. Jessup, of Columbia University, discussed neutrality before the night session, held jointly with the Fifth Conference of Teachers of International Law.

"What we need in international affairs," he said, "is a little more of Mr. Bryan's spirit when he said to the ambassador: 'There is no last word between friends.'

"The lawyer must perforce think more in terms of the legal rights of his client and less upon the effect of his insistence upon his rights. That is why secretaries of State ought not to be lawyers."

Embargo and Intervention.

At the session earlier in the day embargoes and intervention and their use as coercive methods against imperialism and wars of aggression were under general discussion.

The convention will close with a dinner at the hotel at 7:30 o'clock tonight, at which the speakers will be Secretary of State Hull, Chairman Pittman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee; Chairman McReynolds of the House Foreign Relations Committee, and President Emeritus A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard University.

Vice Squad Holds Pair On Home Brew Charge

Buddy Myers, 27, of 1900 Nineteenth street northwest, was arrested yesterday on charges of sale and possession of home brewed beer with alcoholic content far in excess of 3.2. He was apprehended by Detectives H. G. Bauer and R. E. Blick, of the Vice Squad, when duped into making a delivery. He was charged with sale of three pints and possession of 30 pints.

Federation Also Indorses Tomorrow's Observance of President's Day.

Observance of President's day tomorrow was indorsed by the Federation of Civic Associations at a meeting last night in the board room at the District Building. The federation also requested its constituent associations to support organization of a colored national bank as proposed by a citizens' committee acting jointly with officers of the Industrial Savings Bank.

The legislative committee was directed to make a study of home loan mortgage legislation and present the results at the next meeting. This committee was directed also to join other civic organizations interested in development of community center legislation.

On the matter of affiliation with a national Negro lobby to insure adequate representation of the Negro before Congress, the federation, while recognizing the need for such a council and indorsing its formation in principle, declined to act beyond general cooperation.
